STOCKS SHOW BETTER TONE WITH TRADE MORE ACTIVE

GAINS OF 2 TO 5 POINTS RECORDED

American Tobacco Shares Are Strong Features — Credit Is Plentiful and the Rates Unchanged.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 23. — The stock market gave the best account of itself of the week today. Stocks broke out of their narrow trading area and moved steadily forward, unhampered by further flurries of selling, such as have appeared on recent advances.

Trading was considerably more active than yesterday, but the total turnover was only about 2,200,000 shares, and operations for the rise were of a restrained character. The bear element, however, appeared subdued and anxious to cover its short commitments.

The market was governed primarily by technical considerations, traders feeling that yesterday's action gave definite evidence of an oversold position.

Comments by Reviews.

There was a somewhat more optimistic tenor in the weekly mercantile and business reviews. Dun's said, "Indications of betterment are more distinct in some instances, but are not representative of a broad and decisive revival," but added later, "confidence that the low mark, as a whole, has been reached, is being widely expressed." Bradstreet's said the week's changes were slight, "the net visible difference being a little more cheerfulness."

Gains of 2 to 5 points were numerous among important shares, and a few volatile issues made wider gains. A little profit taking appeared in the final dealings, but for the most part, caused recessions of less than apoi nt from thed ay's best levels.

A firm spot in the rails was New York Central, which sold up about 2 points, in response to a report that it had been buying into Lackawanna. This is the first time this trunk line has taken the offensive in the rail consolidation movement, although it has been known for some time that it was anxious to acquire a short route to the West through New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

American Tobaccos Up.

Case, a recent bear target, rallied more than 15 points in short covering, and closed up 12½ net. The American Tobacco issues were strong spots, selling up about 5 points to record levels in response to unofficial estimates placing first quarter earnings at about double those for the like 1929 period. American Telephone, selling ex-rights, mounted more than 5 points.

Westinghouse Electric closed nearly 5 points higher, and shares showing net gains of around 2 points included U. S. Steel, Radio, Consolidated Gas, Electric Power & Light, and General Electric. Shares up a point or more included Chrysler, General Motors, United Corporation, American Can, Warner Bros. and Bordens. Union Pacific was a soft spot, declining 5½. Sears-Roebuck was down a fraction.

Credit was plentiful, but rates were unchanged, with call loans ruling at 3 per cent. The undertone in time money continued easy and further reductions next week are not regarded as unlikely.

The weekly Federal Reserve condition statement showed that the system was again supporting the bankers' acceptance market. The brokerage loan tabulation disclosed a net increase of $8,000,000, but a further contraction of loans for others.

In the commodity markets grains reacted somewhat from yesterday's levels, which were the highest in a month for wheat. Wheat futures closed 1⅛ to 1¾ cents a bushel lower. Corn lost nearly as much. Foreign exchanges were inclined to sag, with most of the leading European currencies ruling a shade lower, but the Spanish peseta rallied briskly.

Stock prices with other tables and market news will be found on pages 23C, 24C and 25C.

The final vote in the Literary Digest prohibition poll, in which a total of 4,806,464 votes were cast, out of 20,000,000 ballots sent out, is:

For continuance and strict enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and Volstead act, 1,464,098, or 30.46 per cent.

For modification of the Volstead law to permit light wines and beers, 1,399,314, or 29.11 per cent.

For repeal of the eighteenth amendment, 1,943,052, or 40.43 per cent.

The total vote in this poll is 13 per cent of the total cast for all candidates for President in the 1928 election, that number having been 36,771,850.

In 1922 the Literary Digest conducted a poll on prohibition, using the same three proposals. The vote was: Enforcement, 236,329, or 38 per cent; modification, 253,009, or 41 per cent, and repeal, 128,500, or 21 per cent.

Five states registered a majority for enforcement over the combined wet proposals. These were Kansas, Arkansas, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Tennessee. Five states gave a majority for repeal —Nevada, Connecticut, Louisiana, New Jersey and Rhode Island.

Give 40 Pct. to Enforcement.

Of the other 38 states, eight gave more than 40 per cent of their votes for enforcement, these being Alabama, Colorado, Iowa, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, South Carolina and Texas. Thirteen gave more than 40 per cent of their votes for repeal. These were Delaware, Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Wyoming. The District of Columbia also cast more than 40 per cent of its vote for repeal.

In the remaining 17 states, the voting was more evenly distributed among the three proposals. Washington was the only state which cast more votes for modification than for either enforcement or repeal.

Missouri voted 31.59 per cent for enforcement, 24.29 per cent for modification, and 44.12 per cent for repeal. Illinois voted 24.48 per cent for enforcement, 29.43 per cent for modification, and 46.09 per cent for repeal.

The states varied widely in the ratio of their total vote in the prohibition poll to their total vote for President in 1928. It is noticeable that the dryest-voting states, as a rule, cast a smaller proportion of their 1928 vote than the wettest-voting. This does not mean necessarily that fewer ballots, in proportion to voting population, were sent to the dry states; but it does mean that, for some reason, the dry states did not respond to the poll so thoroughly as the wet states. Some dry leaders advised the drys not to vote, but it was not supposed that this advice had been followed very extensively.

Tabulation by States.

The following table shows the comparison of the vote cast by a number of states in the prohibition poll with their total presidential vote in 1928. The five wettest voting and the five dryest-voting states are given first in the list.

STATE.	Total vote in Digest poll	Total vote for President. 1928	Pct.
Connecticut	108,093	553,025	19.5
New Jersey	248,889	1,548,967	16
Louisiana	37,518	215,815	17.3
Nevada	6,284	32,417	19.3
Rhode Island	20,776	236,495	8.7
Kansas	73 340	713,200	10.2
Oklahoma	56,755	617,184	9.1
North Carolina	59,774	635,150	9.4
Tennessee	48,630	353,473	13.7
Arkansas	27,343	197,693	13.8
Missouri	142,487	1,500,721	9.4
Illinois	255,044	3,106,489	8.2
Massachusetts	205,371	1,577,820	13
Mississippi	22,829	151,691	15
Nebraska	52,974	547,691	9.6
South Carolina	25,339	68,605	36.9
Ohio	299,493	2,504,787	11.9
Texas	133,062	708,999	18.7
Pennsylvania	526 853	3,146,721	16.7

The Literary Digest compares the total vote cast in this poll with the total of the poll which it conducted in the presidential election of 1928. The total vote in that poll, out of nearly 19,000,000 ballots sent out, was 2,767,263. The Digest deduces that the voters are more interested in the prohibition question than they were in the Hoover-Smith presidential contest, and that the present expression is an equally accurate index of popular feeling as was the presidential poll, which forecast Hoover's victory in several states which were generally counted on as Democratic.

FUND INQUIRY IN JERSEY NECESSARY, SAYS NYE

Denver Newspaper Says Penalty Is Demanded of Ex-Secretary of Interior by Revenue Bureau.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Internal Revenue Bureau has filed suit before the United States Board of Tax Appeals to collect $236,325 in deficiency income tax and penalties from Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, and his wife, for money received by Fall from Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair.

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., May 23.—The Denver Post says it has learned authoritatively that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at Washington has assessed a deficiency income tax and penalties aggregating $235.325 against Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, and Mrs. Fall.

The Post says that Fall had been called upon to pay additional taxes of $158,127 and penalties of $77,127.

The discovery of an appeal to the Board of Tax Appeals of the Internal Revenue Department to avoid payment of the taxes and penalty led to the Post's disclosure of the Government's move to recover from Fall and his wife, money which the Government contends the former Interior Secretary received from fraudulent leasing of oil reserves.

A demand for $235,325 was made of Mr. and Mrs. Fall last December by Commissioner of Revenue Lucas, the Post says, and according to the Government's policy in such matters, no announcement was made of the proceedings, despite the fact that Fall had been found guilty of fraud in connection with the leasing of oil reserves and a District of Columbia jury had convicted him of accepting a bribe.

In filing his income tax report, Fall is said to have failed to include the amounts of bonds received from Harry F. Sinclair, as well as the $100,000 of which he has been convicted of accepting as a bribe from Edward Doheny.

The omissions are alleged to have occurred in 1921, 1922, 1923 and neither did Fall, says the Post, make note of cash payments from Sinclair in addition to the Continental Trading Co. bonds which total $700,000.

In 1921 Fall reported his income as $3620, omitting the $100,000 which he received from Doheny. For this the Government added an additional assessment of $33,744. In 1922 Fall's income was reported as $10,132, the Government adding Liberty bonds of the Continental Trading Co. totaling $233,000 and $10,000 which Fall received from Sinclair for a trip to Russia inspecting Sinclair's property there. In additional tax of $116,927 was added by the Government.

Fall contends that the $100,000 was borrowed from Doheny and that Doheny foreclosed on Fall's Tres Ritos ranch in New Mexico to get his money back. Fall claims the $10,000 covered only expenses on the Russian trip.

BOY LIQUOR RUNNER DROWNED AT BUFFALO

Federal Agents Revive Campaign Against Hiring Youths for Work.

By the Associated Press.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 23.—With the drowning yesterday of a boy liquor runner, Federal officials of the Western New York District have revived a campaign against liquor kings who hire youths to row liquor across the Niagara River from Canada. Boys have been employed extensively in this practice during the past year, their presence alone in boats leading to less suspicion on the part of the border patrol.

The youth drowned yesterday was Roman Pridomerski, 18 years old, whose ale-laden rowboat capsized opposite the foot of Austin street, this city. Authorities placed under arrest William (Red) Strassner, whom they accuse of conspiracy to smuggle.

DON'T COMPROMISE A FRIEND, ALLEGED GO-BETWEEN SAYS

Insists He Does Not Know St. Louis Car Co. Head or Anything About $1,700,000 Contract.

THAT'S STORY AND HE STICKS TO IT

Edwin B. Meissner Declares St. Louisan Introduced "Way-Smoother" He Refused to Hire.

"I never compromised a friend."

This was the gist of a statement to a Post-Dispatch reporter today by a St. Louis man named by Edwin B. Meissner, president of the St. Louis Car Co., as a go-between for two others, one from Detroit, soliciting employment by Meissner's company to "smooth the way" for it to get a contract to build street cars for the city of Detroit.

The contract, calling for 130 new cars at a total cost of $1,700,000, was awarded to Meissner's company recently after competitive bids had been received by the Detroit Municipal Street Railway Commission.

Meissner said yesterday that while his contract was before the Common Council of Detroit for approval he was approached by a St. Louis man who said another St. Louisan had introduced him to a man from Detroit who had told him to telephone Meissner and say he could help smooth the way for Meissner's company to get the contract.

Meissner said he rejected the offer, sensing an effort by outside persons to thrust themselves into employment by his company, and telling the go-between that "their pictures would be in the Rogues' Gallery" if they meddled with his affairs.

"Never Compromised a Friend."

"I don't know Mr. Meissner," said the man seen today by a Post-Dispatch reporter, one of the two St. Louisans named by Meissner. "I don't know the man who telephoned him. I don't know anybody. That's my story and I am going to stand by it.

"In fact, old man," he remarked with a confidential smile, "I am 60 years old and have never compromised a friend. I am not going to begin doing that sort of thing now. My story is that I don't know anybody or anything and I'm not worried. Why should I be?"

He then related an instance of an attempt to blackmail him many years ago, and added, "A man can't be too careful, especially a business man, and the less he has to say, the better off he is. You can use that statement, and let it go at that, but keep in mind that I don't know anything."

A report widely circulated that Meissner had made a flashlight photograph of the men in his office was denied by him, as was another report that he had recorded their conversation by means of a dictaphone secreted in his office.

Meissner told yesterday of having been approached by a St. Louisan with an offer to help him get the Detroit contract for a fee, but declared he had flatly rejected the proposal and had heard nothing more from the men.

The award to his company was strictly on merit, he said, and he personally handled the bid and all negotiations connected with it.

Detroit Mayor and Councilman Deny Knowledge of Approach.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Mich., May 23.—Denial of any knowledge of the reports that "fees or commissions" were solicited to smooth the way for the Detroit $1,744,600 car purchase from the St. Louis Car Co., was made today by Mayor Charles Bowles and Councilman John A. Kronk.

rKonk, whose negative vote against the award held it up for a week, when asked why he voted that way, pointed out that he had been absent from the Monday meeting when the bids had been brought in by Joseph E. Mills, Commissioner of Purchase and Supplies.

The procedure of accepting a reduced bid, Kronk explained, was "not regular." If the low bidder could reduce his bid, he added, "any other bidder might reduce his."

"I met Mr. Meissner twice," Mayor Bowles said, when informed of the statement of Edwin Meissner, president of the St. Louis company, that he had been asked to hire a Detroit man to aid in getting the contract.

"The first time was after the bids were submitted, when he called at my office and was merely

GRAF ZEPPELIN REFUELED FOR FLIGHT TO RIO

WILD WELCOME FROM BRAZILIANS

By the Associated Press.

PERNAMBUCO, May 23.—The German dirigible, Graf Zeppelin, riding at its mooring mast today after completing last night its sixth trans-Atlantic crossing, was refueled this afternoon in preparation for the journey southward to Rio de Janeiro tonight.

An unofficial announcement said the Zeppelin would leave here at 8 p. m. for Rio and was expected to arrive there in 20 hours or less of flying.

Passengers who rode the giant airship from Friedrichshafen and Seville spent today in visiting Pernumbuco and its environs.

But while the passengers were sightseeing, the inhabitants of this city and nearby cities were watching the dirigible. They had to view it from a distance because no one —not even newspaper men—was permitted to approach while the dirigible was taking on fuel.

After its trip to Rio, the airship will return here and prepare for the next jump—to Havana. From the Cuban capital it will go to Lakehurst, N. J., and then turn over the ocean again toward Seville.

The Graf arrived over Campo Giquia, at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, just 61 hours from the time it circled the airdrome twice at Seville, Spain, and started southeastward.

After circling Campo Giquia it rode off over the city, but was back in a few minutes. Ropes, fluttering from its gondolas, were grabbed by the landing crew of 350 and it was pulled to earth and attached to a specially constructed mast.

Reception for All on Board.

Its 19 passengers and crew disembarked, happy at being once more on terra firma, but there was not the atmosphere of having survived successfully an hazardous ordeal such as old-timers in Zeppelin traffic among them said had existed after previous flights. After a rather elaborate reception they all went to hotels.

Dr. Eckener gave this message to the Brazilian press: "I salute the great Brazilian people and wish for them peace and prosperity which is my hope also for all the people of the two American Continents.

"I hope that this glorious flight for my fatherland may be received by you as a solemn demonstration of the fraternity between Germany and the two Americas."

Arrival of the Graf created a sensation. It was the first time a dirigible had been seen and people came from all over Northeastern Brazil.

As the huge ship hove into view the crowd cheered. When finally it had been pulled to earth guards almost had to fight with the crowd to keep them away.

During the night work proceeded in unloading the Graf's cargo of mail, and in putting into the gas bag 1000 cubic meters of hydrogen needed to replace that lost in expansion while crossing the equator. Fresh provisions also were put on.

Convinces the Skeptics.

Arrival of the Graf marked completion of a journey that skeptics had said the Zeppelin might not be able to make, the peculiar thermal and climatic conditions involved in the equatorial zones presenting unusual problems for an apparatus of its delicacy. It was apparent from comments of those aboard that the flight had been accomplished with little or no difficulty.

Aside from shifting of the trade winds, which delayed the first stage of the flight to the Canary Islands and just beyond, the weather was good and the thermal problems were taken care of by allowing expansion of the lifting gas, and dropping of water ballast.

The Graf passed over three of the four land groups between Spain and Brazil—the Canary Islands the Cape Verde Islands and Fernando do Noronha, but missed the uninhabited St. Paul's Rocks.

Nineteen passengers and 42 officers and crew were aboard upon

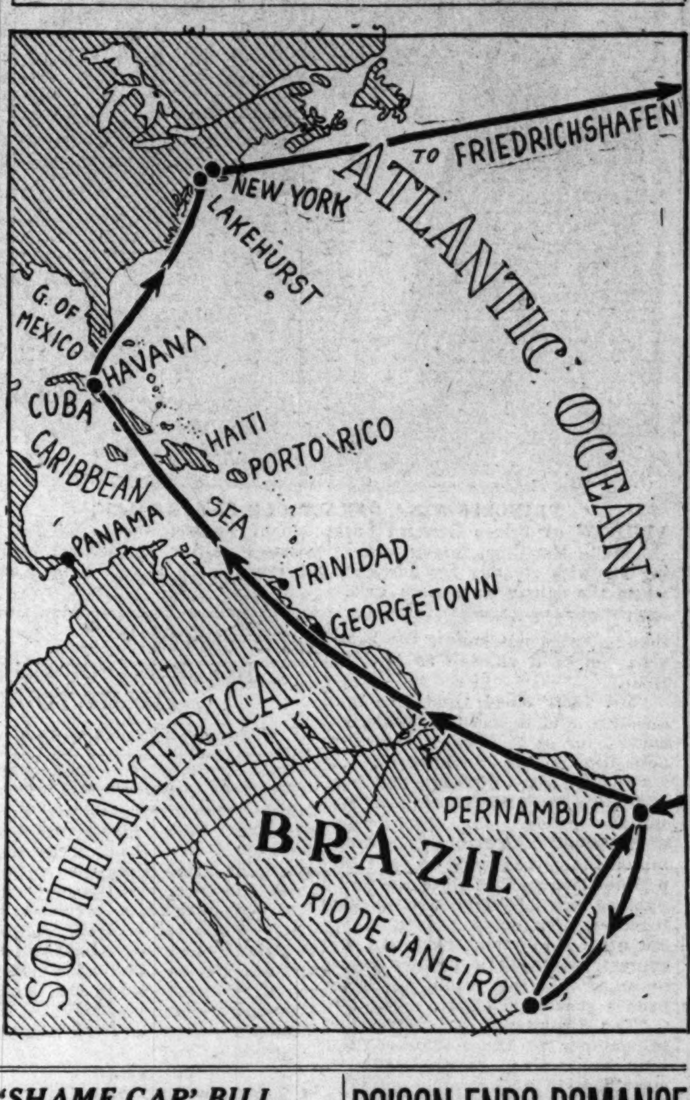
CONFEREES AGREE ON TARIFF; COMPROMISE FLEXIBLE PLAN CURTAILS PRESIDENT'S POWER

Zeppelin's Route to United States



COMMISSION'S AUTHORITY OVER RATES BROADENED

Board Would Be Empowered to Urge Changes to Executive, Who Would Have 60 Days in Which to Approve Them.

NEW PROCEEDINGS FOLLOWING VETO

Conference Report to Be Submitted to Senate Monday and Taken Up on the Floor Then or Tuesday, Under Present Program.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23. — A complete agreement on the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill was reached today by the Congressional conferees with approval of a compromise flexible provision curtailing Presidential power to change duties and broadening the Tariff Commission's authority.

The conference report will be submitted to the Senate Monday and taken up on the floor Tuesday.

Under the new flexible clause, the Tariff Commission would be empowered to recommend increases or decreases in rates to the President, who would be given 60 days within which to approve or disapprove the findings.

If the President disapproved a proposed change, it would go back to the Commission and new proceedings would be instituted.

The report calls for a bipartisan tariff commossion of six members as at present, but provides for an entire new personnel within 90 days of enactment of the law.

The compromise flexible plan retains the present 50 per cent limitation on a rate change and also the bar against placing articles on or taking them from the free list.

It gives the Tariff Commission power to recommend the changes, however, whereas now it merely reports its findings on differences in cost of production to the President. The latter determines the rate within the 50 per cent limitation.

The President now has the discretion of proclaiming a rate change or ignoring a commission report but under the new plan he would be required to act.

The plan eliminates the House provision permitting the equalization of differences in competitive conditions in determining flexible rates, but broadens the basic formula to take into consideration invoice values where cost of production is not readily ascertainable.

'SHAME CAR' BILL COLLECTOR HELD BY POSTAL OFFICERS

I. R. Gaertner Accused of Violating Law in Using Picture on Envelopes.

Bond of $4000 for Irving R. Gaertner, bill collector sought by Postoffice inspectors and police, for sending through the mail envelopes with the pictures of his "Shame Car" on the outside, was made yesterday by relatives who came to the Postoffice department and guaranteed Gaertner's appearance at a preliminary hearing on June 17.

The technical charge against the collector, whose business slogan is "Courtesy if possible—Force if necessary," is a violation of section 471 of the postal laws, which prohibits mailing libelous, scurrilous or threatening matter so as to reflect on the character of another. The maximum penalty on conviction is five years in prison and a $5000 fine.

"The Shame Car," according to pictures in the possession of the Postoffice Department, has painted on it, the words: "Bad bills collected. Why be an easy mark? We make debtors pay now. Dead beats advertised." The envelopes, in addition, contain the statement, "When other efforts fail, the Shame Car gets the money from deliberate debtors."

Gaertner, according to his stationery, has been in the "Shame Car" business since 1923. He calls his firm the American Collecting Service Co.

POISON ENDS ROMANCE OF RUNAWAY PAIR

Canadian Salesman, Who Deserted Wife, Falls Dead — Her Body Found in Hotel.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Ont., May 23.—George Redfern, 42-year-old salesman, of Kitchener, and Rita Gardner, young and handsome, from Baden, fell in love, and ran away. Now both are dead.

Miss Gardner's body was found in a Montreal hotel, a week ago Tuesday, two days after they had left Kitchener and Redfern's wife behind. She had died of poison. Redfern died yesterday of poison, self-administered, as he was arrested and charged with the girl's death.

With Redfern's death, the story of their romance and Miss Gardner's death must go untold, except as the man told it in letters to his deserted wife.

Police know, however, that he purchased poison in Kitchener before taking the train for Montreal. Miss Gardner was crying. Arrived in the city, they registered at a hotel as Rita Smith and A. C. Rowland, taking separate rooms. Tuesday Redfern left the hotel, telling the clerk not to disturb Miss Smith because she was ill.

The clerk, however, called police. In Redfern's room they found Miss Gardner's body. Doctors said she had been dead 24 hours.

With her identification two days later, and that of Rowland as Redfern, a search was started all along the border.

A letter from Redfern was received by his relatives in Kitchener, telling them of Miss Gardner's death. Redfern said she took the poison herself and he was going to throw himself into the river above Niagara Falls. Police found that a man answering Redfern's description had registered in a hotel on the United States side, of the falls, but there they lost the trail.

Yesterday a man who gave his name as W. D. Barker of Buffalo arrived here from Toronto in a taxicab. With the chauffeur, to whom he owed a $9 bill, he sat down to breakfast. When the check was presented, however, he said he had no money.

Police were called. They recognized him as Redfern and arrested him. He admitted his identity and was taken to the police station. There, as he was being questioned, he collapsed and died.

CHINESE BANDITS KILL 100 KIDNAP 400 FOR RANSOM

Outbreaks at Three Points Include Meeting of 1000 Troops at Swatow.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, May 23.—Five hundred bandits today looted two towns near Suning, in Northern Kiangsu Province, killing 100 of the villagers and kidnaping 400 for ransom.

Three hundred outlaws, half of them women, yesterday attacked and plundered the village of Woosung, south of Canton. Guards were overcome and 100 persons carried off for ransom.

HONGKONG, May 23.—Soldiers numbering 1000, stationed at Swatow, mutinied today, murdered their commanding officer and fled to the mountains.

AUTO WRECKS BRICK HOUSE

Goes Through Wall; Four In Car But No One Is Hurt.

BALTIMORE, May 23. —An automobile plunged through the front of a brick house here yesterday, and stopped with its radiator in the kitchen door. The four occupants of the car escaped without a scratch and a child and her older sister in the building were uninjured.

M'BRIDE THINKS MELLON HAS BEEN OBEYING ORDERS

In Letter Jan. 11 Wrote, "Secretary Has Gone as Far in Dry Enforcement as Supervisors Wish."

INSISTS HOOVER IS "MAKING GOOD"

President Doing Better Than His Predecessor on Prohibition He Tells Lobby Committee.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23. — F. Scott McBride informed the Senate lobby investigators today that he thought Secretary Mellon had "gone just as far on prohibition enforcement as his superiors wanted him to go."

The Anti-Saloon League superintendent was testifying for the seventh day in the committee's study of organizations for and against prohibition.

The attitude of the Secretary of the Treasury was brought up in questioning concerning a letter McBride wrote to J. G. Brown of Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 11, 1930.

The communication replied to one by Brown which had commented on a radio talk by McBride. Brown wrote he thought the dry leader was "much mistaken" regarding the sincerity of President Hoover.

It also criticised Mellon. Replying, McBride wrote: "I note what you say about Hoover, Mellon, etc. I am convinced you are wrong in your attitude.

"As Far as Superiors Wanted."

"There was a time when I had something of the same feeling, but on thorough investigation I have reached the conclusion that Mellon has gone just as far on prohibition enforcement as his superiors wanted him to go and I do not believe he is now standing in the way of prohibition enforcement."

"I think a thorough investigation of the situation will convince you or any one else as to that matter. I do believe, however, that the fact that some of the Senators and other public officials are expressing themselves on this proposition will lead to a more careful analysis of the situation and bring the whole program to a head and help us to get more definite results.

"While progress is being made very rapidly yet at the same time the situation is not what it ought to be and what it will be."

Hoover "Making Good."

Examined on the letter, McBride reiterated his opinion expressed yesterday that President Hoover was "making good" on prohibition enforcement. He said he thought this administration was doing better than the previous one.

Senator Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin, brought up a telegram sent by A. C. Graham of Louisville, to McBride last January, which said: "Suggest you get in touch with Hoover, Mitchell and Doran in behalf of Sam Collins' appointment. Unfavorable rumors being circulated here indicates prompt action necessary."

The witness testified he did not see the three officials. He said he had not seen Mr. Hoover since his inauguration and had conversed with Attorney-General Mitchell only three times.

Blaine, a wet, observed that McBride was "not quite as active and aggressive" as his predecessor, the late Wayne B. Wheeler. "Mr. Wheeler was a very able man and I do not claim to measure up to him," McBride rejoined.

"Is your inertia the cause of falling off of the league funds?" Blaine asked. McBride said reports submitted showed the funds had not diminished.

The Wisconsin Senator presented a Wheeler report concerning the Volstead act which read in part: "When I presented the bill to Mr. Volstead, he made several suggestions and changes and after a conference with a number of our friends in Congress the bill was introduced."

McBride testified that the prohibition commisisoners appointed had been satisfactory to the league.

League's Political Work.

Another report submitted by Wheeler in July, 1921, which was read, said he had the assurance of the administration that no one would be appointed as Prohibition Commissioner "who was objectionable to us."

This Wheeler report read, in part:

"The activities of this department for the last quarter have been largely in securing additional law enforcement legislation and in helping to bring about the appointment of national law enforcement officers who would honestly attempt to enforce the national prohibition act. . . .

"After the most objectionable candidates were eliminated for Internal Revenue Commissioner, it looked for several days as though Gov. Hooper of Tennessee would be appointed. The President was friendly to his appointment, but the Secretary of the Treasury felt that he could not handle the business end of it as well as Mr. S. Blair.

"Mr. Blair stood right on this question, and it was impossible, of course, for us to even express any opposition to his appointment. . . .

"The most difficult contest which we faced in securing an efficient officer for Prohibition Commissioner. There was a feeling on the part of some of our temperance leaders that all of the temperance organizations should get together, pick out a man and insist upon his appointment. As the contest developed it become more manifest that this would not have been a successful effort.

"The Prohibition Commissioner satisfactory to the middle-of-the-road temperance people made it clear that if we had pursued that course we would have failed, and in that failure would have been discredited before the temperance people of the country. I had the assurance from the administration that no one would be appointed for this position who was objectionable to us, and I proceeded at every step in the faith that this promise would be kept."

Reports on Expenditures.

The committee finished with McBride and called Edward B. Dunford, attorney for the Anti-Saloon League.

Dunford testified that the league's reports to Congress of political expenditures had conformed to legal requirements.

In 1928, he said, the league directed its efforts toward election of a dry President and dry members of Congress. Dunford said $1000 also was sent to Montana in 1928 for use in a prohibition referendum.

The committee adjourned until Tuesday when Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Northern Methodist Church, is expected to testify.

Senator Caraway wired Bishop James Cannon Jr. to ascertain if he could appear before the Lobby Committee next Wednesday for questioning concerning his prohibition activities. Bishop Cannon is at Dallas, Tex., attending the quadrennial meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The telegram said: "If possible would like to wind up the investigation before Congress adjourns. Therefore would like to have you appear if possible next Wednesday."

At the same time, the committee chairman wrote Bishop Francis McConnell of New York, president of the Federal Council of Churches, to ascertain if he wished to appear before the committee next week to reply to charges of Representative Tinkham (Rep.), Massachusetts, that the organization had violated the principle of separation of church and state by political activities. Caraway told Bishop McConnell that he could appear any day next week.

JERSEY WOMAN DRY LEADER SUPPORTS MORROW CANDIDACY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWARK, N. J., May 23.—One of the most prominent woman dry leaders in New Jersey, Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson of Red Bank, yesterday announced her intention of supporting Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow's candidacy for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate, despite his advocacy of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and return of liquor control to the states. She asked that the prohibition issue be subordinated and urged the candidate's election because his "proven character and outstanding achievement" are a "guarantee of the valuable contribution" he would make in the Senate.

GRAF ZEPPELIN REFUELED FOR ITS FLIGHT TO RIO

arrival. Among the passengers were four women, Mrs. Laura Crouse Durston of Syracuse, N. Y., and Mrs. Mary Pierce of New York City, Lady Grace Drummond Hay and Frau Hammer, wife of Fritz Hammer, the German pilot.

Other passengers included the Don Infante Alfonso de Bourbon of Spain, cousin of King Alfonso; Dr. Megias, personal physician to the King of Spain, and Col. Emilio Herrera, who accompanied the Zeppelin on its first flight to America.

SAFELY THROUGH EQUATORIAL DELUGE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The New York American publishes a copyrighted dispatch from Karl Von Wiegand, its special correspondent aboard the dirigible Graf Zeppelin, telling of the ship's flight across the equator, through storms, and its landing last night at Pernambuco, Brazil.

The dispatch says in part:

"When the Graf was finally moored at the mast, Dr. Eckener announced from the log book the official time of the coast-to-coast crossing, Spain to Brazil, as 59 hours and 53 minutes.

"The Zeppelin ran for 14 hours between Seville and Pernambuco with only four motors.

"Aside from some unlooked-for stiff beam and headwinds on Tuesday and Wednesday morning, which cut down our speed, the weather over the Atlantic was good.

"The test of the ship on this flight came in the early hours of this morning, when the Zeppelin ran into an area of equatorial deluge. Dr. Eckener had started the fifth motor at midnight in expectation of these storms and had ordered the bridge to 'drive through them.' "

"Keenly alert, he watched the effect of the tons of water that fell on the 763-foot long craft. No ballast whatever was dropped and only three-quarters of a degree angle of elevation was necessary to offset a two-ton increase of the weight of the ship.

"The speed was little affected. Before 6 a. m., the Graf was through the storm. It rushed over a half dozen steamers during the day, all saluting and dipping their colors.

"We shot across the equatorial line at 8:38 a. m., with Capt. Lehmann handling the watch on the bridge.

"This is my third flight across the Atlantic and the most pleasant of all. At no time was there the slightest tension or anxiety on the part of the passengers, who were as unconcerned as if they had been on an ocean steamer."

MOVES TO LET BLIND MAN SELL CIGARS IN NEW COURTHOUSE

An ordinance to authorize the Comptroller to lease to the Missouri Commission for the Blind not more than 180 square feet on the first floor of the new Civil Courthouse, for use by some blind person as a cigar and confectionery stand, was introduced today by Alderman Kraiemann.

The bill provides the city would receive an annual rental of $2.50 a square foot.

E. J. Lampe, 60-year-old blind proprietor of the cigar stand in the rotunda of the old Courthouse, was told recently that he would not be permitted to keep a stand in the new building.

AUTO HEAD FOR FREEST TRADE POSSIBLE

Says Industry and Agriculture Should Join in Rationalizing Tariff Policies.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23. — Alvan MacAuley, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, thinks industry and agriculture should join in rationalizing tariff policies of the future, so as to permit the freest international trade permitted by the "public interest of each country."

This view is expressed in an article in the June issue of the National Sphere magazine, the text of which was made public yesterday by the National Automobile Chamber.

In the article MacAuley asserted the employes of the entire motor industry last year derived almost two months work exclusively from export trade, and that this employment benefit extended to hundreds of thousands in the lumber, coal, steel, copper, glass and other industries and, indirectly, to every wage earner and producer in the country.

Tariff policies developed on the sole consideration of domestic trade, MacAuley said, cannot be adequate for the protection of American labor engaged in production for export.

Increasing tariff rates with the possibility of retaliation, he held are causing serious concern, threatening the potential expansion of both American and foreign motor industries.

While declaring that "for various considerations some of our industries, perhaps most of them, must have some tariff protection," MacAuley took the view that tariffs should not serve as subsidies to unprogressive manufacturers, and that "any industry or individual seeking a tariff should have to prove its necessities on the basis of fact and not on the basis of political finesse."

WOMAN BITES OFF PART OF EAR OF NEGRO ROBBER

He Escapes With $18.50, a Watch and Two Rings After Firing Shot.

Police are searching for a Negro with part of his left ear missing, a mark left last night by Miss Margaret Ttate, a waitress residing at the Woodbine Annex Hotel, Broadway and Chestnut street, who was robbed of $18.50, watch and two rings as she waited for a Hodiamont car at Newstead avenue.

Marching her into an alley in the rear of 4440 West Belle place at the point of a revolver, the Negro attempted to tie her hands with a scarf. Miss Ttate bit off a part of the Negro's ear, his revolver was discharged accidentally and he fled before police, attracted by the shot, reached the scene.

Gustav P. Hanhorst, in charge of a grocery at 1416 Linton street, was robbed of $35 by a man who carried by a man who carried a revolver in a paper sack.

Seated in an automobile with a young woman companion, on Palm street near Garrison avenue, Roy Specht, 5156 North Kingshighway, was robbed of $8 and a ring by an armed man.

Hot tamales worth $5 and a $15 container were taken from Milton Sills, a street tamale vender, by a man in an automobile who held him up at Cardinal and Laclede avenues.

SPECIAL LAW AGAINST CAPONE

Miami Passes Vagrancy Ordinance Aimed at Gangster.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., May 23.—Miami's new vagrancy ordinance, a weapon in the city's campaign to drive "Scarface Al" Capone from the community, was passed by the commission today. The ordinance provides a maximum fine of $500 or a maximum jail sentence of 60 days, or both, in event of conviction.

The ordinance defines a vagrant as "any person having visible means of support acquired by unlawful or illegal means or methods, or any person who is dangerous to the peace or safety to the city of Miami, or any person or persons known or reputed to be crooks, gangsters or hijackers."

WETS PLANNING TO RUN CANDIDATE AGAINST PINCHOT

He Will Not Be Either of the Men Who Headed Ticket in Primary, However.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—A movement has been started by the wet forces of the State to place a candidate in the field at the general election in November against Gifford Pinchot, who, on the basis of unofficial returns from Tuesday's primary, received the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Randolph W. Childs, who managed the primary campaign for the wet ticket headed by Francis H. Bohlen, for Senator, and Thomas W. Phillips Jr. for Governor, announced after a conference with Robert K. Cassatt, chairman of the Pennsylvania branch of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, that a party name would be pre-empted for the general election, but that neither Phillips nor Bohlen would be a candidate.

Unofficial figures from all but 15 of the State's 8701 election districts gave Pinchot a lead of more than 14,109 over Francis Shunk Brown, who was supported by William S. Vare, Philadelphia leader.

The overwhelming plurality of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis over Joseph R. Grundy for the senatorial nomination steadily increased as additional figures were tabulated. Davis' lead, with 295 districts missing, stood at 234,504.

HAWES PHILIPPINE BILL GETS SENATE GROUP'S O K

It Provides for Plebiscite in Islands on Independence in Five Years.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23. — The Hawes-Cutting bill to allow the Philippine Islands a plebiscite on independence in five years was approved today by the Senate Territories Committee.

The vote was eight to four with two Senators not voting. Those favoring the bill were Senators Nye, North Dakota; Cutting, New Mexico, Republicans, and Pittman, Nevada; Harrison, Mississippi; Broussard, Louisiana; Hayden, Arizona; Tydings, Maryland, and Hawes, Missouri Democrats. Those voting against were Chairman Bingham of the committee; Robinson, Indiana; Metcalf, Rhode Island, and Goff, West Virginia, all Republicans. Senators Johnson, California, and Vandenberg, Michigan, did not vote.

The bill provides for calling a convention of the Filipinos to draft a constitution and for a gradual increase of tariff duties of Philippine exports to the United States for five years, at the end of which time the products coming into the United States would pay the same tariff duties as from other countries. Hawes said he probably would not request action this session on the bill, but would press for consideration early next session.

KILLS THREE AND HIMSELF

Harding, Pa., Fruit Grower Said to Have Lost Heavily.

By the Associated Press.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., May 23.—A triple murder and a suicide were discovered today on the farm of Ernest L. Snyder, 60 years old, wealthy fruit grower at Harding near here.

Snyder is said to have shot his son-in-law, his daughter and grandson before hanging himself in a garage on the farm. Heavy losses in the stock market were said to have caused him to commit the crime.

HOOVER TO BESTOW 7 MEDALS FOR FIRST ATLANTIC FLIGHT

To Honor Director of 1919 Project and the Crew of Navy's NC-4.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Medals will be awarded today to the seven men responsible for the first trans-Atlantic flight in May, 1919. President Hoover will pin the medals on Commander John H. Towers, who conceived and directed the flight, as well as the six members of the crew of the Navy's NC-4, the only plane which completed the flight.

The six are: Commander Albert C. Read, commanding officer of the NC-4; Lieutenant-Commander Elmer E. Stone, pilot; former Lieut. Walter Hinton, pilot; Lieut. H. C. Rodd, radio operator; former Lieut. J. L. Breese, engineer, and Chief Aviation Pilot Eugene S. Rhodes, engineer

ATTACKS MOVIES IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, May 23. — The newspaper La Prensa today attacks American motion picture distribution in Latin-America, charging that above all the American motion picture is the arm of propagandists tending to "Saxonize" the Latins and is essentially political.

Carlos Trejoy Lerdo, sub-Secretary of Education, asserts by means of money and as trust agents, Americans are getting control of all important picture houses in Latin-America.

$15,000 REWARD FOR ARREST OF EXTORTIONISTS' GUNMAN

NEW YORK, May 23.—From his bed in Union Hospital last night Albert J. Schwarzler, wealthy Bronx builder, offered a $10,000 reward for the arrest of the gunman who shot him in the groin yesterday morning in front of an 18-story apartment he owns.

His brother, August F. Schwarzler, also a well-to-do builder, previously had put up $5000 as an incentive to the detectives who are trying to hunt down the men who, he said, had been hired by a Bronx extortion ring to assassinate the contractor.

Police reported that Schwarzler's recently announced intention of going into the open market for union mechanics" had not appealed to the labor extortion crowd in the Bronx."

CHAIRMAN OF MISSISSIPPI TAX BODY ACQUITTED OF GRAFT

State Senate Drops All Charges Filed by House Against Lester C. Franklin.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSON, Miss., May 23.—Lester C. Franklin, chairman of the State Tax Commission, was found not guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors when the Mississippi Senate, sitting as a high court of impeachment, yesterday sustained by more than one-third vote a motion for preemptory instructions. The vote was 22 for the motion and 26 against.

Impeachment of Franklin was based on six charges which grew out of a House investigation of an alleged clandestine settlement of a proposed $10,000,000 anti-trust suit by the State against Warren Brothers Co. of Boston.

The suit was settled, according to contentions of the committee bringing the charges, for $80,000 in a Memphis hotel room, the money being paid in currency to Carl Marshall, Mississippi attorney, by George B. Crafts, general counsel of the Boston firm.

Franklin was brought into the case through allegations that he was present when the money was paid and accompanied Marshall to New Orleans for a conference with Crafts and that he gave excerpts from the proposed bill of complaint, in advance of the contemplated filing, to the proposed defendant.

DORAN CAUTIONS DRY AGENTS ABOUT SEIZURE OF BOTTLES

Necessary, He Says, to Prove Paraphernalia Is Intended for Use in Making Liquor.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Commissioner Doran today instructed prohibition agents that, under the recent Supreme Court decision upholding the seizure of kegs, bottles, labels, etc., used in the manufacture of intoxicants, it was necessary for the Government to produce proof that such paraphernalia was intended for use in manufacture and sale of liquor before it could be seized.

He said it was erroneously thought in some quarters that seizure of empty containers and other apparatus could be made merely because they were displayed for sale.

MRS. FERGUSON TO RUN AGAIN FOR TEXAS GOVERNOR

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., May 23.—Former Gov. James E. Ferguson announced today that his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Texas' first woman Governor, would take his place as a candidate for Governor in the Democratic primaries.

The Supreme Court held earlier in the day that Ferguson was ineligible to make the race himself. Mrs. Ferguson was defeated for re-election by Gov. Dan Moody.

Then I started to hear rumors that he had received a letter from me.

As a Favor to a Friend.

"My brother was out of town and when he came back I called him to a family meeting with my two other brothers. He admitted that he had written to Judge Clark and had signed it 'H. G. Miller,' as a favor to a friend of his.'

Judge Clark said today that when the injunction was applied for, Attorney Dowell showed him a letter on Miller's court stationery, purporting to be signed by Judge Miller, which stated that he would not be offended if Judge Clark acted in the case. Dowell retained the letter after showing it to him, he said.

Since the Cahokia track was closed the night it opened last fall, the courts have considered six injunction suits, one slander suit between two groups of stockholders, a receivership suit, a damage suit and a patent suit. The current investigation was precipitated by the veiled charge of an Edwardsville newspaper that some St. Clair County officials were being paid by the Madison Kennel Club, in Madison County, to hamper the rival track in St. Clair County.

Judge Miller said that he had been told that Benson and Dowell have boasted that they have photostatic copies of the letter to Judge Clark and are holding thef as evidence of his interest in the case. Judge Miller waived immunity when he appeared before the grand jury Wednesday and will appear again.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU IS SUED FOR $50,000

Plaintiff Is Clark G. Hardeman, Lawyer, and Secretary of Purchasing Firm.

A suit charging libel was filed in Circuit Court today against the Better Business Bureau of St. Louis and its officers and directors by Clark G. Hardeman, a lawyer, and secretary and treasurer of the Service Purchasing Co. The plaintiff asks for $25,000 actual and $25,000 punitive damages.

The plaintiff charges that a false statement damaging to his reputation and to his business was published by the defendant in its official bulletin Nov. 24, 1928, and Feb. 11, 1929, and that a purported correction published Feb. 1929, merely aggravated the damage.

Missouri Health Chief Testifies At U. S. Hearing Against Doctor Who Broadcasts Medical Advice

Dr. James Stewart Tells Radio Commission He Deems It Unethical to Prescribe Treatment for Disease Over the Air.

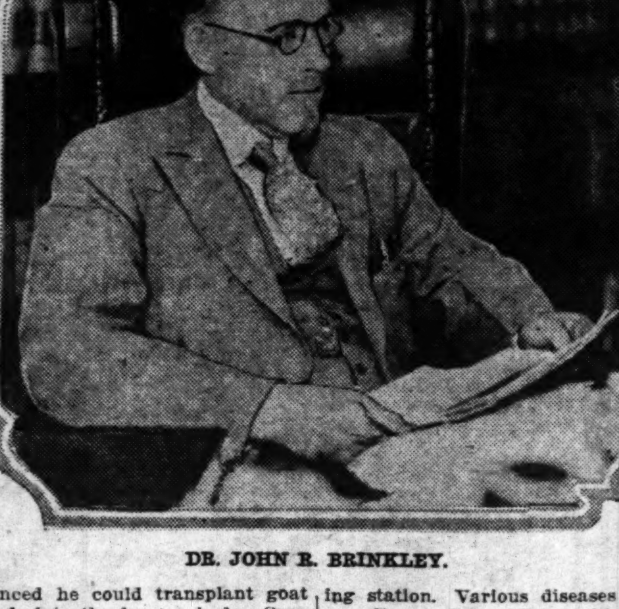
Radio Doctor in His Studio



DR. JOHN R. BRINKLEY.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Dr. James Stewart, State Health Commissioner of Missouri, testified before the Federal Radio Commission yesterday that the medical profession considers it unethical for a doctor to prescribe treatment for a disease over the radio.

Stewart was called to the witness stand at the hearing on a complaint filed by the Kansas State Medical Association charging Dr. John R. Brinkley of Milford, Kan., had broadcast objectionable matter from station KFKB. Asked by counsel for KFKB if he considered the health talks of U. S. Senator Copeland of New York, who is a physician, to be unethical, Stewart said Copeland's status differed from that of Brinkley. Copeland, he said, was not actively practicing medicine and did not operate a hospital.

Opposing counsel introduced a mass of testimony from patients, some of it purporting to show the success and others the failure of Brinkley's treatment. Dr. T. L. Jones, brother-in-law and professional associate of Brinkley, and Dr. W. C. Purviance, a member of the staff at the Brinkley Hospital, testified in behalf of Brinkley.

Commissioner Robinson, presiding at the hearing, said he doubted whether it would be proper for the commission to "allow the American Medical Association or even the Mayo Hospital to use a broadcasting station primarily to promote their own interests."

SYSTEM EMPLOYED BY DR. BRINKLEY

Dr. Brinkley started his hospital at Milford in 1917.

The fight against him, conducted by medical associations, has divided the radio listeners of Kansas in almost as bitter a controversy as that he is waging against the medical organizations. His radio station won the Radio Digest radio popularity contest for 1930, with 256,827 votes. Erected at a cost of $50,000, it forms but a small part of his holdings at Milford, which have an estimated value of $500,000.

First widespread notice of the doctor came shortly after the hospital was opened, when he announced he could transplant goat glands into the human body. Over the radio he has said recently, "Goat glands transplanted into the human body will bring about rejuvenation, cure your ills and leave you with a healthy body."

A gland operation was performed on Harry Andrews, managing editor of the Los Angeles Times, in 1922, and widely proclaimed as a success. Andrews died four years later. State Senator Wesley Staley of Colorado underwent an operation the same year and signed a testimonial in 1923.

Health lectures, which are the basis of the fight against Dr. Brinkley, form two half-hour periods of the radio station's daily broadcasting. Brinkley reads letters written to him by ailing listeners and after discussing their ills over a wave length of 285.5 meters and a frequency of 1050 kilocycles, prescribes for them by number.

Prescriptions Are Numbered.

Patients are told to obtain Prescription 96 or 84 or 46, which can be purchased from druggists through the Middle West who have been supplied with numbered formulas. The druggists, Dr. Brinkley has said, send him part of the money received for each prescription. The money received this way, he says, is used to defray expenses of the radio programs.

An orchestra and a large group of professional entertainers are retained and used by the station exclusively in the broadcast from 5 a. m. to 7 p. m., each day.

In addition, Dr. Brinkley circulates booklets and pamphlets. One is entitled "Your Health" and contains 32 printed pages descriptive of the hospital and the broadcasting station. Various diseases also are discussed, together with the doctor's methods of examination, diagnosis and treatment. A pamphlet he distributes is "The Story of Paw and Maw—Dedicated to the Prostate Man." There also is a 40-page souvenir album of the radio station, the hospital and the entertainers, physicians, nurses and employes of the institution.

These were the conditions set forth with Dr. Morris Fishbein's conclusions in an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association, which resulted in Dr. Brinkley's filing a libel suit against Dr. Fishbein. Several thousand copies of the editorial were sent to physicians with the notation, "Dear Dr. ——: This material is furnished you through courtesy of the —— Medical Society, for distribution among your patients or to use as you see fit."

Filing of charges before the Federal Radio Commission and a suit by the Kansas Board of Medical Registration and Examination are recent developments in the medical association's campaign against the radio physician of Milford.

Patient Dies of Tetanus.

A New Jersey man died in St. Louis some time ago of tetanus following a "goat gland" operation by Dr. Brinkley. The St. Louis physician in attendance at the death said a post-mortem examination showed no transplantation of glands and no incision for the transplantation.

Dr. Brinkley has been ordered to appear before the Kansas Board of Medical Registration and Examination June 17 on the charge that he obtained his license to practice medicine in Kansas by perjury.

DR. BUTLER CROSSY, PHYSICIAN TO MANY ACTORS, DIES

Succumbs After Illness of Three Months; Medical Adviser for Municipal Opera.

Dr. Butler Stewart Crossy, physician to many actors and actresses during his 28 years of practice in St. Louis, died of heart disease in his residence, 4616 Lindell boulevard, today. He was 58 years old and had been ill three months.

A specialist in cancer treatment and rheumatic ailments, Dr. Crossy was also physician for the Municipal Opera Association and several theaters. His particular interest in people of the stage came from his father, J. C. Stewart, an Irish actor and playwright who brought the first company of "H. M. S. Pinafore" to the United States.

Dr. Crossy was born in New York and came to St. Louis after attending the University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky., and graduating from Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. His office was in the Central National Bank Building.

Those who survive are his widow, Mrs. Belle Crossy; his mother, Mrs. Isabelle Crossy, and a sister, Mrs. Albert Grebb. The funeral will be at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Lupton chapel with burial in Oak Grove Cemetery.

L. A. EATON JR. FUNERAL

Funeral services for Lucian A. Eaton Jr., assistant secretary of the Community Power & Light Co., will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Chelsea, Ok.

Mr. Eaton, who was 37 years old, died yesterday of a complication of diseases at his home, 5855 Cabanne avenue. He was graduated from the University of Missouri in 1916. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Helen McSpadden Eaton, his father and a brother, both residing in Kansas City.

FATALLY HURT IN GARAGE FIRE

William Michaels, 50 years old, died at City Hospital last night of burns suffered early Monday when a garage in which he slept at 1616 (rear) Franklin avenue, was damaged by fire.

Michaels was overcome by smoke and was carried from the building by firemen. The blaze started in a bake shop adjoining the garage.

WOMEN WORKERS OBTAIN $3135 MORE FOR SYMPHONY

Campaign Chairman Praises Their Efforts; Total Now $460,000.

Women workers in the Symphony Orchestra's campaign for a golden jubilee fund of $750,000, met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Charles M. Rice, Big Bend boulevard and Clayton road, and reported subscriptions of $3135. In the month since the campaign began about $460,000 has been pledged.

I. A. Stevens, campaign chairman, expressed satfisfaction with the results secured by the women's division and said the campaign had lagged because industries had been slow to appreciate the advertising value of the series of concerts scheduled to be broadcast next fall.

Workers will continue their canvass through next week and will make another report Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rice.

EX-CONVICT SLAIN BY POLICEMAN IN FIGHT OVER SISTER

Bert Woods, 47, E. St. Louis, Shot by Patrolman Walter Vincent After His Release on Assault Charge

Bert Woods, an ex-convict, died at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, early today of a gunshot wound suffered last night in a quarrel with Traffic Policeman Walter Vincent on the porch of the latter's home, 1124 St. Louis avenue, East St. Louis.

The quarrel arose over Woods' mistreatment yesterday afternoon of Vincent's sister, Mrs. Belle Sauers, a widow, who told her brother Woods, with whom she had been keeping company, had beaten her when she was visiting him in his house at 1003 Gaty avenue. Vincent had Woods arrested, charged with assault, and the shooting occurred when Woods, out on bond, came to the Vincent home last night and, according to Vincent, threatened to kill him.

The police report quotes Woods as saying at the hospital: "I was shot in cold blood."

Vincent's Story.

"I was leaving home when Woods appeared on the front porch," Vincent told a Post-Dispatch reporter. "He called me a lot of names and said, 'I'm going to kill you.' I reached in my pocket, but before I could draw my revolver, he had one out. I told him three times to put it away, but he refused, so I knocked him down the steps and he fell on the ground.

"The revolver flew out of his hands and when he reached to recover it, I drew and shot him."

The bullet pierced Wood's abdomen and kidney and emerged at the back.

Known as "Tough Egg."

Woods, 47 years old and a mechanic, who known to East Side police as "a tough egg." As a result of the race riots in 1917 he served eight years in Chester penitentiary.

Vincent, 14 years engaged in East Side police work, has been in numerous encounters and once was shot through both lungs and the right arm while he was Marshal of Washington Park, a suburb of East St. Louis. In 1927, during a fight with gangsters, a bulletproof vest deflected four bullets, and in 1929, when Vincent accosted two suspicious characters, they opened fire, one bullet passing through his coat without injuring him.

Vincent was indicted for murder with his brother, Ralph, in connection with the death in 1927 of a brother-in-law, Joseph Grawick, who was beaten to death with a hammer. The charge against Vincent was dismissed just before his brother's trial, which ended in an acquittal.

HIT BY STREET CAR; KILLED

Arthur Owens Said to Have Stood Too Close to Track.

Arthur Owens, 28 years old, a chauffeur, died at St. Mary's Hospital at 8:30 o'clock last night of a fractured skull suffered several hours earlier when he was struck by a Market street car at 5200 Oakland avenue.

Witnesses told police Owens stood too close to the track and was brushed by the car, which was in charge of Motorman George Hotte, 4147A Flad avenue. Owens resided at 5539 Southwest avenue.

introduced. The second time was when the St. Louis Car Co. decided to amend its bid, the new price to be based on former prices for motors.

"I received Mr. Meissner's bid, which represented a considerable saving over the earlier estimate, and called a meeting of the Street Railway Commission for the following morning.

"Receiving the new bid, the commission voted to accept it. Those are the only occasions on which I have met or had any dealings with Mr. Meissner."

Kronk said: "I don't know anything about it. I never met any of those street car fellows. I voted against the purchase of the street cars until I saw that my vote was the one holding it up."

HORSE SHOW OPENS TONIGHT; TWO CHAMPIONSHIP STAKES

Five-Gaited and Three-Gaited Classes Ridden by Owners Are Features.

Two championship stakes, in the five-gaited and three-gaited classes of horses ridden by their owners, will feature the opening tonight of the ninth annual spring Horse Show at the Missouri Stables arena, 5200 Berthold avenue. More than 250 entries are included in the entire show, performances of which will be held again tomorrow night and Sunday afternoon.

Cash awards of $1100 and 39 trophies and ribbons compose the list of awards of the show. Weaving contests and potato race tournaments for children are added features of the entertainment.

Russell Law, Oklahoma City, Ok., is head judge of the show, which includes entries from most of the principal stables in the country.

FOR "LINDBERGH BOULEVARD"

A resolution was adopted by the St. Louis County Court yesterday to petition the State Highway Commission to name Highway No. 77 Lindbergh boulevard.

The road is a belt highway from Mehlville on Lemay Ferry road to the Chain of Rocks by way of Kirkwood and Lambert-St. Louis Field. Part of the road is paved and bids for paving other sections have been received.

PLANE PILOT KILLED, TWO PASSENGERS HURT

Chicagoans Crash at Waynetown, Ind., in Dark on Way to Georgia.

By the Associated Press.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., May 23.—Harold Mayer, 25 years old, of Chicago, was killed early today when an airplane he was piloting crashed during an attempt to land at Waynetown, 10 miles west of here. Two passengers, Mrs. Louise McCuster and Dr. Frederick Harvey, both of Chicago, were injured.

Mrs. McCuster suffered severe bruises and shock. Dr. Harvey, who also was bruised, and Mrs. McCuster chartered the plane at Chicago last night and were flying to Valdosta, Ga., where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stothardt, were injured in an accident yesterday.

Dr. Harvey departed for Indianapolis to charter another plane and will continue the trip.

Residents at Waynetown said they heard Mayer's plane pass this morning with the motor sputtering. A short while later the pilot attempted to land at an emergency landing field. He flew too low, however, and crashed into the top of a tree. The plane fell on its nose.

HOTEL JEFFERSON STEWARD FINED $500 UNDER GAME LAW

L. G. Fisher, steward of Hotel Jefferson, was fined $500 for violation of the State game laws by Judge Butler in Court of Criminal Correction today.

Deputy Game Wardens Frankenstein and Wright testified they found a suit case containing 80 dressed quail in the hotel refrigerator last New Year's eve. The fine was $100 for the offense and $5 for each bird.

Fisher denied knowledge of the presence of the quail. His assistant, Emil Strack, said he was on duty on the morning of Dec. 31 last, when a bell boy, who said he had instructions form "the office," placed the suit case in the icebox. Fisher will appeal.

WOMAN, 91, DIES AFTER FALL

Mrs. Catherine Gates, 91 years old, a widow, died at City Hospital today of complications which followed a fractured hip suffered May 4 when she stumbled and fell in the bathroom of her home, 1124 East Taylor avenue.

STEWART M'DONALD SUED FOR DIVORCE

Former Moon Motor Car Co. Executive Accused of Deserting Wife.

Mrs. Grace Moon McDonald, 24 Washington terrace, filed suit yesterday to divorce Stewart McDonald, former president of the Moon Motor Co., and one time member of the Board of Police Commissioners. She charges general indignities and desertion.

Mrs. McDonald alleges he deserted her May 1, 1929, after declaring often that he "preferred to live alone." He is charged with neglecting the friends and acquaintances of Mrs. McDonald, with failing to accompany her to places of amusement, and "by reason of his language toward, and neglect of the plaintiff, has embarrassed and humiliated her in the eyes of relatives, friends, acquaintances and servants."

The McDonalds were married April 2, 1907, in St. Louis. Mrs. McDonald is the daughter of the late Joseph Moon, one of the founders of the Moon Motor Co.

McDonald, who since the separation has been living in New York City, where he maintains an office, entered his appearance in the hearing of the case without a denial of the allegations. He is 51 years old. He was appointed Police Commissioner in 1921 by former Gov. Hyde, but resigned after four months to give more attention to business affairs.

MISS NATALIE DU PONT WEDS CHEMICAL ENGINEER

Daughter of Head of Du Pont de Nemours Bride of George Phippen Edmonds.

By the Associated Press.

WILMINGTON, Del., May 23.—Miss Natalie Wilson du Pont, daughter of Lamont du Pont, last night became the bride of George Phippen Edmonds at St. Amour, the home of her father.

The Right Rev. Philip Cook, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Delaware, performed the ceremony in the presence of a few intimate friends. The bride was given in marriage by her father, who is president of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co.

Edmonds, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edmonds of Boston, is employed as a chemical engineer by the Bond Manufacturing Co. He is well-known as a golfer.

Morgan Yacht on Maiden Voyage.

NEW YORK, May 23.—J. P. Morgan's new $2,500,000 yacht Corsair, fourth of that name to be owned by the Morgan family, arrived yesterday at Tebo's yacht basin in Brooklyn from the Bath Iron Works at Bath, Me., where it was built. It was its maiden voyage. Morgan was on board, as were W. S. Newell, president of the iron works, and A. M. Maine, chief engineer of the company. The Corsair is the largest private yacht in the world. It is 343 feet over all.

780 U. S. CITIES IN 10,000 CLASS; ONLY 737 IN 1920

Total Expected to Reach 1000 on Basis of 1930 Census Returns Still to Be Made.

57 PLACES ALREADY IN 100,000 GROUP

27 on the List 10 Years Ago Have Not Reported—This Will Make 84 Against 68 in 1920.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—In 1920, there were only 737 cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants. Already 780 such places have reported 1930 census returns, and many urban centers are still missing. The early estimate of 800 places in the 10,000 class appears about to be swept aside for a larger figure, perhaps 1000.

Fifty-seven cities of more than 100,000 already have reported, and 27 additional that were on the list 10 years ago are still to come in. This will make at least 84 cities of the 100,000 class, as against 68 in 1920.

Two hundred seventy cities of more than 25,000 population have reported. Eighty-nine whose names were on that list 10 years ago are yet to come in. This will make at least 359 cities on the list for 1930 as against a total of 288 in 1920.

Allegheny County, Pa., Unofficially Given 1,341,458.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 23.—The population of Allegheny County, which includes Pittsburg, today was estimated unofficially from totals of census supervisors at 1,341,458. Complete census figures for the city have not been compiled but an unofficial compilation of district totals credited the city with a population of 663,101, a gain of 26,101 over the 1920 population.

Efforts have been made to consolidate Allegheny County under a metropolitan plan, giving it the name of Greater Pittsburg. Voters of the county rejected the proposal at a special election last year.

The population of the county has increased 13.1 per cent in 10 years on the basis of unofficial compilation.

Recheck Gives Cleveland Population of 901,482.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., May 23.—The ambition of this city to boast a population larger than 900,000 was realized yesterday when a recheck of 16 wards added 1768 names to the previously reported total. The addition gives Cleveland a population of 901,482, a gain of 13.1 per cent over the 1920 population of 796,841.

Seminole, Ok., in 10,000 Class; 1109 Per Cent Gain.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Seminole, Ok., is the first city to enter the 10,000 class 1930 census by attaining more than 10 times its 1920 size. It has a population of 10,332, an increase of 1109.8 per cent. Seminole's 1920 population was 854.

Chicago Metropolitan Area Gains 60 Per Cent.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 23.—The Chicago metropolitan area, on the basis of returns for Cook and its five neighboring counties, has gained 60 per cent in population during the last decade.

Dupage County, to the west, has set the pace for the group with a percentage gain of 137.97 in the townships already tabulated. The census takers have counted 78,059 residents where 32,801 lived in 1920, the mushroom growth of such suburbs as Elmhurst, Downers Grove, Glen Ellyn, Lombard, Wheaton, West-Mont and Villa Park accounting for the startling gains.

Cook County has more than doubled its country town population in the incomplete returns, which show a gain of 115.44 per cent.

The population of Berwyn, a suburb, was announced today as 47,005, an increase of 32,855 or 232.19 per cent.

439,506 Persons in Newark, 6 Per Cent Increase.

NEWARK, N. J., May 23.—Newark's population is announced as 439,506, an increase of 24,982, or 6.02 per cent.

WOMEN VOTERS' CONVENTION

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 23.—Round table discussions and the election of officers were on the program for today's sessions of the Missouri League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, Joplin, speaking at a banquet last night, declared women in their campaign for suffrage never promised to reform politics "as some editorials this spring have stated." Recalling some of her own experiences in the campaign for suffrage, Mrs. Blair said she did not know of any promises to reform politics. The first work of the League, the speaker said, is in the citizenship and voters' schools; the second to provide opportunity for agitation of Government and to develop good citizenship.

SUSPENDS BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU OF KANSAS CITY

National Organization Issues Order as Result of Developments in Young Bros.' Crash.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Board of Governors of the Affiliated Better Business Bureaus of the United States and Canada has voted to suspend the Kansas City Better Business Bureau from the national organization to protect "the good name of the Better Business Movement in the eyes of American business."

Announcement of the intention to suspend was made here by Kenneth Barnard, president of the national organization, yesterday, following recent action of the board of directors of the Kansas City bureau in voting to retain George Husser as manager after his dismissal had been demanded by Barnard.

The dismissal of Husser was sought on various charges, including the fact that he had accepted a contribution of $950 to his bureau from W. H. Young & Bros., Inc., St. Louis brokerage firm which collapsed with losses of more than $2,000,000 to investors.

"By unanimous vote and in accordance with the constitution of this organization, formal notice of intention to suspend the Kansas City bureau will go forward as soon as the formal papers can be prepared and transmitted," said President Barnard's statement.

"In advance of their receipt by the board of the Kansas City bureau, there will be no formal announcement of the details and specifications of these charges. Our board reached this decision with regret, but believes under the facts previously presented no other course is open for the protection of the Better Business movement and its good name in the eyes of American business."

HOUSE ORDERS INQUIRY INTO RED ACTIVITIES

Vote Is 210 to 18—Speaker to Name Committee of Five.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A special House committee is to conduct an investigation of communistic activities in America.

The inquiry was ordered by the House late yesterday in approving a resolution sponsored by Chairman Snell of the Rules Committee, and Representatives Fish of New York and Underhill of Massachusetts, Republicans. It was adopted by a vote of 210 to 18.

The measure provided for the appointment of a committee of five by Speaker Longworth, which would be empowered to subpena witnesses and records. The committee was directed to investigate the membership of the Communist party in the United States, the Amtorg Trading Corporation of New York, which is the Soviet Government's official commercial representative here, and the Daily Worker, a reputed Communist organ.

In addition, the measure called for a study of communistic propaganda in the schools and of all groups, individuals and organizations which advocate that the United States Government be overthrown by force.

The adoption of the resolution was opposed by Representative Ramseyer (Rep.), Iowa, who contended that it would divert attention from economic and unemployment problems and result in a "wild goose chase." He proposed that a committee be created to "find out what is wrong with the industrial and economic systems of this country."

Fish asserted that Communists in America were receiving orders from Moscow to stir up riots and revolutionary activities here. He said that agents of the Communist party were active among the Negroes and in the industrial sections of the South.

Snell said that evidence before the Rules Committee had convinced him the investigation was necessary. Government departments, he added, were unable to cope with the problems under existing law and if the inquiry discloses nothing, no harm will be done.

PARTED AS CHILDREN, WED 66 YEARS LATER

William Zykan, 80, and Mrs. Anna Osburg, 74, Former Neighbors, Marry.

After 66 years a childhood dream came true and Mr. and Mrs. William Zykan today received the greetings of friends at their home at 3725 Tennessee avenue, as bride and groom. The bride, who until yesterday afternoon was Mrs. Anna Osburg, readily admits her age as 74, and that of her husband as 80.

Since their romance started there have been events that brought them back together as easily as they separated them. They both left Florissant, St. Louis County, where their families were neighbors, and came to St. Louis, where each was married. Thirteen years ago Mr. Osburg died, and eight years ago the first Mrs. Zykan.

They had seen each other occasionally and eight years ago the then Mrs. Osburg went with members of her family to the funeral of the first Mrs. Zykan. In the last year the idea of marriage came up again, though opposed by Mrs. Osburg. She explained how her change of heart came about.

"I had talked about it, jokingly," she said today, "so, of course, I wasn't actually against it. My grandson was living with me, and as long as I had him, I didn't think so much about it. But he is to be married in June, and I'd have been left alone again."

"She doesn't tell you the first part of it," said Zykan, who retired from shop work for the old United Railways Co. six years ago and has been living on a small farm at Wheaton, St. Louis County, since then. "I have been seeing her. And then, she was my first sweetheart.

"We raised a good deal of vegetables out there at Florissant, and she and I used to ride on the wagon to market together. She was 8 years old and I was 14."

The only witnesses at the wedding yesterday afternoon, at which the ceremony was performed by Justice of Peace Pfeifer, were relatives of Zykan. He has five sons and four daughters, and some grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Mrs. Zykan has a daughter and several grandchildren.

$3600 Pension for Mrs. Funston.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A measure carrying provision for a $3600 annual pension for the widow the late Major-General Frederick Funston has been passed by Congress and now awaits signature of the President. Mrs. Funston, now ill in San Francisco, was granted a pension of $100 a month several years ago. To supplement this in the support of a family she obtained employment in a store. Failure of her health brought about a movement for a more substantial Government contribution.

Jetta Goudal in Sanitarium.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 23.—Jetta Goudal, movie actress, is in a sanitarium here recuperating from a nervous breakdown. Hospital attendants said her condition was not serious. She was preparing to leave on an extended visit to Europe when she became ill.

INDICTED, SENTENCED IN DAY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Frank R. Phillips, alias Orton, who was caught in the act of placing a lighted bomb in the rear of a coffee shop on North Clark street early Sunday, was indicted for bombing yesterday morning, pleaded guilty in the afternoon and sentenced to from one to 30 years in prison. This is believed to be a record for speed in Cook County.

Phillips said he had been employed by a man he knew only as "The Greek," to bomb the coffee house, the man promising him $300 for two jobs.

Lindberghs Fly Over for Lunch.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh went flying together again yesterday. They drove in their automobile to the Newark airport, had their Lockheed Sirius low wing monoplane rolled out and took off for the usual "unannounced destination," which proved to be the Long Island Aviation Country Club, at Hicksville, L. I. They landed at the club at 1:30 p. m., had a bite to eat and then hopped off again, returning to Newark airport at 4 o'clock.

TWO MEN KILL EACH OTHER

Empty Revolvers After Knocking Over Lamp.

By the Associated Press.

LAS CRUCES, N. M., May 23.—Inez Valencia, 68 years old, and Pedro Conzales, 31, killed each other in a dark room of a small adobe hut near here Wednesday night. The bodies were found by Cessaria Valencia, who carried a lamp into the room after the sound of firing had ceased. Each man held the other by his left hand and in their right hands were revolvers from which all shots had been fired.

The two men quarreled in the home of Valencia. An oil lamp was knocked over and the firing began in the dark as the three other persons in the room rushed from the house to save themselves.

PREMIER OF MALTA SHOT AT; NOT HURT; ASSASSIN SEIZED

Lord Strickland of Sizergh Fired On by Nationalist as He Goes to Court at Valetta.

By the Associated Press.

VALETTA, Malta, May 23.—A shot was fired at Lord Strickland of Sizergh, Prime Minister of the Maltese Government, today at point blank range but he was not hurt. A man named Miller was seized on the spot and arrested, charged with the attempted assassination.

The shot was fired as Lord Strickland, accompanied by a police superintendent, was entering the Court of Appeals to attend a case wherein the Prime Minister appears as the plaintiff and in which the Nationalists are attempting to invalidate all the laws passed by his Government.

The bullet missed. Lord Strickland seemed momentarily dazed. Police seized the assailant, two more shots going wild into the air as they did so.

Police Reinforcements Called.

Great excitement swept through the town. The news of the attempted assassination spread quickly throughout the island and people began flocking into Valetta. Police reinforcements were summoned in the fear that Nationalist disorders would follow. Miller, the prisoner, is a supporter of the Nationalist party. He had been involved with police previously on several occasions. He is reported to have played a prominent part in riots in June 1919, when he was arrested for tearing up a Union Jack.

The excitement subsided as the day passed, but police remained on duty in force. Telephone inquiries poured into the capital from all over the island.

Controversy Between Civil Government and Catholic Church.

Malta, a British island possession in the Mediterranean, is one of the most important British naval bases. It has a Governor-General and a Legislature which functions according to ordinary parliamentary procedure. Recent dispatches have told of trouble between the State and Catholic Church on the island. It was said in debate in the House of Commons in London that the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Malta had announced that anyone voting for Lord Strickland, Prime Minister, or any members of the Constitutional party during the forthcoming elections, would be committing a mortal sin.

Lord Strickland, himself a Roman Catholic, was said to have refused to allow a Franciscan priest, who was a British citizen, to be transferred against his will to Sicily on orders of the superior of the community in Malta. The Government asserted that the transfer was ordered on political grounds.

At the time it was understood the Maltese Archbishop of Malta had made an airplane visit to Rome, presumably to confer on the matter. Recently a concordat between the British Government there and the Holy See, defining questions affecting relations between the church and state, was put in draft form and was expected to settle the controversy.

UNION ELECTRIC WANTS PERMIT FOR WORK COST $10,000,000

Would Construct Transmission Lines From Project at Bagnell to St. Louis Substation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 23.—The Union Electric Light & Power Co. of St. Louis, filed an application with the Missouri Public Service Commission today for authority to construct electric transmission lines from the hydro-electric project now being constructed on the Osage River near Bagnell, Mo., to River Mines and Flat River, in St. Francois County, and to the company's Page avenue substation in St. Louis. Cost of the transmissions lines and substations is estimated at approximately $10,000,000.

Construction of the power dam and hyro-electric plant now is under way, despite litigation pending in the State and Federal courts. Cost of the dam and power plant is estimated at about $20,000,000.

The company applied for authority to build two transmission lines from the power plant to St. Francois County, where the St. Joseph Lead Co. has contracted to take 150,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric energy annually from the Union Electric, upon completion of the hydro-electric plant. Two other transmission lines are to be built from the power plant to connect with the Page avenue substation in St. Louis.

The claim is based on the failure of any relative of Mrs. Textor to offer to qualify as an heir. Under the law unclaimed property reverts to the city school fund. No will has been filed. It was reported Mrs. Textor once assigned her estate to a Baltimore hospital, but charred papers found in the cellar were thought to be the only copy of this will. Mrs. Textor's husband was George Textor, lumber dealer.

HAMILTON-BROWN HEARING PUT OFF UNTIL TOMORROW

Shoe Company's Lawyers File Answer to the Receivership Petition of Chicago Bank.

Hearing of the receivership suit against the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co., before Federal Judge Davis, was deferred today until 10 a. m. tomorrow, when attorneys for the shoe concern will argue against the demand of the Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago that a receiver be appointed for the $5,000,000 company, once the largest in its line in St. Louis.

The shoe company's lawyers, Robert Burkham and Emmet Carter, filed an answer to the Chicago bank's receivership petition, and motions to dismiss the intervening petitions of John S. Leahy of St. Louis and of a group of four Oklahoma stockholders.

Chief Allegations Denied.

Denial is made by the shoe company's lawyers, of the chief allegations made in the receivership petition. It is denied that, as alleged, the shoe company is unable to obtain money to meet its maturing and future obligations. It is denied that obligations are past due, or that creditors have threatened to file suit or to levy executions on the company's property. It is denied that there is any immediate prospect of liquidation of the business, or forced sale of the company's property.

It is denied by the shoe company, through its lawyers, that any creditor, other than the plaintiff (bank) is likely to bring suit, or to levy executions or attach any of the company's property. It is denied that appointment of a receiver is necessary to prevent forced and immediate liquidation, or that the plaintiff (bank) lacks other adequate remedies at law.

No Unpaid Obligations.

The bill of complaint, it is declared by the shoe company, fails to state adequate ground for appointment of a receiver. It declares that the complainant (bank) is "a simple contract creditor, holding an unsecured claim, not reduced to judgment," and that the obligation on which its claim is based has not matured.

The shoe company, its counsel declare, is not insolvent as alleged, its officers are not wasting its assets as charged, and there are no outstanding judgments or matured and unpaid obligations against it.

No allegation is made in the bill of complaint, the company's lawyers say, that even if forced and immediate liquidation of the company's business were to occur, such liquidation would not amply provide for payment of all its obligations.

In anticipation of hearing the matter argued today, several lawyers were in court, including counsel for the St. Louis Union Trust Co., co-trustee of the Alanson D. Brown estate, for the Chicago bank which filed the receivership suit, and for the Brown heirs.

SENATE APPROVES $125,000 FOR WORK AT SCOTT FIELD

Conferees Deleted Provision It Shall be Heavier, as Well as Lighter, Than Air Station.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Approval was given the $125,000 appropriation for construction at Scott Field (Ill.) air station in the final draft of the War Department appropriation bill passed today by the Senate.

The conferees on the bill, however, struck out the language providing that the field shall be a heavier, as well as a lighter, than air field.

TELEVISION VAUDEVILLE PROJECTED HALF MILE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 23. A theater audience paying regular admission fees last night saw a vaudeville performance transmitted by wireless from a General Electric laboratory half a mile away in a test of Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson's television apparatus.

Images were projected in half-tone on a transparent screen 36 square feet. Three years ago, in St. Louis, Dr. Alexanderson exhibited the image in a three-inch aperture, and last year he projected an image 14 inches square in a showing at Madison Square Garden.

Only the heads and shoulders of the performers were visible. The color of the screen was hazy green. Definition in the center was about as sharp as a fair newspaper cut; toward the margins the image faded. At times the detail was remarkably sharp. The sheen of glossy blond hair, the outline of teeth, the opening and shutting of eyes and the movements of fingers could be detected without eye strain. Marring the image were parallel lines of "rain" running along a horizontal arc. In one or two instances there were wide blurs.

Dr. Alexanderson said he was experimenting with television over small and large distances, namely, over a two-mile stretch, and between Schenectady and Australia. The latter experiment, he said, was still imperfect, fading inflection and multiple images being the principal obstructions.

He explained that the photographic images of the performers were converted into radio signals and transmitted to the theater on a wave length of 140 meters.

Behind the television screen, R. D. Kell, Dr. Alexanderson's assistant, played the role of control operator and examined the picture on a small monitor teopticon. From this point the image was transmitted to a valve where the light was split into elements which combined on the screen to make a complete picture.

The studio performers stand before an incandescent lamp. Between the subject and the source of light is a metal-scanning disc, the size of a bicycle wheel, the outer circumference of which contains 48 holes. The revolving disc covers the subject 20 times a second; that is, 20 half-tone pictures are built up each second. Four photo-electric tubes, highly sensitive to light waves, flicker 40,000 a second in response to the image. Once the light is converted into radio waves, it is broadcast into space from an antenna and may be picked up by appropriate receivers.

The arc lamp, with complicated lenses, is placed 17 feet behind the screen. Spectators do not see a beam of light as in ordinary moving pictures.

Speaking at a dinner in the evening, Alexanderson forecast a wave of amateur activity in television. He referred to a television experiment with Australia.

"We observed," he said, "that after traveling 20,000 miles a rectangle still has four corners. Television cannot compete with the sharp definition of reel cameras. But television will fill a place in the theater whenever instantaneous images are necessary, as with a boxing match or football game. We hope to see television take a part in the next presidential election."

OLGA EDWARDS TO GET INCOME FROM FUND AMSTER CREATED

Convicted Extortionist Is Warned by Court Not to Annoy New York Financier.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Olga Elde Edwards, convicted of extortion from Nathan L. Amster, will receive the income from the $100,000 trust fund which Amster testified he had created for her son by another man.

Amster sailed Wednesday for Europe, leaving a message that he would abide by the decision of Supreme Court Justice Levy in the matter of the trust fund, payments from which were stopped when the former actress was arrested last November on the financier's complaint.

Miss Edwards told the court yesterday that she "understood perfectly" when he warned her not to annoy Amster.

After the Justice reaffirmed her right to the custody of her son, Lee Edwards, he appointed Dr. George W. Kirchwey, former dean of Columbia Law School, formal guardian of the boy who, Miss Edwards swore, was Amster's child. He said she may go to Europe if she doesn't "bother" Amster.

Amster drew up the agreement of the fund Feb. 10, 1927. He testified that he was willing to do that for Miss Edwards out of kindness, but that she later demanded double, threatening to shoot him if he wasn't willing to give it to her.

Justice Levy was arbiter of the question of whether she had lost all rights to the trust fund by violation of terms of the agreement.

Four Other Men, Indicted at Westminster, Md., Sought.

By the Associated Press.

WESTMINSTER, Md., May 23.—Six men accused of conspiracy to defraud following an official investigation of the operations of the Midland Home Building and Loan Association, Baltimore, which maintained a branch office here, were acquitted by two Judges in Carroll County Court here.

Four Baltimore men indicted a few weeks ago have not been arrested. The estimate that investors would lose more than $75,000 was made by State officials at the time of the indictments.

BORIC ACID IS GOOD, BUT NOT ENOUGH

For years boric acid has been a family remedy for tired or sore eyes and as a trouble preventive for infants and young children. Oculists and physicians, however, recognize the need of healing oils and unguents to be used with it to repair damaged and irritated tissues. Iris contains these oils, camphor, menthol, sassafras, peppermint and witch-hazel, as well as boric acid, chloretone and zinc sulpho-carbolate. It is absolutely harmless and is recommended by oculists everywhere. Two sizes in sterile flasks with eyecup, 50c and $1.00, at all Walgreen Drug Stores and by drug and department stores everywhere.

FIRE ON PILGRIM SHIP DESCRIBED BY CAPTAIN

Mohammedans, Facing Death, Turned Toward Mecca and Said Their Prayers.

By the Associated Press.

JEDDAH, Arabia, May 23. — Mohammedan Arabs, facing death in the fire aboard the steamer Asia in the harbor here yesterday, knelt toward Mecca and said their prayers. Capt. Marchandeau, master of the Asia, described the horror of the burning of his ship, which was leaving Jeddah for Djibouti with 1500 Pilgrims aboard when the fire broke out.

More than 100 of the pilgrims are thought to have burned to death. One hundred and twelve are unaccounted for. The Captain praised the bravery of his crew in their rescue efforts. The entire crew was saved; some of them climbed back aboard the doomed ship in order to take off some of the panic-stricken Pilgrims.

Spectators gathered on the shore here to watch the fire. The Asia lay in the outer part of the harbor, after having taken aboard the Pilgrims destined for southern Red Sea ports, when the blaze broke out in the second-class cabin and spread through the ship. Its cause was not determined.

Signals were sent to all ships in the harbor and about 950 of the Pilgrims were put aboard other ships and another 300 or 400 put ashore in small boats.

TRAP SET BY BANKER FOR EXTORTIONISTS FAILS

By the Associated Press.

CANTON, Ill., May 23.—Extortionists who attempted to get $6000 from O. D. Bailey, banker at Table Grove, Ill., near here, failed to walk into the trap set for them yesterday.

Two notes received by Bailey Wednesday demanded the money, under threat of harm to his son and daughter. He reported to police and they placed a dummy package yesterday at the designated cross-road on the route from Table Grove to Ipava, Ill. A watch was set over the spot, but no one appeared.

Bailey said he had no clew to the sender of the notes. One came to him by a boy who said a stranger had asked him to deliver it. The other was mailed from Peoria, Ill. Bailey could not recall any enemies he might have made either here or in Peoria. As soon as he got the notes, he drove to Milwaukee, Ill., where Wilma, 24 years old, his daughter, has been teaching music, and to Chicago, where Don, 22, his son, has been managing a cafeteria, and took them home to Table Grove.

DENTIST'S LICENSE REVOKED BY BOARD

Dr. Paul McCutcheon, Steele, Mo., Accused of Misleading Radio Advertising.

The license of Dr. Paul McCutcheon, 32-year-old dentist of Steele, Mo., was ordered revoked by the Missouri State Dental Board after a special meeting at Hotel Jefferson yesterday at which it found him guilty of broadcasting misleading advertisements over KCLN, a radio station in Blytheville, Ark.

It was the second conviction of Dr. McCutcheon by the board for using disleading advertising. Last September the charge was based on advertisements in newspapers, the board deciding not to revoke his license provided he refrained such action in the future.

The statements which Assistant Attorney-General Lovan presented as misleading were "bad teeth cause ill health" and "there is no need of going through life with poor teeth which are the cause of our ailments." Dr. L. O. Wiecarver, Malden, Mo., dentist who said that several years ago Dr. McCutcheon did some unsatisfactory work for him, testified he wrote down the spoken advertisements several times and reported them because he considered them misleading to the public.

Says Trial Was Unfair.

His opinion was borne out by Dr. Neil S. Moore and Dr. Virgil Loeb, professor of stomatology in Washington University, who agreed that while bad teeth sometimes cause ill health it is not uncommon for people with bad teeth to have good health and those with bad health to have good teeth.

J. Edward Gragg, counsel for Dr. McCutcheon, contended the trial was not fair in that the defendant was unable to bring to St. Louis the 250 witnesses who attended the first trial in his behalf. James E. McCutcheon, St. Louis lawyer, and brother of Dr. McCutcheon, assisted in the defense.

The complaining witness at the first trial, O. H. Marshall, a railroad brakeman of Hayti, Mo., described the trouble he had had over dental work done by Dr. McCutcheon and how the dentist and several lawyers had asked him after the trial to sig nan affidavit contradicting his testimony.

Seeking to impeach Marshall, Gregg asked him to read the letter which he said he wrote in complaint of his treatment by Dr. McCutcheon. For four of five minutes Marshall studied the typewritten copy without saying a word. Then he began to read very slowly a word at a time, gathering some speed as he warmed up.

Will Ask for Review.

About midway down in the letter was the word "guaranteed," which Gragg asked him to spell. The board, presided over by Dr. Edward H. Keys of St. Louis, ruled it didn't make any difference whether Marshall could spell it. Gragg then insisted Marshall be made to write out the letter, but without avail.

The only witness for Dr. McCutcheon, who did not take the stand himself, was O. C. Barnes, radio announcer of KCLN. He took sole responsibility for the announcements which he said he worded on his knowledge of how bad teeth in his own case had caused poor health. Barnes characterized Dr. McCutchen as "one of Steele's most progressive citizens," explaining he had supported radio programs. Barnes signs his programs as the "Old County Boy."

Dr. McCutcheon said he would ask the State Supreme Court to review the case. He said he was graduated from the St. Louis University Dental School, has practiced for 10 years in Steele, and was the father of three children under six years of age.

HOUSE APPROVES GERMAN REPARATIONS SETTLEMENT

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Settlement of German reparations to the United States for $753,400,000 over a period of 52 years was approved yesterday by the House, despite protests of Representative McFadden (Rep.), Pennsylvania, that the House was giving "back-handed approval of the Young plan."

Payment of $504,400,000 to cover awards under the Mixed Claims Commission, funded over a period of 52 years, and of $249,000,000 as the costs of the American Army of Occupation, funded over a 37-year period, would be included in the proposed settlement as carried in the Hawley bill, which passed without a record vote and was sent to the Senate.

The Pennsylvanian assailed the settlement as likely to be construed in Europe as "American indorsement of the Young plan, to which this nation is not a party," and to result in confusing the question of German reparations and that of allied debts to the United States.

Chairman Hawley of the Ways and Means Committee, author of the bill, denied that it would in any way constitute indorsement of the Young plan, and said that some such agreement was necessary for the collection of German reparations, in view of the refusal of this country to become a party to the Young plan. The settlement, drawn along lines recommended by President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon last March, was designed to permit payment of awards to private claimants under about 25 years and those of the the Mixed Claims Commission in Government in the next 14 years.

BURGLAR SHOT, ADMITS HE ROBBED 50 HOMES

Negro Caught in Residence Flees—Wounded by Policeman During Chase.

A burglar captured early today, after a chase in which he was shot in the right hand, told police he had entered more than 50 homes since April 1, from many of which he was frightened away before he obtained anything.

A stoop-shouldered Negro, scarcely five feet in height, he said his name was Nash Mack, 26 years old, and that he had been paroled recently from the Chester (Ill.) penitentiary after serving 18 months of a sentence of from one to 20 years for robbery from Marion.

His capture followed robbery of the home of Barton Hill, 4132 Clayton avenue, where he obtained $2 and a small amount of jewelry. Dorothy Hill, 14, awoke to find the Negro in her room. He escaped though an open window by which he had entered, but the girl's screams had aroused the neighborhood.

Commandeering an automobile, Patrolman Gustav A. Hanstein toured the neighborhood, catching sight of the Negro at Boyle and Clayton avenues. He fired three shots when the robber ignored his command to halt. Upon being struck Mack surrendered.

LIFE TERM FOR SLAYER OF WIFE

Dr. S. O. Netherton of Olathe, Kan., Convicted Second Time.

By the Associated Press.

LAWRENCE, Kan., May 23.—For the second time in as many years, Dr. S. O. Netherton, 62 years old, retired Olathe (Kan.) physician, has been convicted of the first degree murder of his wife, Mrs. Edith Netherton, 32. The verdict was returned late yesterday, approximately 13 hours after the case had been given to the jury. The verdict carries a life sentence in the Kansas penitentiary.

IMMIGRATION ISSUE BREAKS UP BRITISH-EGYPTIAN PARLEY

Cairo Government Demands No Restriction on Its Nationals Moving Into Sudan.

LONDON, May 23.—A white paper published last night disclosed that the breakdown in Anglo-Egyptian negotiations which terminated in London May 8, was due to the impossibility of finding any formula which would satisfy the Egyptian demand for unrestricted immigration of Egyptian nationals into the Sudan.

The document shows that little difficulty was experienced in negotiations on most points, although there was a long discussion regarding the defense of the Suez Canal.

At first the Egyptians demanded that the British troops should be concentrated on the east bank of the canal. They subsequently agreed to the British stipulation for troops to the west of the canal, but no agreement could be reached on the Sudan question.

FIGURES ON COSTS IF TERMINAL USES MUNICIPAL SPAN

Engineer Doyne Estimates Revenue to City $139,192 Above Annual Carrying Charge.

The Special Bridge Committee of the Board of Aldermen will meet Tuesday afternoon, in executive session, to study the data obtained in several public hearings, the latest of which was held yesterday afternoon, and to consider framing a new bill or bills, to provide for use of the Municipal Bridge railroad deck by all railroads entering the city, and for opening of Eads Bridge upper deck as a free public highway. Cleveland A. Newton, counsel for the committee, will meet with the members.

At yesterday's hearing, M. H. Doyne, a consulting engineer for the city, and designer of the southern approach, lately built, presented a set of estimates, which the committee will use in its consideration of bridge questions.

Estimate of Cost.

Some of the figures shown in Doyne's estimates are:

Cost of Municipal bridge with present approaches, and with needed interlocking plant and signals, $7,834,156.

Cost of Municipal bridge with additional approaches needed for use by Terminal Railroad Association, including interlocking plant, $11,214,156.

Estimated annual revenue on bridge with additional approaches, from Manufacturers', A. & S., and Terminal lines, $1,059,900. Annual margin over carrying charge, $139,192.

Estimated cost of new municipal highway bridge along north side of Eads bridge, with 40-foot roadway and two five-foot sidewalks, $3,623,821. If street cars are to run on bridge, add $255,000 to cost of structural support, making $3,878,821, or in round figures, $3,900,000.

Net annual decrease in passenger train mileage, by use of Municipal bridge, 35,555 miles; at $1.75 per train mile, represents annual saving to the railroads of $62,221.

Questioned on Benefits.

P. W. Coyle, traffic commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce, was questioned at yesterday's hearing regarding what benefit St. Louis shippers would derive from the use of the Municipal bridge by the Terminal Association. Coyle said there would be no material benefit unless the lines which now terminate on the East Side were to build St. Louis warehouses, and maintain freight traffic representatives in St. Louis. The lines which he included in this statement were the Pennsylvania, New York Central, B. & O., L. & N., Nickel Plate, M. & O., Southern and Chicago & Alton.

Coyle said the lines which he named terminated on the East Side, used trucks for less than carload lots originating from or destined to St. Louis, and used the Terminal lines for carloads. He said the St. Louis shippers had to deal with the Terminal Association, and did not get the benefit which shippers of other cities get through active competition of the various lines for traffic. He mentioned the daily "dead line" of 2 p. m. for sending freight from St. Louis to the East Side receiving depots. "No other city in the United States is up against such a condition," Coyle said. His statement was indorsed by traffic representatives of Shapleigh Hardware Co., Simmons Hardware Co., Bemis Bros. Bag Co. and Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co.

Congestion in Washington Avenue.

The committee questioned G. W. Welch, vice president and general manager of the East St. Louis & Suburban, and two St. Louis consulting engineers, Baxter L. Brown and Edward B. Fay, as to the effect upon traffic and business conditions which might be expected from the opening of Eads bridge upper deck as a free public highway. Welch said that if the street cars remained on the upper deck, their operation would be seriously hampered, as it is now necessary to operate 50 to 55 cars an hour in the rush period. He said that if the Eads bridge lower deck and the Washington avenue tunnel were turned over to street car use, cars could be run from St. Louis to Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, in four minutes.

Brown and Fay agreed that the opening of the proposed highway would result in great congestion in Washington avenue. They said preparatory relief measures should be taken before Eads bridge was opened as a free highway. Widening of Third street, north and south of Washington, was one of the measures suggested.

The bill introduced in the Board of Aldermen last year provided for use of the Municipal bridge by the Terminal, which was to build needed approaches at a cost of $3,500,000, the city to reimburse the Terminal for this cost and to acquire the approaches; also for rental of the Eads bridge upper deck by the city and its opening as a free highway. When opposition developed, the bill was amended at Mayor Miller's request, to eliminate the Eads bridge part and leave only the provisions for the Municipal bridge. The bill as thus amended died with the sesion of the House. The special bridge committee wishes to fortify its position before presenting a new ordinance proposal.

RESCUES WIFE WHO TRIES TO DROWN SELF IN QUARREL

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 23.—When Mrs. Gertrude Discars is able to leave the hospital, she is going back home with her husband, John, whom she left last Sunday and who rescued her from drowning last night, when she leaped from a bridge in an attempt to end her life.

They met on a street in McKeesport, a suburb, and renewed the violent quarrel which caused their separation. In the heat of the controversy, Mrs. Decars turned from her husband and fled toward the bridge. He ran to the river bank when he saw he could not head her off. Mrs. Decars hurried to the middle of the bridge and plunged into the water. Decars plunged into the water at almost the same instant.

At the hospital, it was said that, aside from shock, Mrs. Decars was none the worse for her experience. Decars is waiting there to [illegible] home.

Civil War Pensions Bill Passed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The House bill to increase the pension of Civil War veterans from $65 to $75 a month was passed by the Senate yesterday. The bill, which goes back to the House for concurrence on a minor amendment, would grant $100 a month to veterans requiring "regular aid and attendance of another person."

ADDITIONAL GIFT OF $150,000 FOR RADIOLOGY STUDY

Edward Mallinckrodt Jr. Supplements $300,000 Donated by Father to Washington University.

Edward Mallinckrodt Jr., son of the late chemical manufacturer, has supplemented the $300,000 gift made three years ago by his father to Washington University for an institute of radiology. The entire cost of construction of the building, estimated at $500,000, will be met by funds received from the Mallinckrodts, the university has announced.

The building, eight stories high, is under construction on the north side of Kingshighway between Barnes and Children's hospitals. It will be completed by autumn.

Mallinckrodt has evidenced particular interest in the project since architectural plans were first drawn, university officials said. His additional contribution is estimated at about $150,000, interest on the earlier gift accounting for the balance.

An endowment of $750,000 has been provided by the General Education Board, the Rockefeller organization, to finance research in radiology and cancer treatment. Equipment, which will cost about $100,000, will be secured with funds from other sources.

The building will be known as the Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology. It will have X-ray facilities said to be unequaled in the world, and all the X-ray work for nearby hospitals in the Washington University group will be conducted there.

DR. BROOKS ADVISES FACULTY OF MISSOURI U. TO CARRY ON

Says There Is No Reason for Ship to Go Down When Captain Is Lost.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 23.—Speaking to the faculty of the University of Missouri at a special called meeting yesterday, Dr. Stratton D. Brooks, who will retire June 5 as active president, advised everyone connected with the institution to "carry on" with the new administration and to work for the plans for improvement of the university as outlined by the State Survey Commission.

President Brooks issued the call for the meeting of all instructors, professors, deans and departmental employes. After he finished his talk, he received a three-minute ovation.

Opening his talk with the remark that, while it is the code of the sea for a captain to go down with the ship, it is not necessary for the ship to go down when the captain is lost, Dr. Brooks said the important thing now was not who left the university or why, but that those who were left should forget personal differences and unite in a common purpose to keep the institution on its way to increased efficiency and wider service.

Dr. Brooks said the problem involved not only pacifying of antagonistic individuals and groups, but more important still the arousing of interest among still larger groups, whose attitude toward the university was largely that of indifference.

RUSSIANS ENTER UNDER BOND

35 Soviet Trade Delegates Had Been Detained 24 Hours.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Thirty-five Russians, representing four Soviet trade organizations, were allowed to enter the United States under bond yesterday after being detained for more than 24 hours at Ellis Island by immigration officials.

Bonds of $500 for each man were posted by the Amtorg Trading Corporation, business representative of the Soviet in America. The party was detained under a new immigration ruling which requires individual examinations of Soviet citizens entering the United States. They will study industrial conditions here and place orders for machinery.

MOTHER OF 4 SHOT TO DEATH

Body of Berwyn (Ill.) Victim Found by Husband Near Home.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Mrs. Marie Pelletier, 49-year-old mother of four children, was found shot to death late last night a few steps from her home in Berwyn, a suburb. Her husband, who found the body, thought she had taken poison and ran to the drugstore for help. When he returned, police had arrived. The woman had been shot twice in the chest.

Police think the shooting was done by robbers. The woman's purse, which her husband said contained only a small sum, was missing. Scattered about the body were groceries Mrs. Pelletier had bought for a party.

Col. Landis' Wife Dies.

ROME, May 23.—Mrs. Louise Landis (nee Lynch), Washington, wife of Col. J. F. Reynolds Landis, retired, died at a hospital today. Her husband was at her bedside. Funeral services will be held Monday at the Church of Santa Susanna and the body will be buried temporarily in Rome. Permanent Burial will be in Arlington Cemetery, when Col. Landis returns to the United States.

COUNTY REDUCES DEFICIT OF $470,439 TO $362,170

Improvement Is Shown by the Annual Report of County Clerk Miller.

St. Louis County reduced a deficit of $470,439 in its general revenue and road tax funds to $362,170 during the year ending March 15, it is shown in the annual report by County Clerk Walter Miller.

Total receipts for the year were $4,786,035, including $1,220,434 derived from the sale of bonds and taxes for bond sinking funds. Total expenditures were $3,485,756, leaving a total cash balance of $1,300,279, against which there are warrants outstanding for $403,212. The actual cash balance in the treasury is $897,066.

Some items in the general revenue fund have small balances. The road and bridge item, however, has a $119,421 deficit and the road tax fund whic his considered separately from the general revenue fund has a $270,894 deficit. Last year, the road tax fund was short $426,163, county towns being unable to obtain money due them as refunds. These refunds have been paid and the deficit decreased by curtailment of work on county roads.

REMOVED AS JUDGE FOLLOWING COLLAPSE

B. H. Boyer, Farmington, Declared by Governor to Be Incapacitated.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 23.—Judge Barton H. Boyer, 53 years old, of Farmington, Judge of the Twenty-seventh Judicial Circuit, was temporarily removed from office yesterday by Gov. Caulfield because of mental and physical incapabilities. I. N. Threlkeld of Farmington was appointed special judge. This is the second time Judge Boyer has been given leave of absence, and Judge Threlkeld named temporarily. Judge Boyer was relieved May 8, last year, and resumed his position Aug. 12, last.

Harry O. Smith, Prosecuting Attorney of St. Francois County, brought affidavits and testimony to the Governor today, showing Judge Boyer has suffered another mental relapse. He asked that a provisional judge be named in order that the present term of court could proceed. Judge Boyer had an attack several days ago in court and collapsed in the courtroom yesterday.

Judge Boyer's personal physician, other doctors at Farmington, and Dr. E. F. Hoctor, psychiatrist and Superintendent of State Hospital No. 4 at Farmington, all sent affidavits that the Judge was in such mental and physical condition as to be incapable of performing his duties.

The Governor may reinstate the Judge at any time when he is satisfied he has recovered and can perform his duties.

BOY SCOUTS PITCH TENTS FOR THREE-DAY CAMPARALL

Father and Son Rally in Municipal Theater Sunday Will End the Activities.

More than 1000 Boy Scouts of St. Louis were busy this afternoon pitching tents on the old aviation field on the south side of Forest Park in preparation for the third annual camparall, a three-day program of competitive scouting activities. The event will end Sunday with a Father and Son rally in the Municipal Theater.

Prize winning patrols will have a two-week vacation at the Boy Scout Camp at Irondale. Tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock members of the Musicians' Mutual Benefit Association will present a band concert as a preliminary to a pageant which will be enacted on Art Hill.

CONVICTED OF KILLING 2 GIRLS

By the Associated Press.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 23.—Joaquim Soaris of Paterson, N. J., who shot two girls to death at a wedding celebration at Lowell, March 2, was convicted of first degree murder on two counts here yesterday.

The State charged that Soaris went from Paterson to Lowell with the intention of killing Angelina Rodriguez, 17 years old, to whom he said he was engaged. After a wedding in which she had been the bridesmaid and the other victim, Matilda Silva, 10, a flower girl, Soaris shot the pair as they were leaving in an automobile.

FAIRMOUNT RACE TRACK, Ill., May 23.—Mrs. R. Pollard's colt Cog Air, a consistent racer during the recent Maryland season, showed a flash of his true form in winning the fifth and feature event of this afternoon's program. He broke fast for Jockey Tommy Root, had a comfortable lead before reaching the head of the stretch and then held his own to win by two lengths, from Chiclero.

The surprise of the race was the good performance of Skibo, an entry in the Fairmount Derby, tomorrow. He was off slowly but Cimerak hustled him into a contending position on the turn and then he came fast in the stretch to finish third, well ahead of the others. The time, 1:13 1-5 was good. Cog Air paid $5.50 for $2.

In spite of an all morning drizzle the track dried out quickly when the sun shone for an hour before the opening race. As a result Leflore, winner of the first event, covered the six furlongs in 1:13 4-5. About 5000 were present.

Leflore's early speed and Jockey Hanford's good judgment left the others in the field of nine nothing to strive for but second and third money. Queen Whims came fast in the stretch for second and Pebble's Last was third. The winner was the public choice and paid $4.22 for $2.

Shasta Lover was the best of a field of eight maidens 2-year-olds that went to the post in the second race. Kern had the colt on top from the rise of the barrier and kept him there. Lauhala, the public choice, was virtually left at the post, but made up long stretches of ground to finish third, not far behind Molly Hogan, which finally woke up after many indifferent attempts. Crooning moved forward on the turn, but lacked speed in the run through the stretch. The winner paid $20.34.

Billy appeared a standout in the field of nine making up the third race and he went to the post at almost even money. He raced as though much the best, wearing down Gaineswood in the last half mile to win going away. Twenty Five Sixty and Marcella Agnes, both tiring badly, finished third and fourth, half a length apart. Try Again, restrained by Jockey Gross, came from last place at the half mile ground to finish fifth, apparently none the worse for the exercise. The winner paid $4.82 for $2.

My Beauty Wins Again.

My Beauty scored her second straight victory when she took the fourth race from Jack Crain, Headcover and seven others. As in her previous race, My Beauty broke well, established an early lead and withstood a drive at the close. Jack Crain and Headcover engaged in a thrilling head and head struggle for second money, Meyers getting Jack Crain's nose out in front just in time. The winner, well ridden by Earl Goodrich, paid $9.10 for $2.

Gallant Knight and Ned O. Favorites in The Derby Tomorrow

Field of Ten for the Derby, With Jockeys, Weights and Odds

FOLLOWING is the field of horses for the $15,000 Fairmount Derby to be run tomorrow with weights to be carried, names of jockeys and owners, and probable odds:

Horse.	Weight.	Jockey.	Owner.	Odds.
Longus	118	R. O'Brien	R. C. Stable	6-1
Sydney	118	J. Parmelee	J. N. Camden	3-1
Ned O.	118	J. D. Mooney	G. W. Foreman	3-2
Reveille Boy	118	M. Rose	J. A. Best	15-1
Good and Hot	118	T. Root	Meadowbrook Stable	40-1
Thistle Ann	113	H. Thomas	Geo. Collins	20-1
Gallant Knight	118	H. Schutte	Audley Farm	3-2
Skibo	114	D. Dubois	Weque Stable	20-1
By Product	113	M. E. Meyers	J. G. Demarest	20-1

Horses are listed according to post position.

By Dent McSkimming.

With a field of ten, including the horses that finished second and third to Gallant Fox a week ago, the Fairmount Derby tomorrow promises to be one of the best in the five-year history of the event.

Past Performances Of Derby Horses

PAST performances of the horses entered in the $15,000 Fairmount Derby tomorrow will be found on page two of this section.

With their advantage of five pounds in the weights the two fillies, By Product and Thistle Ann, will get some support from those who speculate, but the bulk of the wagering will be on Gallant Knight and Ned O. Since they finished second and third in the Kentucky Derby, two lengths apart, they are regarded as sure contenders, the only question being whether they will finish in the same order they did at Churchill Downs.

Two "Standouts."

In so limited a field, racing accidents are likely to be few, a condition which seems to enhance the chances of Ned O, a slow starter. The history of his 22 races proves that he suffers a great handicap in habitually breaking slow from the barrier. Where the field of contenders is large, he soon has an almost insurmountable obstacle before him. In this race not more than nine can get off in front of him, so his troubles are at least reduced in numbers. And the distance, a mile and a quarter, should be long enough to enable him to make up ground lost at the start.

The Audley Farm people have offered no excuses for Gallant Knight's performance last Saturday, when he was beaten two lengths by Gallant Fox for the $50,000 prize. He proved himself a good horse and there is no reason to believe he will be any worse tomorrow. Having beaten his most formidable rival once, he should be able to do it again, at equal weights, they believe.

Sydney Likely to Set Pace.

Of the other contenders, Sydney, Longus, Thistle Ann, Reveille Boy and By Product seem to have the best chance of giving the two standouts a battle. Because of his sensational workout yesterday morning, Sydney has popped into the picture very prominently. It is generally expected that he will set the pace and it will be a fast one. He covered six furlongs yesterday in 1:12 3-5, a lot faster than the distance has been run in actual races this season. There is no other horse in the race that has that sort of early speed. Although his record indicates he must have a dry track to give his best, Sydney will be started regardless of conditions, Trainer Danny Stewart has announced.

Three of the Derby entrants worked out during the morning, Reveille Boy going three-quarters of a mile in 1:22 and Thistle Ann doing the same distance in 1:17 flat. Good and Hot worked a half mile in :50 1-5.

World's Fastest Runners, Who Meet Tomorrow

GEORGE SIMPSON
EDDIE TOLAN

GEORGE SIMPSON, OHIO STATE, EDDIE TOLAN, MICHIGAN.
Tolan's time of 9.5 seconds for the 100 yards was recently recognized as a new world record. Simpson, however, ran the distance in one-tenth of a second faster time. His mark was rejected because he used starting blocks. Tomorrow they will meet in the final of the 100 and 220 yards Big Ten conference title Sprints.

U. S. WINS DAVIS CUP HONORS IN AMERICAN ZONE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn clinched American zone Davis cup honors for the United States with a 6—0, 6—1, 6—3 victory over the Mexican doubles team of Manuel Llano and Alfonso Unda here this afternoon.

The American victory was won from the forecourt. Time and again the blond Allison and the dark-haired Van Ryn took the net away from the Latins.

In the first set Llano and Unda gained only 5 points in the six games. Not until the third game of the second set did they break Var Ryn's service.

In the third set the Mexicans played steady tennis, but could not contend with the deadly smashes of Van Ryn and Allison.

MANUSH AND SCHULTE SLUG BALL; STEWART SCORES 6TH VICTORY

CLEVELAND, May 23.—The Browns made it three in a row over the Cleveland Indians by winning this afternoon's game.

The score was 5 to 4.

It was Stewart's sixth victory of the season.

Sammy Hale who strained a muscle in his leg yesterday was still laid up and O'Rourke was at third base.

Rick Ferrell and Luke Sewell were the catchers.

The game:

CLEVELAND — Morgan fouled to O'Rourke. J. Sewell singled to center. Averill doubled over Manush's head, scoring J. Sewell. Melillo went into center field for Fonseca's fly. Hodapp went out the same way. ONE RUN.

SECOND — BROWNS—Hodapp made a great one-handed stop of Schulte's grounder and threw him out. Melillo popped to Hodapp. Gullic walked. Ferrell flied to Averill.

CLEVELAND — Seeds flied to Schulte. O'Rourke threw out L. Sewell. Goldman went out the same way.

THIRD — BROWNS — Stewart flied to Averill. Blue bunted and Harder threw him out. O'Rourke fouled to Seeds.

CLEVELAND — Harder singled to center. Morgan doubled against the right field wall, Harder stopping at third. J. Sewell singled to right, Harder scoring, Morgan stopping at third. Kress went into left field for Averill's fly. Fonseca flied to Melillo. Hodapp singled through O'Rourke, Morgan scoring, J. Sewell stopping at second. Melillo tossed out Seeds. TWO RUNS.

FOURTH—BROWNS— Manush beat out a bunt in front of the plate. When J. Sewell let Kress' bounder get through him, Manush went all the way to third, and Kress to second. Schulte singled to left, scoring Manush and Kress, but Schulte was out trying for second, Seeds to Goldman. Melillo walked. Gullic singled to center, sending Melillo to third, and took second on Averill's throw to third. Jablonowski replaced Harder. Ferrell was purposely passed, filling the bases. Stewart popped to Goldman. Hodapp went into right field for Blue's fly. TWO RUNS.

FIFTH — BROWNS—O'Rourke flied to Averill. Manush lined to Morgan. Kress lined to Goldman.

CLEVELAND—Melillo threw out Morgan. J. Sewell's third hit was a single to right. Averill forced J. Sewell, Blue to Kress. Fonseca walked. Kress booted Hodapp's grounder, Averill scoring, Fonseca taking third and Hodapp second. Seeds flied to Schulte. ONE RUN.

CLEVELAND—J. Sewell popped to Melillo. Averill lifted to Melillo. Fonseca dropped a single in center. Hodapp flied to Gullic.

EIGHTH — BROWNS — Manush tripled to the center field bleachers. Kress singled, scoring Manush with the tieing. Schulte singled past J. Sewell, Kress stopping at second. W. Ferrell replaced Jablonowsky. Hodapp threw out Melillo. Kress scored and Schulte took third on Gullic's long sacrifice fly to Averill. R. Ferrell flied to Morgan. TWO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Seeds lined to Manush. Kress threw out L. Sewell. Goldman hit to R. Ferrell.

CLEVELAND—W. Farrell walk Morgan sacrificed, Kress to Blue. Schulte made a catch of J. Sewells fly in right center. Melillo threw out Averill.

CAFETERIA IDEA IS RATHER PUZZLING TO OLYMPIC COMMITTEE

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, May 23.—The International Olympic Committee today approved the proposal of the Los Angeles group to build an Olympic village to house the athletes in the 1932 games, but paused over the idea of a cafeteria food service.

The committee, unfamiliar with American habits, voiced misgivings over the idea of self-service.

"Would it not lower the dignity of the athletes to ask them to stand in line for meals?" they asked. Their fears were smoothed away finally with the explanation that even wealthy Americans eat at cafeterias.

Rain Prevents Cards' Game; Two Games Tomorrow

TODAY'S scheduled game between the Cardinals and Reds was called off because of rain and cold weather, and Sam Breadon announced that the teams would play a double-header tomorrow, starting at 1:30 o'clock.

Jess Haines will pitch the first game of the twin bill, and with Bill Sherdel still nursing an injured muscle in his side, Sylvester Johnson probably will be given a chance in the second contest. Pete Donohue and Red Lucas are due for the Reds.

CARDINALS, IN CELLAR MAY 7, LEAD RACE AFTER WINNING 13 OF 14

STREET'S LEADERSHIP, GOOD PITCHING BY LINDSEY AND BELL, BIG FACTORS IN CLIMB OF TEAM

By J. Roy Stockton.

There's nothing in baseball to compare with the magic of a winning streak.

On May 7 the Cardinals were in last place and lo and a couple of beholds, by scoring 13 victories in 14 starts, which is a pretty fair string of triumphs, they not only have climbed from last place to the National League lead, but they have changed the aspect of a lot of other things.

For instance, three weeks ago the grand stand wolves were beginning to pick Manager Gabby Street to pieces. They were saying that he was trying to win 1930 ball games with 1900 baseball tactics. They said he was handling his pitchers badly and that he must be an incompetent manager, because his team had lost a wagon load of games by one run, and it was pointed out that defeat by such narrow margins was a sign of weakness.

Sic Transit the Wolf.

But listen to the wolves now. They have changed their clothing and have graduated magna cum winning streak into plain and fancy horn blowers.

Now Gabby Street is showing profound astuteness in the selection of his pitchers and in the switching of the same. He has an uncanny knowledge of what batters are going to do. He makes no mistakes on that third base coaching line. He is not an incompetent manager any longer and he is winning 1930 games with 1900 wisdom, and wisdom is wisdom no matter what the calendar says.

That's the way with the baseball world. When you win you're all hunky dory, as Herman Seekamp used to say, and when you lose you're a big bum and about to be the predecessor of a new manager.

Victory over the Reds yesterday afternoon by the score of 4 to 2, coupled with a defeat administered to the Brooklyn Robins by the good old Boston Braves, enabled the Cardinals to gain the final objective of their early season drive.

They All Look Alike.

And that drive has been an impressive one. Starting after four straight defeats at the hands of the fence-bombarding Brooklyn Robins, the Redbirds humbled the Phillies twice and nobody paid much attention to that. Four victories over the Braves didn't make the fans incandescent, but when Street's warriors ran the winning streak to eight by knocking over the Giants in two games, the baseball-minded public began to sit up, take notice and visit the box office.

Then along came the Cubs and, after taking the first game of a series to make it nine victories in succession, the Cards lost a game, only to come back the same afternoon and trim the Bruins in the second game of a double-header to start a new winning streak. Another victory over the Cubs and two over the Reds bring the drive up to date, with two more games with the Reds scheduled at Sportsman's Park before the Cardinals depart to carry the fight into the enemy's country.

How It All Happened.

Good pitching, including some brilliant relief work by Jim Lindsey, Bill Sherdel and Herman Bell, has been an important factor in the pennant drive and then there has been the powerful batting punch, with Charley Gelbert's sudden entry into the ranks of sluggers as a most pleasing feature.

Then don't overlook the influence and guiding genius of Gabby Street. The Old Sergeant is a manager who makes you change your mind if you think it doesn't make any or much difference who directs a ball club.

Last year these self-same Cardinals, with Sparky Adams the only 1930 athlete not available for duty then, ran a bad fourth in the pennant race. And it was not so much that they ran fourth, as it was the way they did it, not seeming to care much.

But it's different now, and you can attribute the change entirely to Street's influence.

Some leaders drive their men. Some inspire them. Some coax them and some, by virtue of their reputation and long experience, command the necessary respect, as in the case of Connie Mack.

But Street is a new type of leader. He's a real boss, make no mistake about that. But he doesn't drive and he doesn't coax, and except that he was a great catcher in his day, his background is not one to inspire. And this is his first year as big league manager, so there are no traditions.

But no band of men ever fought or ever will fight with more determination or more spirit than the Cardinals are showing in their struggle to make good for Gabby Street.

Street knows his baseball, but so did many another Cardinal manager. But the big factor in his success, the success of the Cards thus far, is that the men regard him so highly. There's no other way to describe it, it's affection.

When games were being lost the Cardinals didn't grieve over the defeats so much. Nor did they moan over pitching failures or low batting averages. What they felt bad about was that they were losing for Old Gabby. They used to talk it over in the hotel lobbies, on the trains and at the ball park.

"We gotta get going for Gabby," they would say and they have "got going."

America Cup Defense to Cost Yacht Syndicates $2,500,000

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 22.—When "Whirlwind," last of the potential defenders of the America's cup to take the water, is launched tomorrow or Saturday more than $1,500,000 will have been expended in the preliminary defense of American yachting prestige against the challenge made by Sir Thomas Lipton.

Probably twice this sum will be needed before the completion of the trials to decide which yacht shall sail against the Shamrock V for the trophy, which originally was valued at less than $1000. Then another $500,000 will be added either vainly or triumphantly by the time of the actual race in September.

Powerful financial syndicates are back of the respective contenders. The sloop "Enterprise," which has a big advantage over her rivals in the matter of preparation, was built by a syndicate headed by Harold S. Vanderbilt and E. Walter Clark, New York financial leaders. J. P. Morgan, Junius S. Morgan, Gerard B. Lambert and George Nichols, son-in-law of the elder Morgan, are back of the sloop "Weetamoe."

"Whirlwind" is being financed almost entirely by Langdon K. Thorne and Paul Hammond of New York. Chandler Hovey, John S. Lawrence and Frank C. Paine head a group of Boston enthusiasts behind the Yankee.

Some idea of the expense incurred in the construction of one of the boats is seen in the cost of the array of sails used. The yachts carry two or three mainsails, each costing from $20,000 to $35,000. In addition, there are the auxiliary sails to the number of 12 or more sets, which run the expenditure for sails alone from fifty to one hundred thousand dollars.

The towering masts, reaching 156 to 168 feet above the deck, cost approximately $25,000. Each of the vessels is required to have a spare mast.

Twenty per cent more may be added to the expense of Lipton's single vessel, as the English sportsman is required to bring his boat across the Atlantic, accompanied by a fleet of tenders to accommodate guests and a crew of 22.

Sonnenberg and Shikat Win in "Title" Contests

BOSTON, May 23.—Gus Sonnenberg successfully defended his claim to the world's heavyweight wrestling title here last night against Henri Diglane of France. "Sonny" won the first fall in 17 minutes and the third in 12 minutes, both with flying tackles. Diglane won a sensational second fall in 17 minutes with an inside crotch hold and body slam.

The match was a slam-bang affair from start to finish. Sonnenberg gained his first fall by nailing the Frenchman with three butts, ending the series with a body slam.

Diglane was wildly aggressive during the grappling for the second fall and, with an amazing body lift squared the match by dashing Sonnenberg to the mat.

Sonnenberg tried desperately to gain his winning fall quickly, but his slippery opponent broke a dozen punishing holds. He appeared to have Sonnenberg groggy with headlocks, only to have the latter come to life suddenly and end the match with another flying tackle.

Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former champion, found "Count" George Zarynoff, the acrobatic Russian, an elusive customer in the semi-final contest. Lewis outweighed his opponent by a good 40 pounds and did not appear impressive when held to a 30-minute draw by the bounding grappler, who broke the famed Lewis headlock with ease.

BALTIMORE, May 23. — Dick Shikat, recognized in many States as the world's champion heavyweight wrestler, last night threw Pat O'Shocker of Baltimore in 43 minutes. The champion used a body slam to end the match that had been exceptionally close.

Wray's COLUMN

Simpson vs. Tolan.

EDDIE TOLAN, Michigan's Negro sprinter, will have a chance to uphold his recently acquired world championship prestige tomorrow in the finals of the 100 and 220 yard dash events at Evanston.

The International Federation recognized Tolan's mark of 9.5 seconds and declined to approve Simpson's time of 9.4, because the Ohio speedster used starting blocks.

But there will be no such bar to recognition when Simpson and Tolan meet in tomorrow's events, for the Ohio runner has announced that he will NOT use the blocks.

"I do not think the blocks are of material aid in setting records and I believe I can get away just as rapidly without them," Simpson was quoted as saying a few days ago.

Thus the test will be a fair one, without excuses on either side. Tolan apparently had not reached his peak in previous events this year, and he has suffered defeat.

When Tolan ran his 9.5 seconds race last year, he beat Simpson by a gnat's eyebrow; but it was the only time in a major meet that he ever finished ahead of the Ohioan. Simpson had the edge on Tolan in other encounters, and the probabilities are he will beat Tolan at both distances tomorrow.

Rough on John Patrick.

IF Simpson makes good and runs the century in near record time, it may kick over John P. Nicholson's house of cards. Nicholson, Notre Dame coach, a St. Louis boy and former Missouri and Olympic hurdler sprinter and jumper, invented the type of blocks used by Simpson. He had expected to sell the International Federation the idea that the blocks were O K and then reap a young fortune out of the manufacture and sale of the invention.

If Simpson proves that they are unnecessary to setting records, John Pat's castle in Spain may be wrecked, according to some notions.

* * *

There is another angle, however. Nicholson has complained that the purpose of the starting blocks is misunderstood. He asserts that their object is not to speed up the getaway, but by having everybody use them, make all starts UNIFORM. He also contends the invention will prevent false breaks.

If he can get that thought across, he could dispose of the blocks, even though Simpson set a record without them.

A Two-Horse Race?

"THE Fairmount Derby? Just a two-hoss race," commented an old observer of turf events. "Gallant Knight and Ned O. have the race between them. Longus doesn't seem to class and Sydney will have to show us more to gain a following. The others don't count."

Some such sentiment was heard in 1927 when Whiskery and Osmand were supposed to have the event betwen them. Then along came Buddy Bauer and spilled the beans, at long odds.

Just now the play is all on the two favorites, with Gallant Knight and Ned O. held at 3 to 2 each. But the sharp shooters are nibbling at Sydney, Longus and Wizardry. The race may produce another Buddy Bauer. Senator Camden's Sydney is in this race conditionally.

If the track is dry he will go. If the track is heavy his owner has ordered his aids not to pay the starting fee. The inference is that on a fast track Sydney may surprise them.

In any case the field will be small and the slow-beginner, Ned O., will not have to travel 10 or more lengths farther than his competitors, as he usually does.

This "stretch-running fool" ought to give fans a thrill even if he loses. Racing fans like to see an "express train" whizzing by the field, in the stretch. And Ned O. does that. In one race this year he was fourteenth at the head of the stretch and finished second.

North Hills to Seek 1931 State Amateur Tourney

At a meeting of the board of governors of North Hills Country Club this week, it was voted to seek the Missouri amateur championship tournament for 1931.

The directors took the view that inasmuch as Elliott Whitbread, a member of Noth Hills, has won the championship for the past two years and was runnerup the previous year, the tournament should come to St. Louis in 1931 and the club to hold it should be North Hills, so the club will extend an invitation to the Missouri Golf Association to bring the tournament to North Hills next year.

The tournament was held at Riverview Golf Club, now North Shore, here in 1928. Last year it was held at Kansas City and will be held there again next month.

ILLINOIS HIGH CONFERENCE IS NOW "BIG NINE"

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill., May 23.—The Big Seven conference of Southern Illinois became the "Big Nine" when Johnston City and Carterville were officially made members of the circuit at a meeting of the high school principals last night at Marion.

Principal Harry Taylor of Harrisburg was elected president of the new conference and Principal Ralph E. Stringer of Herrin, secretary. The Big Nine will include Benton, Carterville, Carbondale, Harrisburg, Herrin, Johnston City, Marion, Murphysboro and West Frankfort. Because the schedule for football of most of the schools already have been arranged for next falino championship will be given in that sport because competition would not be on an equal basis.

Johnston City and Carterville were membersof the Egyptian conference but when Christopher and Anna-Jonesboro withdrew it practically broke the circuit, leaving only four schools to continue athletic relations. Johnston City and Carterville are two of the stronger of the Egyptian conference.

Johnston City has a football game scheduled next fall with Harrisburg and Carterville in the Big Uine and other games are expected to be scheduled with Herrin and West Frankfort. Regular Big Nine competition for championship will begin with basketball.

Ontario League Recognized.

The Ontario League, embracing the territory of Brantford, Guelp, Hamilton, London, St. Catharines and St. Thomas, all in the province of Ontario, Canada, has been granted membership in the National Association, according to an announcement from the office of Secretary J. H. Farrell. The league has a class C rating.

Catcher Awarded to Winston-Salem

The services of Cloy Mattox, former catcher for the Philadelphia A's have been awarded Winston-Salem, according to a ruling from Secretary Farrell of the National Association.

Gallant Fox and Whichone May Meet First Time June 7

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 22.

AMERICA'S turf natural—the meeting of Gallant Fox, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, and Whichone, champion juvenile of 1929, may not materialize until the running of the rich Belmont Stake at Belmont Park, June 7.

Although both of the 3-year-olds are eligible for the Withers, scheduled for May 31, William Woodward is expected to withhold the Derby winner from that event. Harry Payne Whitney will, in all probability, start Whichone, as the son of Chicle is razor-sharp for the race.

The Withers is at a mile, while the Belmont Stake is over a mile and one-half, a distance much more favorable to Gallant Fox, which has come from behind to win all three of his 3-year-old races. In contrast, Whichone is considered a sprinter, although there are turfmen who claim that the Whitney colt can go the route just as easy as he sprinted to victory in the Belmont Futurity last fall.

HIGH HANDICAP GOLFERS AGAIN WIN PRIZES IN MONTHLY EVENT

By W. ' McGoogan.

Donald Anderson, former Missouri amateur champion, served notice on St. Louis golfers that he is back in serious competition, yesterday, when he went around the 18 holes at Algonquin in 72 to tie Jim Manion, Normandie, and Chick Irwin, North Hills, for the low medal in the second handicap tournament of the season.

Anderson hit his usual long ball from the tee and the rest of his game showed the results of the greater amount of golf he has been playing this season than in past years.

Those who played at Algonquin considered the tournament a workout for the fifteenth annual district tournament which opens at Algonquin Saturday, May 31, and the showing made by Manion and Irwin indicated that they also will be hard to beat.

Behind the three low scores came three of the younger stars of the district, Eddie Donohue, Woodlawn; Chester O'Brien, Westborough, and Lester Slattery, Crystal Lake, each with a 74. O'Brien won the low gross in the first tournament with a 75 and his 74 yesterday shows the consistent brand of golf he plays.

Handicap Men Victors.

Of course, the prizes in the event were carried off largely by players with high handicaps, for these tournaments were instituted particularly for their benefit. The low doubles prize went to M. P. Brazill, North Shore, and W. M. Taggart who had a score of 130, scoring a net 65 each, Taggart getting an 82 with 17 off and Brazill an 81 with 16 off. Taggart went to the last hole needing four for a 78 but blew up and took an eight.

Six-players had net 65s, Irwin, whose handicap is seven, and Anderson who got the same award tying with Roy Fish, North Hills, who had a 78 with 13 strokes handicap. Taggart, Brazill and K. W. Ewing, Forest Park, who had an 87 with 22 strokes handicap.

There were ties at Westborough also, where the second half of the field, composed of the players with the higher handicaps played. Roy Kott had low net honors with a 61, getting 21 strokes off his score of 82, while G. W. Wilson, Westborough, and H. K. Hotze, Triple A, tied for second place with 63 each, Hotze shooting a 79 with a 16-stroke award and Wilson totaling 87 and getting a 24-stroke handicap.

I. G. McGaghey, North Hills, and Hotze tied with G. T. Woodroffe, Mdland, and Ray Haas, Westborough, for the doubles, lead each team, scoring a net 134.

COUNTRY DAY STARS SET TWO RECORDS IN WINNING PREP TRACK MEET

…ELL, RICHARDS …ND MORTON ARE STARS; VICTORS TAKE 10 FIRSTS

By Robert W. Herr

Taking 10 first places out of a total of 14 events, and placing men in every event but two, the Country Day School track squad rolled up 57 points at Taylor Field yesterday to capture the sixth annual Prep League track and field meet in decisive manner. The victory was the most outstanding scored by any school in the history of the meet, with the Codasco runners capturing the high and low hurdles, and setting records in both events, all the dashes and middle distance runs, the pole vault, broad jump, javelin and relay. Western, winner of last year's meet, was second with 31½ points, and St. Louis U. High finished third with 20. McBride and C. B. trailed in fourth and fifth with ½ and 5 points, respectively.

Three stars accounted for seven of the 10 first places taken by the winners. "Dick" Bell, bespectacled sprinter, was home first in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, captured the broad jump and ran on the winning relay team to lead individual scorers with 15 points. Bud Richards led the field in the 440 and 880 to total 10 points, and Strat Morton set a new mark in winning the 220-yard low hurdles in :27, a full second faster than the old mark. Morton also took the javelin throw, and both he and Richards ran on the relay team that tied the old record of 1:37. The other new record was also set by a Country Day man, Schlapp, who raced over the 120-yard high hurdle course in :17.5, clipping .5 of a second from the old mark.

From the start the winners left little doubt of their superiority. After breaking the record in the high hurdles to start the meet, Codasco captured the 100-yard dash, then dropped the mile run, and followed this with eight successive first places. Fehlig of St. Louis and Roehl of Western interrupted the run with victories in the discus and high jump, and then the Red and White squad topped off the meet by sprinting the 880-yard relay in 1:37 to tie the mark set in 1928 by Western.

SPORT SALAD by L. C. Davis

THE Hughey Critz for Benton swap
May put the Giants right on top,
And also help the Reds.
For pitchers that are canned by "Mac"
Have quite a knack of coming back

The Giants, weak at second base
And getting nowhere in the race,
Experiments have tried.
The Reds, according to the dope,
Were needing pitchers, so we hope
They both are satisfied.

It was a great experiment
When Hornsby to the Giants went
And to the Braves was passed.
In view of Rogers Hornsby's fate
Who played a year and got the gate,
How long will Hughey last?

Three homers in a single game,
Were made by Ruth, but just the same
The Yankees lost the fray.
In fact, they lost two games of ball,

His pitching now should be improved
Beyond the slightest doubt.
For when effectiveness you crave
And find your tonsils won't behave

Tough Picking.

The man on the sandbox says when Whichone and Gallant Fox meet in the Belmont Stakes it's going to be hard to tell Whichone to bet on.

There's a Reason.

"Brooklyn's Climb One for the Book."

LAST year they didn't get along
Because their Mr. Wright was wrong;
But now the Robins' upward flight
Would indicate that Wright is right.

Quite So.

All they did to Glenn Wright was take a piece of bone out of his hip and graft it into his shoulder. And the result would indicate that the surgeon didn't pull a bone when he did it.

Tom Oliver, the Red Sox rookie outfielder, has a batting stance like that of Heine Groh. However, he might out-Groh it.

A Swell Affair.

AN epidemic of the mumps
Has given John McGraw his bumps;
In fact, that swelling of the face
Has almost bumped him from the race,
And while it is a swell affair
For mumps he really doesn't care.
Out of his life it takes the joys
But after all boys will be boys.

COOK SETS NEW SHOT PUT MARK IN HIGH SCHOOL TRACK CARNIVAL

PUBLIC SCHOOLS STADIUM, May 23.—Dave Cook, star weightman of the Soldan team, established a new record for the shot-put in one of the early events in the annual High School track and field championships here this afternoon. Cook tossed the 12-pound shot 51 feet 1¼ inches to beat the old record of 47 feet, which he established in the title competition last season.

The weather cleared up and left the track and field in excellent condition with the track being rather fast. A slight wind was against the runners. The attendance was estimated at 7500.

The summaries:

SENIOR EVENTS.

SENIOR SHOT PUT—Cook, Soldan, first; Strugar, Roosevelt, second; Buch, Roosevelt, third; Broe, Roosevelt, fourth. Distance—51 feet 1¼ inches (new record.)

LACLEDE MOTHERS' CLUB WINS BOWLING TITLE

The Laclede Mothers' Club of the Public Schools Playgrounds Mothers' Circle won the trophy for the city bowling championship in a roll-off with the Walbridge and Ashland schools' teams. Each school had a four-lub league during the past season and the champion squad from each school's mothers' club participated in the roll-off.

The Laclede mothers won by 68 pins, rolling a scratch score of 1620 for the four women on the team. Walbridge was second and Ashland third.

The trophy was presented to the champions at a meeting of the Mothers' Circle at the Board of Education building. Mrs. Harry Hoffman, in a talk after the presentation, said J. D. Wooster Lambert had donated a trophy to be placed in competition next season and that she thought it likely there would be 36 schools represented in the play during the 1930-31 season.

SIMPSON AND TOLAN QUALIFY IN BIG TEN "100"

By the Associated Press.

EVANSTON, Ill., May 23.—Driving through a drizzling rain, Eddie Tolan, world's 100-yard dash champion, and George Simpson, the Ohio State comet, raced to impressive victories in the preliminaries of the Western conference outdoor track and field championship this afternoon. Tolan of the University of Michigan, won his heat in the century with three yards to spare in 9.8 seconds. Simpson, discarding the starting blocks, shaded Tolan's time by winning his trial heat in 9.7.

Tolan used starting blocks, but may decide to do without them in the finals tomorrow.

Considering weather conditions, Simpson's performance was impressive. The day was raw and cold, with low hanging clouds, and a steady, light rain beat down on the heads of the runners. The track, however, was not considered slow.

Simpson flirted with world's record time in winning his preliminary heat of the 220-yard dash, flashing over the wet cinders to capture the furlong in 21 seconds flat. Tolan also easily qualified for the finals by winning his heat, slowed up in 21.8 seconds.

Qualifiers in the various events were as follows:

120-YARD HIGH HURDLES—Sentman and Rodgers, Illinois; Saling, Iowa; Zeize, Wisconsin; Hatfield, Indiana; Rockaway, Ohio State. Best time by Sentman, 14.7s.

440-YARD RUN—Walter and McAuliffe, Northwestern, Dickinson, Illinois; Russell and Dale Seymour, Michigan; Henke and Davidson, Wisconsin; Strother, Ohio State. Best time by Dale Seymour, 49.9.

SHOT PUT QUALIFIERS—Behr and Gnabah, Wisconsin; Munn, Minnesota; Roberts and Massey, Iowa; Brooks and Poorman, Michigan; Yunevich, Purdue; Pritchard, Northwestern; Wineland, Illinois. Best effort by Behr, 47 ft 8½ in.

Milliken Nine Wins, 6-3.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill., May 23.—A four-hit rally in the tenth inning netted Millikin three runs and a 6 to 3 victory over Illinois College in a fast Little Nineteen baseball game yesterday.

MISS RYAN AND MRS. MOODY GO INTO NET FINAL

AUTEUIL, France, May 23.—Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan, America's standard bearers in the women's doubles event of the French tennis championships, reached the final today by defeating the strong British combination of Joan Fry and Ermyntrude Harvey by the convincing scores of 6—1, 6—2.

The American women overwhelmed their English opponents by an unrelenting attack. Miss Fry and Miss Harvey won the first game of the match, but Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan then reeled off seven straight to capture the first set and lead at 1—0 in the second. The rest was easy.

Mrs. Moody's tennis showed a vast improvement over yesterday, particularly in overhead play, volleying and service. Queen Helen won all four of her service games without any of them going to deuce, and she scored five aces.

Rain, descending in torrents shortly after the victory of Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan, made further tennis today appear unlikely and cut short a thrilling quarter-final men's doubles match between British and Australian teams.

J. Colin Gregory and Ian G. Collins of Britain were all square with Harry Hopman and Jim Willard of Australia at 6—3, 2—6, 6—4, 2—6, 6—6, when the match was interrupted. The battle gave some indication of the struggle that can be expected when the British and Australian Davis cup teams meet the first week in June in a European zone quarter-final contest.

Another pair of sturdy Antipodeans consisting of E. F. Moon and Jack Crawford emphasized the strength of Australia's Davis cup delegation by disposing of H. G. N. Lee and G. P. Hughes of England, 6—2, 4—6, 4—6, 6—4, 6—3, in a quarter-final struggle.

The strong Australian team of Hopman and Willard, resuming play after the rain ceased, upset Gregory and Collins by total scores of 3—6, 6—2 4—6, 6—2, 10—8. Although the score had stood at 6-all in the fifth set the players, by mutual agreement started the final set over.

The result of the match was a great surprise as Gregory and Collins, runers-up at Wimbledon last year, had been considered almost certain finalists.

KANSAS AND NEBRASKA FAVORED IN BIG SIX TRACK AND FIELD MEET

LINCOLN, Neb., May 23. — Big Six athletic directors and faculty representatives gathered here yesterday before the second annual track and field meet that opens today.

They spent two sessions drawing up tentative schedules and discussing a report on the questionnaire recently turned in by athletes of the six schools. The real work of framing schedules for 1931 was laid over, however, until this morning.

Kentucky Derby Winner's Owner May Win English Derby With Half Brother of Gallant Fox

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 23.—There'll be much joy but little surprise around the stables of William Woodward if Scout II, half brother of Gallant Fox, gallops home on British turf with the same comparative honors that have come this season to his famous American relative.

The racing world had almost forgotten that there was such a 3-year-old as Scout II, sired by Sir Gallahad III, as Gallant Fox was, and racing in England. Yet the Scout came from behind in the Newmarket Stakes a few days ago to win the $5000 prize and join the possible winners of the famous English Derby at Epsom Downs June 4. Odds immediately dropped on the Scout from 23 to 1 to 16 to 1.

Even Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons had almost forgotten that the Scout still existed and he had to think twice today to remember that there was still another Woodward horse abroad entered in the Derby, a 3-year-old colt named Fair Game. This horse, too, was sired by Sir Gallahad III and may tangle with the Scout in pursuit of the highest honors of British turfdom.

Sir Gallahad III Cost $150,000.

Fitzsimmons is trainer of the horses of William Woodward, New York banker, who put up with Marshall Field and Robert L. Gerry the $150,000 it cost to import Sir Gallahad III from France. In 1928 Woodward won one race with his stable and his winnings totaled $700. This year Gallant Fox alone has won $110,000 in purses, is favored to win the $60,000 Belmont Stakes June 7, and may have a couple more $50,000 prizes at his mercy if no accidents befall him. Flying Gal, the crack 3-year-old filly whose daddy also was Sir Gallahad III, seems certain to gather in some of the fine purses that Gallant Fox won't seek.

"We'll be mighty happy but we won't be surprised if the Scout comes through overseas to win the English Derby," Fitzsimmons said. "All the Woodward horses are stayers who like the route and the distance is a mile and a half.

"I haven't kept much track of the Scout and the other yearlings Mr. Woodward sent abroad in the fall of 1928. These horses never had a saddle on them until they were turned over to British trainers on the other side. But they can run and I don't see why the Scout or Fair Game can't win that other Derby.

"It would be nice to have the winners of both the Kentucky and British Derbies in the same stable. It looks like the world championship sure would rest between them, but it would be impossible to put them in the same race and find out which was the better. There'd be honor enough for both."

McBRIDE NINE PLAYS ST. LOUIS U. HIGH IN PREP CONTEST TODAY

The McBride nine will attempt to end its second season as baseball champion of the Prep League with a victory this afternoon when it meets the St. Louis U. High outfit in a league game at Sherman Park. The contest will be the last of the season for the Colonnaders, who have not been defeated in the league this year. St. Louis U. High has won three and lost three in conference play thus far, and by defeating the McBride tossers will have the chance of tying with C. B. C. for second place in the final standing. The game starts at 3:15.

It is likely that "Took" Durbin, the best hurler McBride has had in several seasons, will get the call for mound work this afternoon. It will be the last game for both Durbin and Powell, the veteran Colonnader battery which has turned in 10 victories and suffered only one defeat in two years.

Coach Ed McCarty of St. Louis will probably start "Port" Minette, erstwhile center fielder, who has shown considerable pitching ability in the past two weeks. Minette will be back next year and McCarty believes work this season will prepare him for a string of victories in 1931.

BIG SIX DRAFTS SCHEDULE FOR BASKET TEAMS

By the Associated Press.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 23.—Athletic directors of the Big Six Conference schools indicated today that conference baseball was temporarily "on the pan" because of alleged "muckerism" displayed at spring games.

Final action probably will be taken at the fall meeting, the coaches said. Muckerism, they explained, is an air of nonchalance affected by college players, after the manner of some professional diamond stars.

The directors drafted a basketball schedule for the 1930-1931 season, and discussed freshman football schedules. The basketball card was drafted as follows:

Jan. 10—Oklahoma at Iowa State; Missouri at Nebraska.
Jan. 12—Kansas Aggies ta Missouri; Oklahoma at Kansas.

Some tailors weep bitter tears at the job of achieving a perfect fit with a thin, lightweight fabric and scant skeleton linings . . . but not ours; they know where to put every stitch; how to make the collar hug the neck; how to set in a sleeve without having it wrinkle; how to get a smooth fit over the shoulder and across the back. TOMORROW'S RACING ENTRIES AND SELECTIONS AT ALL TRACK

SYDNEY'S DERBY WORKOUT GIVES HIM A LOOK-IN FOR RICH PRIZE

The fine workout of Sydney over the Fairmount track yesterday, when he flew over six furlongs in 1:12 3-5 and then finished out the mile, pulled up, in 1:41 2-5, makes it almost a certainty that Ned O. and Gallant Knight are not going to have the Fairmount Derby entirely to themselves tomorrow, if the track is dry. It was reported he would not go to the post except on a fast course.

Some truly fast sprinters have gone to the post here in the past two weeks and not one has run the six furlongs under 1:13, even under the spur of competition. That includes My Dandy, Brown Wisdom, Tippy Toe, Cog-Air, Uluniu and others.

There remains, a question, of course, as to Sydney's staying qualities. He ran 19 races last year, won five, was second four times and third twice. Only four times was he put to the test at a mile or over and then he fared indifferently. He seems to like a very fast track.

Wins Fine Stake Race.

Perhaps his most creditable effort was that of Aug. 17, at Hawthorne when he won the Chicago Juvenile Handicap, beating, among others, the great Try Too (now dead), Gallant Knight, whom he will meet tomorrow; Lightning Jones, Capture, Khara and others. He carried 112 pounds, and he came from far back to win, covering the six furlongs in 1:12 flat. His races at a mile and over came later in the season. He won one at Laurel, with 115 pounds up, covering the mile in 1:40.

Sydney May "Steal the Race."

Trainer Danny Stewart believes Sydney is the fastest thing in the West, and he says he may get so far out in front in the first three-quarters that they'll never come close to catching him.

Former Senator J. N. Camden of Versailles, Ky., has wired General Manager Eddy that he will be here to watch his horse Sydney run in the Derby.

Gallant Fox Will Not Be Started in Withers Stakes

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 23.

SUNNY JIM FITZSIMMONS, trainer for William Woodward, announces that Gallant Fox, winner of both the Preakness and Kentucky Derby, will not start in the Withers Stake at Belmont Saturday, May 31.

If Gallant Fox is withheld from the Withers, Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone, crack juvenile last year, will be a heavy favorite. Whichone and Gallant Fox probably will meet in the Belmont Stakes on June 7.

COOKS DEFEAT ACADEMY'S IN SOCCER CONTEST

Two slashing goals, both by Zimmerman, gave the Cook A. C. a 2-to-1 victory over its neighborhood rivals, the Academy A. C., in a Twilight Soccer League match at Sherman Park last evening. A crowd of about 1500 witnessed one of the fastest and best played games of the season, which is going into its fifth week.

The Academys had a chance for a tie score late in the second half when a penalty kick was awarded by Referee George Corrigan against Fullback Bryan, but Joe O'Meara drove the ball over the cross bar. However, earlier in the half O'Meara scored a similar penalty kick awarded when Halfback Ahearn hit the ball with his arm. Zimmerman also missed a penalty, his shot hitting the cross bar and bounding over.

The fact that three penalty kicks were called would seem to indicate that the game was extremely rough but this is not true. Referee Corrigan in his effort to eliminate rough play, exercised a strict watch for infractions of the rules. A high wind from the south had a considerable bearing on the direction play was taking, the Academys being kept on the defensive in the first half and the Cooks having the burden of an adverse breeze in the second period.

Leflore displayed good speed from the start, raced into command and held sway under slight restraint. Queen Whims, in close pursuit throughout, was no match for the winner, but easily best of the others. Pebbles Last had no mishap and finished going gamely. Cuevas failed to improve his position, under hard urging. Marabou went well.

$2 mutuels paid. Leflore, $4.22 win, $3.38 place, $2.98 show; Queen Whims, $15.30 place, $10.34 show; Pebbles Last, $7.12.

SECOND RACE—$800, claiming, 2-year-old maidens five furlongs—Start good, won easily, place driving. Went to post at 2:35; at post 4½ minutes. Winner, b. c., 2, Bistouri—Loveliest. Trainer, H. W. Hoag. Time, :24 1-5, :48 4-5, 1:02 1-5. Value to winners, $650, $100, $50.

Shasta Lover, racing as if much the best, raced into the lead, increased it to win as his rider pleased. Molly Hogan, well up throughout, finished going gamely. Lauhala, away slowly, closed a good gap to finish strong. Crooning had no mishap. Seth-Lette tired after racing prominently for a half.

$2 mutuels paid—Shasta Lover, win $20.34, place, $6.20; show, $4.22. Molly Hogan, place, $4.32; show, $3.22. Lauhala, show, $3.76.

THIRD RACE—$800, claiming, 3-year-olds and up, mile and 70 yards: Start good for all but Fern Clarence; won easily, place driving. Went to post 3:06, at post 2 minutes. Winner, b. h. 5, Royal Canopy-Miss Minerva. Trainer, Owner, C. Irby. Time: :23 4-5, :48, 1:14 3-5, 1:41 1-5, 1:45 4-5. Value to winner, $650 first, $100 second, $50 third.

Fern Clarence	105½	1	9	9	9	9	9	9	H. Sculock	169.42

Billy, cleverly ridden, followed the pace to the final quarter, where he drew by Gaineswood and easily held sway thereafter. The latter showed good speed setting the pace, but readily gave way to the winner when challenged. Mat Hunter made up some ground to finish going gamly. Marcella Agnes had no mishap. Try Again closed an immense gap to finish strongest of all. Hec was done after going a half.

$2 mutuels paid Billy, $4.82 win, $3.70 place, $3.48 show; Gaineswood, $7.22 place, $6.16 show; Mat Hunter, $4.84 show.

FOURTH RACE—$800, claiming, 3-year-olds and up, six furlongs—Start good fmor stalls, won driving, place same. Went to post at 3:34; at post 2 minutes. Winner, b. f. 4, by Porte Drapeau—Trade Mark. Trainer, G. F. Jenkins. Time, :24, :48, 1:13 1-5. Value to winners, $650, $100, $05.

Lady Emblem	98	5	5	8^{h}	8^{2}	10	10	W. Day	53.43

My Beauty displayed high speed from the break raced into a long lead, continued with good courage, tired slightly near the end and was giving way to Jack Crain. The latter probably best began slowly, closed an immense gap to finish strongest of all. Head Cover in close quarters most of the way, was taken to the outside where he gained rapidly and was going gamely at the end. Ragagald made up some ground but tired near the end. Fortunate Mann, well up throughout, was going strongly at the end. The Padre showed good early speed but faltered badly when the real racing began.

$2 mutuels paid. My Beauty, $9.10 win, $4.60, place, $4.54 show; Jack Crain, $5.08 place, $4.34 show; Head Cover, $7.48 show.

A Census-Taking of Those Wearing HAUGER'S SUITS

In St. Louis will prove their popularity and why HAUGER'S business is improving.

By selling a far better suit for $12.50 than any other clothier. No other clothier advertises quality clothes in Hauger's class price ($9.99 and $12.50) although a few are selling for less than they did last year. Hauger's sells a real-hard-finished, 3-piece, guaranteed not to shrink, all-wool suit in tweeds, twists and worsteds in best styles and wanted colors, for only $12.50.

Ask to see Hauger's 2-piece "Rinkle-Proof," All-Wool, Pre-Shrunk Tropical Worsted Suit. You would expect to pay $22.50 for this elsewhere. Hauger's Marvel Price... $12.50

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET ENTRIES CLOSE JUNE 2

Entries are being received for the Sunday School track and field meet which will be held Saturday afternoon, June 7, at Francis Field on the Washington University campus.

The meet in former years has attracted some of the best junior athletes in the city. Last year Dave Cook, the Soldan star, was an outstanding entrant. Rivalry between the various athletes and also between the Sunday School teams is expected to be keen, as in former meets.

Entry blanks may be obtained by writing William H. Reinhardt, 25 South Fifteenth street, or phoning CHestnut 5445 or 5446. The entry list closes on Monday, June 2.

TULSA CHAMPION IN FEATURE AT KINGSHIGHWAY

Horsham, track champion at Tulsa, Fritzie Fay, one of the leaders at St. Petersburg, last season, and at Tulsa this season, and Roaming Town, which carried off major honors at Ceredo, W. Va., last season, and continued to run in form at Tulsa the past six weeks, will match strides against five veteran futurity runners in Herman II, Up Cork, Trail Blazer, Dark Warrior and Catch Weight in tonight's feature at the Kingshighway Kennel Club. The three newcomers will go to the post against the five favorites in the ninth, billed as one of the best-matched races so far arranged at the North Side oval.

Fritzie Fay, despite the fact that she has drawn the six box, goes to the barrier a favorite. In schooling trials she has run away from her competitors in :19 1-5, just three-fifths of a second slower than the track record for the three-sixteenths, the route usually used in the schooling tryouts. Horsham negotiated the distance in :19 2-5 and Roaming Town has gone the route both in :19 2-5 and :19 3-5.

The three have a speedy field to beat. Herman II, the Augusta Kennels' flash, holds victories over Trail Blazer, Mike Murray, Mable Malone and other speedsters. Up Cork ran second in Tuesday night's all-star futurity over Herman II, Mable Malone, Dark Warrior, Trail Blazer, Halons Corner and Teddys Steam Packet. Trail Blazer has defeated Mike Murray, Catch Weight, Sammie Meadows and other record-making racers. Dark Warrior holds triumphs over such fleet hounds as Hermal II and Mable Malone; and Catch Weight has triumphed over Buck Traffic, Red Royal and Sammie Meadows.

Other new arrivals to be seen in their first starts include Waus Hopper, one of the fastest futurity runners at Tulsa, which will oppose a sterling pack in the seventh, over the futurity, carded as the evening's second feature; Cowboy and Oakland Lence, which will be seen in the eighth, over the strenuous five-sixteenths; Sandy Cannon, a St. Petersburg favorite, which will traverse the futurity in the tenth against a nicely-matched field; Chief Renown, Royal Flush and Light Laughter, billed for a three-sixteenths jaunt in the sixth; Tonto Meadows, in the fourth; Fleet Boy, in the third; Bo Dov and Happy Meadows, in the second and Harlam Oil, Wicked Way and Bobby's Sweetheart in the curtain raiser.

14 WASHINGTON STARS COMPETE IN VALLEY MEET

Although Coach J. Elwood Davis is not optimistic regarding the outcome he believes the Bears have an equal chance of copping this year's Conference title. Washington finished second in 1929.

The strength of the Washington aggregation lies almost entirely in field events although Davis believes he has a man who should place in all of the running races with the exception of the two-mile run.

Just how far along the Bears will get in the meet depends upon the number of first places that can be obtained as not enough points are expected to be gathered in second, third and fourth places to equal other teams.

Three Washingtonians who captured a first prize in last year's outdoor meet will again compete. They are Capt. Carl Weber, high jump; Paul Miller, pole vault, and Bill Timberlake, broad jump. Miller has vaulted 13 feet 4½ inches this year and Timberlake jumps close to 24 feet in his event.

Paris in the shot and discus, Jablonsky in the javelin, and Gilmore in the quarter-mile, are counted upon for first places, also.

100-yard dash—Poos, Timberlake. 220-yard dash—Lopata, Gilmore, Thompson. 440-yard dash—Lopata, Gilmore. 880-yard run—Ohle. Two-mile run—Toupal. 220-yard low hurdles—Weber. 120-yard low hurdles—Weber. 120-yard high hurdles—Weber. High jump—Weber, Poos, Timberlake. Broad jump—Poos, Timberlake. Pole Vault—Miller. Discus—Paris, Hornsby. Shot-put—Paris, Watson, Jablonsky. Javelin—Jablonsky, Hornsby. 280-yard relay—Gilmore, Timberlake, Thompson, Lopata. One-mile relay—Bilmore, Ohle, Thompson, Lopata.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 23.—Baconi Borbacchini, famous Italian race star who brought his 16-cylinder Maserati car form Italy to compete in the international 500-mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway Friday, May 30, has arrived here to complete the grooming of his car for the big international racing classic. Cuccinotta, with his eight-cylinder Maserati is another Italian entered.

Peter de Paolo, 1925 and 1927 champion, winner of the 1925 race at Indianapolis, when he established the existing record of 101.13 miles an hour, delayed in getting his racing car on the track, has been conditioning himself each day by driving two hours in an old race car.

HARMESON, PURDUE, CLOSES HIS ATHLETIC CAREER IN GAME TODAY

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 23.—Glenn Harmeson, one of Purdue's greatest stars, was at the end of a great intercollegiate athletic career today as the Boilermakers closed their baseball season against Michigan.

Harmeson starred in football, basketball and baseball at Purdue for three years and was a big cog in Purdue's twin championships in the first two sports during the 1929-30 seasons. Last fall, after two seasons at quarterback, Harmeson was shifted to halfback and gained an average of 5.3 yards on each thrust. In basketball, he played on teams that won one undisputed title, tied for another and finished second another year. This season in baseball he played center field and batted at a .400 clip.

BASS AND ANDERSON SOUGHT FOR TITLE GO IN MILWAUKEE RING

MILWAUKEE, May 23.—Milwaukee may have a world's championship match during the open air season here.

VICTORY FOR MAROONS OVER ILLINOIS WOULD GIVE WISCONSIN TITLE

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Chicago had an opportunity to end the Big Ten baseball championship race today as a favor to Wisconsin.

Illinois, the only team left in the race with an outside chance to tying the high flying Badgers for the crown, invaded Chicago and a victory for the Maroons over the Illini would determine the winner.

Wisconsin with eight victories and no defeats has two games left, both with Michigan and needs only one to clinch the title. Illinois has lost two games in nine starts and requires a win to remain in the race.

DE VOS EXPECTS TO BOX FOR EUROPEAN MIDDLEWEIGHT TITLE

PARIS, May 23.—Negotiations for a 12-round bout for the middleweight boxing championship of Europe between Rene Devos of Belgium, challenger, and Marcel Thil, the title holder, have reached the point where only a few details are to be settled to clinch the match.

Jimmy Bronson, New York manager of Devos, has accepted the terms of Jeff Dickson, American promoter in Paris. Bronson figures that if Devos should return to the United States as champion of Europe, popular demand would force Mickey Walker to give him a chance at the world title.

UNIVERSITY CITY BEATS JENNINGS TO CLINCH TITLE

University City High School's baseball team clinched the County League title yesterday afternoon with a 10-to-2 victory over Jennings on the loser's field. In another league contest, Wellston downed Maplewood, 11-3. The U. C. victory was the eighth for Coach Thompson's boys without a defeat. They have one more game to play, that with Maplewood next Thursday.

University City got off to a good start yesterday and scored two runs in the first on three hits and after Jennings made one run in the same inning the Delmar outfit hammered in three more runs. Both nines scored one in the fourth after an idle third frame. In the sixth and seventh University City batted out two more runs in each frame, while Massa, University City twirler, although wilder than in any other game this year, stopped rallies in both innings by Jennings' batters.

The box score:

Two Pitchers Returned.

By the Associated Press.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 23. — Mace Brown and Bill Lee, right-handed pitchers, last night were returned to the St. Louis Cardinals by the St. Joseph Western League Baseball team, a Cardinal farm. Where the men will be placed in the Cardinal system was not known here.

MAJOR LEAGUERS HIT 26 HOMERS IN 10 BATTLES

NEW YORK, May 23.—Although comparative statistics are not available, sluggers of the two major leagues did some of the heaviest cannonading of all times yesterday.

In 10 games in the two leagues, 46 pitchers were shelled for 155 singles, 40 doubles, eight triples and 26 home runs and issued 52 passes. The net result was a grand total of 126 runs. Batsmen in the two leagues slugged the ball for a collective average of .306, the National League leading with 310 to 302 for the American.

The heaviest firing of the day was concentrated at Philadelphia when the Yankees and Athletics poled out 15 singles, two doubles, one triple and 14 home runs off 14 pitchers.

Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig each hit three homers. Babe has made six in the last two days.

JOCKEY WITH BROKEN COLLAR BONE RIDES HORSE TO VICTORY

NEW YORK, May 23.—Charles Smoot rode Rooney to victory in Westbury Steeplechase at Belmont Park on Wednesday with a broken collar bone, holding the reins in his teeth part of the way. The boy felt and heard the bone snap when his mount made a rough landing at the water jump. He was in great pain and his right arm went dead, but he put the right rein in his teeth and guided his mount as best he could with his left arm over eight jumps more to land him the winner.

In a race on Tuesday Smoot had a fall with Eon and that evening suffered some pain in his right shoulder. It is the doctor's theory that he cracked the bone in that fall, but that it did not snap until it was jarred heavily in the race of Wednesday. An X-ray showed the bone broken in two places.

CITY-COUNTY PLAN INITIATIVE PAPERS TO BE READY SOON

Petitions to Place the Amendment on November Ballot Must Be Filed by July 6.

54,000 SIGNATURES ARE NECESSARY

Approval Would Permit Submission of Consolidation Proposal to Separate Elections Later.

Circulation of initiative petitions to put the amendment of the State Constitution for enabling the proposed consolidation of St. Louis and St. Louis County on the Missouri ballot at the November general election will begin shortly. The text of the proposed amendment, which follows the lines of the plans heretofore discussed publicly, has been made public by the City and County Metropolitan Development Committee.

A minimum of about 54,000 signatures is needed on the petitions. The sponsors of the movement have employed Ledbetter & Marshall, a firm experienced in this work, to obtain them. It is planned to seek about 60,000 signatures so as to have a margin of safety. Efforts will be concentrated in the minimum of 11 congressional districts, including the three in St. Louis and St. Louis County, the one in Jackson County (Kansas City) and seven out-State districts where the petitions can be completed quickly.

About 22,500 signatures will be required in the city and county. The petitions must be filed with the Secretary of State by July 6. The firm thinks they can be completed in the six weeks intervening, as it has experienced employes ready to proceed.

Permits Charter Submission.

The amendment contains about 3500 words. Doubtless it will be represented on the ballot only by a short description. Its effect, if adopted by a majority vote of the people of the State, will be only to permit the submission of a charter of the proposed City of Greater St. Louis to a vote at subsequent separate elections in the city and county. This charter would embody the details of the consolidation plan, details of which, the metropolitan committee promises, will be completed before November. The new amendment would repeal the one of 1924 which provided for a Board of Freeholders to draft a merger plan.

The amendment would require the proposed Greater St. Louis charter to provide for: Continued existence as independent municipalities, known under their own names as municipal districts of the greater city, of St. Louis and all towns in the county incorporated when the charter took effect; establishment of remaining county territory as one or more municipalities known as county districts of the greater city, with power to levy taxes up to 50 cents on the $100 upon vote of their people (but the plan is to have the greater city support them); incorporation of part or all of a county district as a municipal district upon petition of its people; mergers of districts within the greater city, and adjustment of relations between the greater city and the county towns, together with adjustment and assumption of indebtedness of the various existing political units and sewer districts.

Annexation Safeguards.

There have been objections in the county that the amendment would permit indiscriminate annexations. However, it provides detailed safeguards, as follows: Two or more adjoining municipal districts may consolidate as one if three-fifths of the voters in each approve; any municipal or county district may take in any adjoining municipal district if approved separately by three-fifths of the voters in the unit proposing the change and in each units to be annexed; any municipal or county district may annex part or all of an adjoining county district if approved separately by three-fifths of the voters in the area to be taken, the whole county district involved and the unit initiating the change.

Provisions which the amendment would permit but not require the Greater St. Louis charter to make, including some which the consolidation plan definitely contemplates making, are:

Form of government of Greater St. Louis, election or appointment of its officers, and their terms, powers, duties and compensation.

Consolidation of the city and county Election Boards as one, appointed by the Governor, and registration of voters, and these things which it is not now pro-

WILLIAM S. VARE.

He and Brothers Got Street Cleaning Contract, and He Now Heads Hierarchy Graded Down to Precincts.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Building.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—William S. Vare, Republican boss of Philadelphia, whose machine helped to nominate Secretary of Labor Davis for the Senate at the State primaries last Tuesday but failed to put over its candidate for Governor, is a short, pudgy, red-faced little man, singularly lacking in that personal magnetism that political bosses are supposed to possess.

When he appeared before the Senate committee which inquired into his campaign expenditures of 1926, his manner was hesitant and his voice thin and indecisive—decidedly not the voice or the manner that one might have expected in a man of his unquestioned political power. Last December, when he limped into the Senate to make his vain plea for the seat to which he had been elected, the evidences of his physical illness excited compassion, but that was the only emotion one could feel. There was nothing in his appearance or in what he said to suggest any other title to distinction than his boss-ship.

Politics and Business.

"Bill" Vare's career illustrates the money making possibilities in a certain kind of politics. He mixes politics with business. Born in 1867 in what is called the "Neck" section of South Philadelphia, he began life as a huckster. Two brothers were associated with him. Turning to a more lucrative field, the Vares took up street cleaning, and after a while they had the contract for cleaning the whole city. Theirs was said to be the largest private street cleaning organization in the world. It made them millionaires.

Vare is out of the cleaning business now, but he is still interested in city contracts. The Vare Construction Co., of which he is the head, does a general contracting business—road building, conduit laying, electrification of railroads, etc. One of the charges of the recent campaign was that W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who is allied with Vare in politics, helped to finance the Philadelphia machine through the letting of cost-plus railroad contracts to Vare and some of his associates.

The Vare brothers' first political plum was a State senatorship, which they held by turns for many years. George Vare had it, then En, then Bill, and for a while after Ed's death it was held by his widow. Bill Vare is the only one of the brothers now living.

Gradually built up through the years, the Vare machine came to dominate Republican politics in Philadelphia. Though beaten by Pinchot in the recent primary, it remains a powerful factor. The methods are the same as those employed by Tammany and all other successful machines. At the top is Bill Vare, the boss, head of a political hierarchy with subordinates grading down to the precinct leader. Voters are held in line by awards of city jobs and the astute distribution of charitable doles. Vare himself is said to be extremely generous. Vare had himself eleced to the National House of

Decides to Delay Taking Oath, Following a Conference With Chief Justice Hughes.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Owen J. Roberts announced today that he would not take the oath of office as Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court until June 2.

He came to Washington for a conference with Chief Justice Hughes concerning plans for going on the bench. He decided that, as he could not assist the Court in any of its work before the end of its present term on June 2, he would postpone assumption of his duties until then. The Court is now working on opinions in cases which have been argued at the present term and this must be done by the Justices who sat while the cases were being heard.

Roberts will have all summer to make his arrangements for locating permanently in Washington. He has not decided what he will do in this respect, although it is thought he probably will take a house here. It is the present plan of the new Justice to take the offices in the Capitol Building near the Supreme Court rooms which were used by his predecessor, the late Justice Sanford.

PARIS DENIES TARIFF RISE ON WHEAT IS RETALIATION

Copyright, 1930, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (The New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

PARIS, May 22.—Inquiries reaching here as to whether the increase in the tariff of wheat is intended as retaliation to the new American tariffs are officially answered in the negative. The duties have been raised by executive order, it is explained, as part of Premier Tardieu's program of keeping up the prices of agricultural products. The Government's primary motive, it is declared, is to prevent dumping of wheat in France.

There has been some domestic complaint against the action in regard to wheat on the ground the new duties tend to keep the prices of bread at a high level.

ENTERPRISE BEATEN BY BOTH THE VANITIE AND RESOLUTE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Harold S. Vanderbilt's sloop Enterprise, candidate for the honor of defending the America's Cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V, was beaten in a trial race yesterday by both Vanitie and Resolute. Just how badly Enterprise would have been beaten will not be learned, for the sloop withdrew from the race while trailing both its rivals and before reaching the first mark of a scheduled course of approximately 20 miles on Long Island Sound. Vanitie and Resolute completed the course with Vanitie a winner by about five minutes.

MRS. BORAH "CAN'T TALK"

Back From Europe, Says Husband Cabled Instructions.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, came home from Europe on the Aquitania today under cabled instructions from her husband not to talk.

"I can't talk," she told reporters when they approached her. "The Senator has cabled me that I am not to say anything. He is indignant at some story about me when I left." It was explained to her the only story carried on her departure was about her passport mixup, caused when the Senator sent her to New York without the necessary visas. "Good. I'm glad you published it," she said. "Next time I'll have my papers made out right."

MACDONALD WINS PARTY FIGHT OVER UNEMPLOYMENT

Labor Members of Parliament by Vote of 210 to 29 Beat Motion to Censure Cabinet.

TRUCE TO BE SOUGHT WITH LIBERALS

Purpose Is to Get Enough Support to Defeat Tory Challenge to Ministry Next Wednesday.

By ARTHUR E. MANN,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, May 23.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and his Government won a temporary victory over their party critics last night when Sir Oswald Mosley's motion of censure against Labor's unemployment policy was defeated by 210 votes against 29 at a private party meeting in the House of Commons after a three-hour debate.

The supporters of Mosley, who a few days ago resigned his cabinet post as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster as a protest against the Government's manner of dealing with unemployment, included the usual 15 or so Left Wingers plus a few conservatively minded Laborites.

During the discussion that preceded the vote, the correspondent is informed, Mosley had vocal support from many members of Parliament who agreed with his demand for a more socialistic attempt to try to solve the unemployment problem. But they urged him to withdraw his motion for the sake of party harmony.

MacDonald made a long speech in which he said that he and the cabinet were trying every possible method of combating unemployment and that, now that the London naval conference is over, they are able to give the problem more time and hope to be successful in dealing with it.

The Premier was strongly supported by Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, who is head and organizer of the Labor party political machine, and who effectively used his political art in crushing the rebellion.

Thus the danger of serious clash within the Labor ranks, which for a while threatened to force MacDonald to resign leadership of the party or to call a general election, is over for the time being.

There remains, however, the necessity of the Laborites making a truce with the Liberals before next Wednesday's vote on a Tory motion in the House of Commons to reduce the salary of J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and unofficial "Minister on Unemployment"—a parliamentary form of censuring the Government. It is understood, however, that Henderson expects to re-establish friendly relations with the Liberal leader, former Premier David Lloyd George, by then and that there will be enough Liberal support for the Government to avert defeat.

None of the three parties feels financially or tactically ready for another general election at this time and neither the Liberals nor the Tories are anxious to take up the unemployment and Indian problems in their present state.

Mr. MacDonald has refused the demands of Lloyd George for certain electoral reforms including proportionate representation.

WOMAN LEADER OF GANDHI'S MEN GETS 9 MONTHS

Mrs. Sarojini Naidu Was Arrested Wednesday for Directing Salt Depot Raid at Dharasana.

MAHATMA'S THIRD SON SENT TO PRISON

Manilal Sentenced to Year, Together With Secretary of Leader in Civil Disobedience Campaign.

By the Associated Press.

BOMBAY, India, May 23.—Mrs. Sarojini Naidu today was sentenced to nine months' simple imprisonment as leader of Mahatma Gandhi's civil disobedience salt raiders at Dharasana on Wednesday.

Mrs. Naidu, who became leader of the passive resistance volunteers after the arrest of Abbas Tyabji, was arrested when, with her followers, she made a second attack on the Government salt depots. After the first raid, officers merely surrounded her and her party in the road and kept them there until the following day, when all were released.

Mrs. Naidu will be treated as a Class A or most-favored class of prisoner.

Gandhi's son, Manilal, and Gandhi's secretary, arrested with Mrs. Naidu at Dharasana, were sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment each. This is the third son of the Mahatma sent to prison. Imam Saheb of Bhawagir was sentenced to six months' simple imprisonment.

Mrs. Naidu Says She's Glad.

Mrs. Naidu made a statement in court. She said: 'I am glad. The Government, however, unintentionally has done a wonderful piece of propaganda in behalf of our cause. By arresting and prosecuting me they have helped to focus international opinion and sympathy in our favor in a larger and swifter measure than might have been otherwise possible in such a short time."

Mrs. Chattopadhyaya, sister of Mrs. Naidu, was arrested last Friday and on the same day tried and sentenced to nine months and two weeks of simple imprisonment for the same offense, leading salt raiders. Her exploit took place at the Wadala works.

Thus far every prominent leader engaged in salt raiding has been incarcerated. Mrs. Naidu's successor is V. J. Patel.

Successor Takes Charge.

Patel, speaking before 100,000 Indian nationalist sympathizers here last night, pleaded for "revolution and still more revolution." After his speech the streets were filled with crowds shouting, "Down with the British; away with British goods."

The correspondent of the London Daily Express cabled his paper that the Indians had been aroused to a state of frenzied excitement, and that there was growing anxiety

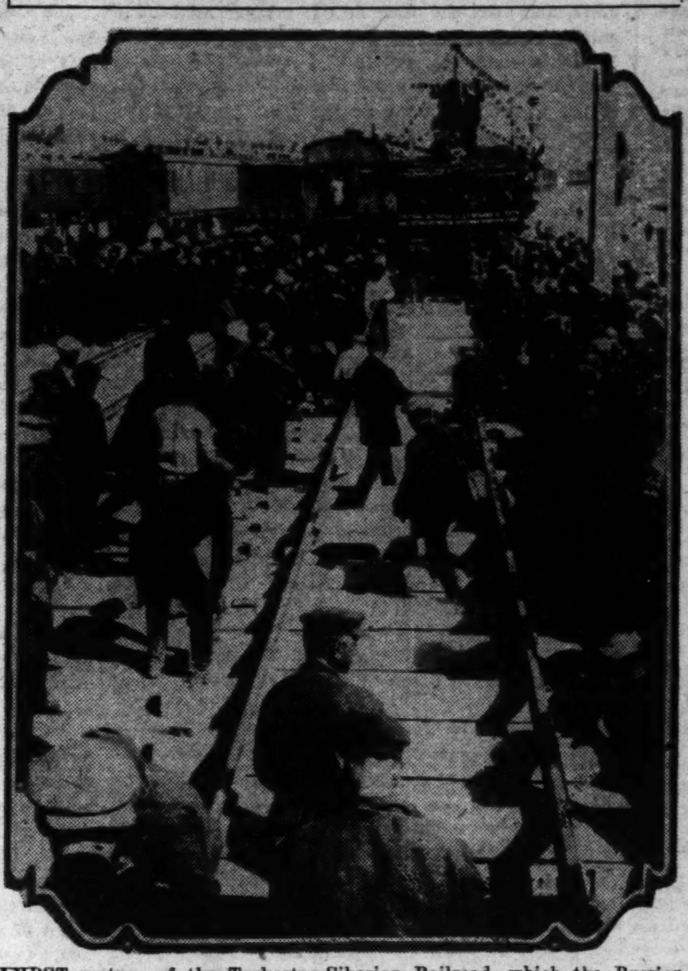
First Railroad Into Turkestan



FIRST picture of the Turkestan-Siberian Railroad, which the Russian Soviets have just completed at a cost of nearly $100,000,000. The last rivets are shown being welded at Aina-Bulak, thus joining the northern and southern sections of the road, which extends from Semi-Palatinsk in the north to Lugovaya in the south. Although it was originally planned to spend five years in the construction of the road (beginning in 1927), the enthusiasm of the workers is said to have made it possible to complete the undertaking this year. NEBRASKA WOMAN OPENS FIGHT FOR SENATOR NORRIS' SEAT

Ousted Democratic Committeewoman for Tariff Revision to Aid Agriculture.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., May 23.—Dr. Jennie Callfas, militant dry worker, who was ousted as Democratic National Committeewoman after refusing to support Alfred E. Smith for the presidency, yesterday began her campaign for the Democratic nomination for the Senate seat now held by George W. Norris, Republican.

In outlining her platform, Dr. Callfas said, if elected, she would fight for a revision of tariff rates to the benefit of agriculture and that she would support the Federal Farm Board. Dr. Callfas, who bolted her party because of Smith's views on prohibition, defended her right to run as a Democrat, saying she had supported every candidate who stood unequivocally on the platform adopted by the Democratic conventions. She is the first woman in Nebraska to file for a Senate seat.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—An appropriation of $350,000 for a hydraulic laboratory to study flood control and water power was requested by President Hoover today in an estimate submitted to Congress.

RÚMANIAN JEWS REPORTED TO HAVE FLED TO FORESTS

25,000 Said to Have Run From Attacks of Anti-Semitic Peasants.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 23. (Jewish Telegraphic Agency.)—Reports in Rumanian newspapers reaching London yesterday said that 25,000 Jews had fled into the forests from the attacks of anti-Semitic peasants in the vicinity of Marmorosh, Rumania. Hundreds of others were said to have escaped by train.

These newspapers assert that the recent anti-Semitic disturbances in Rumania were serious and contradict official communiques in which they were described as unimportant incidents.

The Bucharest newspaper Diminéatza says that a man named Danila, about whom priests have spread the rumor that he is Prince Carol in disguise, had inflamed the peasants against the Jews. Danila was reported to have circulated proclamations calling on the peasants to massacre the Jews.

SPECIAL SESSION ON NAVAL PACT IF NECESSARY

President to Issue Call at Once After Close of Congress if the Senate Is Unable to Deal With Treaty at This Time.

LEADERS CONSULTED; ARE IN AGREEMENT

More Navy Officers Testify Against Covenant—U. S. Tied to Ships Unsuited to Needs, Says Commander Train.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Hoover intends to call a special session of Congress immediately after the close of the regular session if the Senate finds itself unable to deal with the naval treaty at this session. The President said today that he had consulted with Senate leaders and that they were striving for action before adjournment. If this does not come, he said, the special session will be called to deal only with the London naval pact.

The President said: "It is my understanding that the advocates of the naval treaty in the Senate are earnestly striving for action in the present session. If it should prove impossible to complete it at the regular session, I shall call a special session of the Senate immediately following the regular session to deal with the question. The leaders in the Senate have been consulted and are in agreement with this program."

A conference of Senate Republicans was called for Monday by Senator Watson, the party leader, today, to determine whether the naval treaty and the $120,000,000 rivers and harbors bill shall be disposed of at this session. Watson said he believed the conference would favor threshing out both propositions now. President Hoover has asked for prompt consideration of the treaty.

Hough Opposes Provisions.

Before the Naval Committee, Rear Admiral H. H. Hough declared that at London "certain principles which we have consistently maintained for a long period were abandoned."

At the same time members of the Foreign Relations Committee were told by Commander H. C. Train that Great Britain got what

The Prosperity Myth.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE condition of the country at the moment is the best thing that could have happened to the American people. They have been pulling the cork under every four years in the matter of the Republican party and prosperity, and they have abundant opportunity now to see what there is to it. If we had a Democrat in the White House, that would, of course, account for both the crash of the stock market and the depression of business; but we have in the White House a man elected on the prosperity issue, a Republican, if you please, a high priest of our economic and political religion. Can he restore prosperity by imperial command? No. If that could be done, Mussolini would do it for Italy. He is the most powerful of all rulers. We ought to be a chastened people. Mr. Hughes said during the last presidential campaign that the issue was between prosperity and hard times. Only time could expose the hollowness of that nonsense, and it has done so.

IMPERTINENCE.

Taxing An Illegal Business.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

MANY are the things that have been experienced as sad results of the working of the Volstead law. But scarcely a word of reference, if any at all, has been uttered regarding the saddest, if not most startling, of them all. What must we think of our Government when it takes a position of condoning Volstead law violations by compelling the bootleggers to pay income taxes? In other words, the United States Government insists on getting its share of the profits derived from an illegal and prohibited method of business. In consequence of this attitude, what fine sense of duty and obedience to our laws must be inculcated in the minds of our citizens? S.

In Reply to Mr. Branigan.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

MR. BRANIGAN'S letter prompts me to reply he is all wrong and the Post-Dispatch is right in its attitude on the Hogan case. There is as much difference in Branigan's case and Hogan's case as between sugar and salt. The police are supposed to protect you and your home, but are not to pry into one's belongings just because he is shabbily dressed. When they were convinced Hogan had nothing but his shirt and book—what right had they to snoop through that book? Hogan knew what they were and I'm sorry he didn't break the jaws of both. Crooks are not shabbily dressed and running down to the river to do their laundry, but are in the swellest apartments, have beautiful machines, plenty of liquor and as many guns as they want, and the police are afraid to look at them, much less search them. Protests Commission's Decision.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I, BEING a constant reader of your newspaper, have found that it takes a very keen interest in decisions of various tribunals that may seriously affect the public and its rights.

I wish to call to your attention the decision of the Public Service Commission refusing to permit an apartment owner from purchasing current wholesale and selling it retail. The case is that of W. C. Maughs of Fulton, Mo., vs. City of Fulton Municipal Plant. If the decision is followed by privately owned power companies, which it undoubtedly will, it is giving them a thing that has been denied them in a large number of states, and one that amounts to a taking of property without due process of law.

Dog Thieves.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHAT becomes of all the hounds that are lost? We have lost two, and have spoken to a great number of people who have lost dogs of that kind, and none of them is ever returned. We advertise, go to the dog pound and the Humane Society, but it does no good. We lost a female hound recently and her collar had a plate containing our name and address. It should be as much of an offense to pick up a dog like that as it would be to steal anything else. Then, maybe, the rightful owners would stand a chance of getting them back again. She is of no great value to anyone else, but is to us as she was our pet. We hope that if someone does pick her up they will have the kindness of heart to return her. F. J.

MR. HOOVER'S OPPORTUNITY.

With differences between the House and Senate ironed out in conference and supporters of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill confidently predicting its adoption, Mr. Hoover is confronted by a great opportunity.

He can veto the bill, and in so doing he can be sure of the country's applause. The tariff fight has gone to a point without precedent in American politics. Upon the one side are a few people who with logrolling and trading have gained control over Congress, and upon the other side is arrayed almost the entire country. Mr. Hoover is in nowise committed to such a tariff bill, and to sign it would be only to seal his own political death warrant. The tariff bill which was the undoing of Mr. Taft in the White House was mild by comparison with that which is likely within a few days to go to Mr. Hoover.

In the 14 months that he has been in the White House Mr. Hoover has far from convinced the country that he has the great quality of leadership. The Senate's refusal to put Judge Parker on the Supreme bench after Mr. Hoover made a fight for confirmation of the appointment has left the President in an unenviable position. Senator Watson announced as long ago as last September that Mr. Hoover would not participate in the tariff fight while the bill was in legislation, and except for opposing the debenture and asking for the flexible clause Mr. Hoover has not taken a hand in it. The widespread feeling that he should long ago have denounced Grundyism and all its works has combined with the Parker appointment to lessen the President's prestige with the people. They cannot avoid feeling that he is failing in the great office he holds, an office in which men like Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Cleveland signally displayed the quality that brings to the President a stanch supporting public opinion. The fact that both sides claimed the President in the prohibition debate before the House Judiciary Committee, though Mr. Hoover has said that he is against repealing the eighteenth amendment, has heightened an impression that the President is not what the American people like beyond all else in public life, a man of courage.

Mr. Hoover's opportunity with respect to the tariff bill may therefore be said to be unique. He can, by vetoing it, largely reassure the people as to his political stature. He has left himself entirely free to take such a course, as he has reserved for himself an almost unparalleled opportunity to rebuke greed.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS ON VANDEVENTER.

An acute traffic problem, caused by the widening of Vandeventer avenue, is being relieved by the installation of automatic signals at McPherson, Page, Delmar, Washington and West Pine. For some months, traffic has been badly snarled at these points in the rush hours. The Police Department apparently was unable to spare traffic officers to police the crossings, and the boulevard stop signs, halting traffic in both directions, increased the confusion. We are glad Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks has been able to come to the rescue.

A FAIR QUESTION.

Apropos our agreement with Prof. Wilcox that almost no economist would care to oppose the position taken by the approximately 1200 economists who joined in a manifesto against the tariff bill, one of our readers writes from Columbia, Mo.:

> I wonder if you would reach the same conclusion with respect to other current economic questions. For example, you have consistently supported the report of the State Survey Commission and pleas for adequate financial support for State institutions. Yet you have seemed to hedge on the question of the income tax, or any change in taxation which would result in the city man paying a proportionately larger share of the funds to be derived for the above purposes. If it could be said that all economists of standing in or out of Missouri would favor the tax recommendations of the commission would you agree that this was an "unanswerable argument"?

The answer is yes. Last Dec. 3, soon after the commission reported, we said:

> The cities will naturally respond that they are willing to bear the heavier burden, but they will want the rest of the State to pay its share. The plan which has gone to the Governor from the State Survey Commission proposes a stiff income tax, up to 5½ per cent in the upper brackets, and it would double the franchise corporation tax. Even so, it leaves to the Legislature the task of raising by still other devices some $50,000,000 additionally. The property tax is not disturbed in the commission's plan, which was adopted without debate as the financial division reported it. This lets the country out. Since there are no taxable incomes to speak of outside of the principal cities—St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph and Springfield pay 90 per cent of the State income tax—and the corporation franchise taxes, which are passed on to the consumer, are almost totally paid in the cities, the proposal is to make Missouri a modern State almost wholly at the expense of the metropolitan areas.

We are not aware that we have ever hedged on this subject. Our position seems to us one that any economist must indorse. That is, the cities would expect to bear the greater burden since they have the greater wealth; but they would expect the whole State to pay according to its wealth. Our fear was that the plan of the commission was not in all respects equitable.

A WISE PRECAUTION.

The Couzens resolution, passed by the Senate, restricts railroad consolidations until next March 4 and makes illegal the exercise of joint control by holding companies or otherwise without the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Its purpose is to give Congress a breathing spell during which new legislation may be considered to clear up what is rapidly becoming a hopeless muddle.

One of the pressing problems is to fill the gap in the transportation act through which holding companies like the Pennroad and Allegheny corporations are driving to obtain control of vast railroad systems. While the transportation act gives the Interstate Commerce Commission full regulatory powers over individual roads, it contains no restriction on the operation of holding companies—a comparatively recent development in the railroad field. In several instances the stock purchases of holding companies have already upset the consolidation plan recently announced by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

No doubt the commission itself will find it necessary to make many departures from its own plan, which it drew up after twice requesting Congress to relieve it of the task. But for the commission to revise its own plan after mature and deliberate consideration is far different from its unrestricted and uninspected violation by holding companies. The fact is the law lags, as it so often does, behind private enterprise and initiative.

In so basic and vital an industry as the railroads, whose history until they were put under strict regulation is replete with financial freebootery, the situation is fraught with danger. The Senate, in adopting the Couzens resolution, has taken a wise precaution.

THE ORCHESTRA'S LIFE OR DEATH.

The committee directing the campaign for the Symphony Orchestra fund makes a discouraging report. The objective has not been reached. So far $460,000 has been pledged—less than two-thirds of the $750,000 fixed as the minimum requirement for three years. The committee confesses itself at a loss as to how further to proceed. It feels it has covered the city and has no new sources to which to appeal. It has decided to discontinue canvassing. The one remaining hope is that volunteer subscribers will appear and that pledges already made may be increased.

Admittedly, this was not a propitious time for the effort. Yet it had to be undertaken. The orchestra's treasury is empty. Its needs could not brook postponement. Means must be provided. Moreover, the sum determined upon is the minimum. The budget, it is explained, was cut to the bone.

Apparently, then, we are face to face with the alternative of providing the remainder of the amount —$290,000—or reading the announcement that St. Louis has permitted its Symphony Orchestra to die. Before defeat is acknowledged St. Louis should consider the consequences.

The consequences may be contemplated, but they cannot be measured. Nobody can assess the value of the orchestra to St. Louis. Its educational, artistic, cultural worth cannot be expressed in statistics. The quality of reputation it has conferred upon the city cannot be put in figures. What we all know is that the death of the orchestra would be an esthetic disaster. The material damage to the city, though not calculable, would be severe. The blow to our city pride would leave us reeling.

Here, then, is a public emergency. The question is not one of how much we can afford to give to the orchestra fund. The question, rather, is, how much of a sacrifice are we prepared to make? It is in the spirit of sacrifice that we ought to debate this problem. Certainly the Symphony Orchestra is worth a degree of sacrifice from every organization, every business house, every citizen genuinely concerned in the city's repute and character.

In the name of the spirit of St. Louis let us save the Symphony Orchestra.

A BOUDOIR FOR CASEY JONES.

If the crowd at Tompkins Corners, watching the Limited zip past the station, some evening sees a flash of pink criss-cross curtains flying to the breezes somewhere back of the engine cab, onlookers will know they are gazing at the latest in locomotives. For this is the innovation added to the mighty mogul by an important eastern railroad. In the rear of the tender will be a cozy little compartment for the engineer, with a bed, electric fan and other comforts of home. The fireman, of course, drives the engine.

We wonder what that veteran railroader, Casey Jones, would have made of this modern improvement; Casey Jones, who was active in the days when engines were greasy, snorting iron horses, all for business, with no household facilities. But it might have been better for Casey to have had a kitchenette apartment at the rear of his tender. If he had kept Mrs. Jones there instead of leaving her at home, she would not have been able to assure her children, immediately after that disastrous crack-up on Reno hill, that they had "another papa on the Salt Lake line."

UNIVERSITY CITY'S SUBWAYS.

It remains for University City to show St. Louis how to cope with one of the most vexatious phases of city life, the safe conduct of school children across heavily trafficked thoroughfares. Two pedestrian subways have been built across Kingsland avenue and Delmar boulevard in that progressive suburb, at a cost of $11,045. Hereafter more than 800 students at University City Junior High School and Harvard Grammar School will use the underpasses and avoid any risk of danger to life or limb.

St. Louis is badly in need of pedestrian subways at many points, but particularly at such places as Union boulevard, between Delmar and the Hodiamont tracks, where there is a group of big schools. The ever-increasing automobile traffic makes necessary an entirely new conception of city building, but we are still clinging in the main to the traffic arrangements of horse-and-buggy days. The city of the future, as so brilliantly portrayed in the drawings of Hugh Ferriss, will be a city of many levels, each for some particular class of traffic. There will be high and low speed routes for automobiles, and passages where pedestrians may amble without any danger whatever of injury and death.

We are far from achieving Ferriss' dream city, but University City has made a laudable start in that direction. Let St. Louis follow its lead.

CALL FOR MR. COX.

Ohio Democrats are urging James M. Cox to come out of his retirement and make the race for United States Senator. Since his defeat for the presidency in 1920 Mr. Cox has been a looker-on, politically. Notwithstanding the one-sided result of that campaign, Mr. Cox made a pleasant impression upon the country as a whole, to which he was something of a stranger. But he was no stranger in Ohio. He was elected Governor of that State three times, which is something of a performance for a Democrat, and the present movement indicates that he still has a substantial following. The Republican candidate will, presumably, be the sitting Senator Roscoe Conkling McCulloch, who may be rated at about the same senatorial rating as Missouri's Roscoe Conkling Patterson. Ohio is certainly entitled to abler representation in the upper house in Washington than it has had since the departure of Pomerene. Mr. Cox would be a more impressive figure than either of the present Senators from that State.

HIT BY A COUPLE OF AUTOMOBILES.

Low-Down on the Crimson Menace

Communism as practiced in dingy little flats is a sort of lodge; members address one another mysteriously and like to march; subsidy from Moscow resembles doles from Ladies' Aid to converts in China; millions in Russian gold do reach these shores, but they are spent for machinery, and our business men welcome them.

Morris Markey in the New Yorker.

THERE is no doubt that there are men of Russian birth who sit in dingy little flats in New York and plot. There is some doubt that they have any clear idea as to what they are plotting. Very few of them have been in Russia since the creation of the Soviet Republic, and a great majority of them were born here and have never been in Russia at all. The Russia that their dreams dwell upon is the idyllic land that Trotzky fancied when he set up his Government, and it bears no relation at all to the Russia that really exists. They have not the faintest hope that anything Communistic will ever happen in America, but it is something to get excited about—and there are always a lot of people, like Fascists, who have to be excited about one thing or another.

* * *

On the other hand, there is a minority party in Russia—a sort of La Follette group, as it were—who also decline to accept their country as it is, and still go about fighting for ideals. Between that little party at home—an out-at-heels party which has no influence to speak of in Moscow—and the little group of needleworkers who plot in New York, there is a bond of fellowship. They write letters to each other, saying: "Brothers, the day of reckoning is near!" and, "Comrades, the moment to strike is at hand!"

It is all somewhat like the Ku Klux Klan. They don't wear masks, however, and they talk in a complicated language.

On May day, and other occasions which are traditional for demonstration, they like to get out and march. In this respect they are like Confederate veterans and members of the Red Men. They generally, however, take a lot of beating from the police, which the Confederate veterans and Red Men do not. But they like this. It makes them feel downtrodden and important. You know all about that if you read Russian novels. And it is worthy of remark that they never have any weapons and never fight back.

If anything were necessary to prove that there is no immediate peril for you and me and our innocent children in the Red situation, it may be cited that the revolutionists have no apparent interest whatever in money, and that nothing has been discovered to link them with such genuine manipulators of a plastic Government as Arnold Rothstein, Al Capone, Larry Fay and William H. Anderson.

* * *

Of course, the local Communist party receives small sums of money from the more passionate and poverty stricken wing of the Communist party in Russia, just as Methodist parishes in China receive their doles from the conversionists at home; but, as we shall discover in a moment, the real money that comes from Russia is for a vastly different use. On the whole, the Red movement in New York is supported by pennies from the wages of cloak-and-suit unionists, and it is a pauper beside the bootleg movement, let us say, or the movement called racketeering.

Our investigation leads us inevitably to the conclusion that the urgently dangerous element in the Red situation is the chance that the Reds will become Americanized. Were that to happen, were the Reds to forget all their political theories and go out for the cash in 100 per cent local fashion, we might indeed look for them to produce some such state of affairs as that in Brooklyn, where the Waterfront Gang has committed 14 murders in five years with no arrests. A stimulus in this unhappy direction may ensue when the Communists discover that the police do not beat up members of the Waterfront Gang.

Another discouraging item adduced by our research was the fact that very few of the thousands who gather at Communist demonstrations are really members of the party, or, indeed, really Russians. In the recent horde which Mr. Whalen's men attacked so valiantly, we recognized quite a few visages registering the same delight at a club well swung as they are wont to register at a bat well swung in a baseball game. And we recognized quite a few Irish. In fact, we were there, and we are Irish.

The Russia that really exists frowns quite fiercely upon the emotional recalcitrants who insist upon demonstrating. And it has quite a different use for its money than the support of frowzy bearded plotters.

* * *

In New York there exists an organization known as the Amtorg Trading Corporation. No company in all the nation enjoys such pious respect from our great manufacturing concerns, for the Amtorg Corporation buys American goods, and does not try to sell any political theory.

It spends two or three hundred million dollars a year in the United States; not on propaganda, but on farming machinery from the International Harvester Co., airplanes and engines from the Curtiss-Wright Co., fabricated metal from the United States Steel Corporation, and other industrial products. The sales managers of these concerns are not bitter about the Russian invasion. They like it. They will tell you that Russian gold—so bitterly regarded by Mr. Whalen—is very pleasant gold indeed, and that they wish there were more of it.

Gentlemen we are pleased to call big business men—bank presidents, and the like—are happy to consult with the directors of Amtorg, and with the unofficial Russian Ambassador, whom Washington declines to recognize. This gentleman, Mr. Boris Skvirsky, is universally respected by the big business men, and they will grow a little apoplectic in his defense if it is suggested that he is a Bolshevik propagandist.

On the strength, then, of our investigations, we have regretfully wrapped our six-shooter back into its protective chamois. We have decided that we are not needed quite yet.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, May 23.

AN independent of independents in the United States Senate is John James Blaine. He is immensely proud that he is known as a "bolter" and an "independent." And when referred to as a "fighter" in this connection nothing pleases him more.

He believes such titles befit his position, for he claims to be the political heir, with "Young Bob" La Follette, of "Old Bob." He deems it no wrong to "bolt." And he answers his critics always with a reason for his action.

Thus he went to Wilson after Wisconsin had gone against Taft in 1912, because he regarded the former as more nearly meeting the progressive views. Then he left Wilson when he thought the war President had deserted the progressive cause.

* * *

HE saw no reason for explaining his support of "Old Bob" La Follette in 1924. And he justified his swing to Smith in 1928, saying that the New York Governor had "challenged corruption in high places and defied privilege in any form." He alone opposed the Kellogg pact for outlawing war in 1929, because he thought it favored the British and was an empty gesture as far as peace was concerned.

Blaine's political milestones are State Senator, Attorney-General of Wisconsin, thrice Governor, and the United States Senate. In his forward march he has had only one setback—defeat for Congress at the outset of his political career.

The only political leadership he has ever recognized was that of "Old Bob." And since his death he has charted his own course.

* * *

BLAINE was born in a log cabin, was reared on a farm, and to this day a farm is his greatest love. When Congress is not in session he can usually be found on his farm near Boscobel, discussing dairy herd records and the like.

He makes long speeches in the Senate in a voice that resembles that of a first tenor. He is easily heard, but difficult to follow at times. When he so desires he can badger a colleague to near exasperation. A member of the Lobby Committee, he has a trick of asking a witness the same question many, many times until he gets the desired answer or the truth.

Approachable, considerate and kindly, he is generally well liked. Newspaper men know that they can always talk to him. He is frank with them and discusses questions in that manner, whether what he says can be used or not.

PASSING OF AN EPOCH.

From the New York Times.

NO Henty books have been issued for years. Frank, that versatile hero of "Harry Castleman," whose adventures on Don Carlos' Rancho won him the devotion of boys, has long been silent. Nick Carter is gone. "Deadwood Dick" has just died. It has been a long time since "Oliver Optic" and Horatio Alger Jr. told of the rise of boys from virtuous poverty to equally virtuous riches. Now Mr. Stratemeyer, whose "Rover Boys" series sold more than 5,000,000 copies, has laid down his pen. Who is to write tales of adventure for the boys of the airplane and television age?

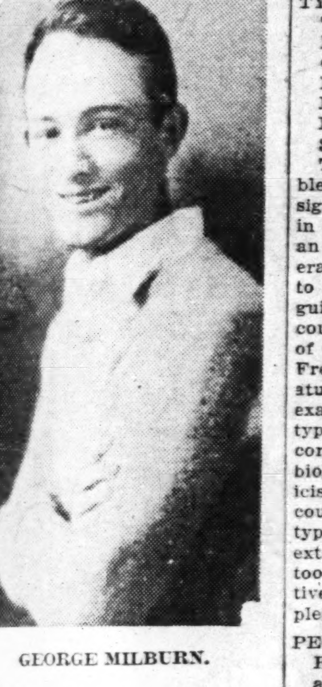
THE HOBO'S HORNBOOK. By George Milburn. (Ives Washburn, New York City, $3.)

THOUGH apparently still in his twenties, George Mulburn, now a student at the University of Oklahoma, is said to have spent years in traveling and living with hobos in various parts of the country. Happily, with the publication of his "Hobo's Hornbook," he has been able to make a contribution to the now flourishing study of folk balladry as a result of experiences that might otherwise have been of very doubtful value. In a sprightly and illuminating prefatory essay, which suggests finer gifts than a volume of this nature could be expected to reveal in flower, Mr. Milburn explains that "tramps and hobos are the last of our ballad makers," and that in no other stratum of society is to be found "a more vigorous balladry than that which has been flourishing for the past 50 years in America's peripatetic underworld."

Naturally, these ballads that have sprung from the gutters and "jungles" and jails of the land are hardly of a high literary order, though in a few instances some glimmer of deeper understanding or of beauty does flash through in phrase or line. But regarded as the spontaneous creations of homeless men, these songs of "gutter jongleurs" and "land-loping Homers" have genuine sociological significance and also serve to throw no little light upon certain phases of human nature in the raw.



GEORGE MILBURN.

For instance, there is more than a merely curious interest in Mr. Milburn's observation that "hobo poetry is never concerned with love, and the sentimental tramp ballad, known to the barroom and the vaudeville stage, is not heard in the jungles." Also a further sinister meaning might be found in the statement that "hoboes do not have much truck with beauty," though in very rare instances some vestigial sense thereof is in evidence. Mr. Milburn believes that, as a result of machine industrialism, "it does not take a particularly astute observer to see the imminent doom of the hoboes, the migratory workers. As the harvest has become more mechanized the employment of hoboes has decreased, and for two years now, like the buffalo herds before them, the hoboes have failed to come through." As for the tramp, who is differentiated from the hobo by his unalterable opposition to work as a matter of principle, his old-time life also is doomed, thanks to automobile traffic. Though the disappearance of the species is not to be deplored, it would seem to be high time to collect whatever oral "literature" the breed may have created, if it is ever to be done; and our young author seems to have made an excellent beginning. Eighty-six hobo and tramp songs, many not hitherto recorded, are presented in the Hobo's Hornbook, together with explanatory matter. For the general reader, the value of the book at best will be that of amusement. It remains for the professional folk-lorist and sociologist to appraise the collection as a contribution to human understanding.

TYPES OF WORLD LITERATURE. By Percy H. Houston, Professor of English, Occidental College, Los Angeles, and Robert M. Smith, Professor of English, Lehigh University. (Doubleday-Doran & Co., New York City. $3.50.)

Though this work of 1200 double-column octavo pages was designed primarily for college courses in comparative literature, or for an orientation course in world literature, it should be of great value to anyone who may be seeking guidance in a comprehensive course of reading. All the periods of Greek, Roman, Hebrew, Italian, French, German and English literature are represented by liberal examples of the various literary types; epic and romance, tragedy, comedy, the lyric, the tale, history, biography, the letter, literary criticism, satire and philosophical discourse. Naturally some of these types can be represented only by extracts, which, however, are not too brief to be fairly representative, but whenever possible complete compositions are presented.

PEOPLE OF THE SMALL ARROW. By J. H. Driberg. (Brewer and Warren Inc., N. Y., $3).

J. H. Driberg is said to be the first European to live among the Didingas of East Africa, a savage people that takes its name from a diminutive arrow used in bleeding its cattle. He was for some years in the British Civil Service as Governor of various African tribes and has made important contributions to anthropology as a result of his experiences. "The People of the Small Arrow" is a work of fiction based upon the author's intimate knowledge of the Didingas.

MISS ELEANOR HOLT,

DAUGHTER of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Holt, 626 Forsythe court, who has chosen Saturday, June 14, as the date of her marriage to Christopher A. Dalton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dalton, 7355 Westmoreland drive.

NEW FICTION AT $1; PRICE WAR IN SIGHT

New York Publisher's Announcement Swings Others Into Line.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 23. — Three important publishing houses announced yesterday they would issue new fiction at $1 a copy and a fourth said it would publish first novels at $1.50. Other publishers, caught unawares, spoke noncommittally about what they might do to meet the competition, but there were reports a general price war was on.

This was strengthened by a report that Doubleday, Doran & Co. intended to cut the prices of its whole list in half. However, it developed that Doubleday-Doran merely had an intention of issuing its general list at "lower price levels."

Farrar & Rhinehart started the stampede with the announcement that during the summer, without changing its standard printing and binding, it would start publishing popular fiction at $1. In the list are included three books that are already best sellers: Katherine Brush's "Young Man of Manhattan," Mary Roberts Rhinehart's "The Door" and Margaret Widdemer's "Loyal Lover."

Doubleday, Doran & Co., also retaining its forma announced a list of forthcoming fiction, including novels by H. G. Wells and P. G. Widehouse, at $1.

Simon & Schuster came along with the news that in the autumn it would issue eight dollar books in paper bindings.

Charles Boni, who started a book club last year on the paper book idea, hastened to make an announcement that he was starting a dollar book club, choosing fiction from the lists of several publishers.

Meanwhile, the American Book Sellers' Association, in convention at Hotel Pennsylvania, was passing a resolution protesting against the sale of new books in chain drug and cigar stores. Until now, dollar books have been reprints.

Arthur Brentano Jr., retiring president of the American Book Sellers' Association, who does not feel that book stores ought to be afraid of chain store competition, was enthusiastic when he heard about the price cutting, and predicted that by June 19 "not four but 94 publishers will cut their prices."

MISS ELIZABETH PROSSER DIES

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 23.—Mrs. Elizabeth Prosser, 81 years old, internationally known painter and claimant to an ancient English title, died last night at her studio home atop one of Los Angeles' highest hills. Although she owned luxurious homes in Pasadena, Los Angeles and New York, Mrs. Prosser eight years ago built a two-room studio on top of Loma Hill, and since then she had lived there at home only to intimate friends.

Mrs. Prosser asserted that her ancestry dated back to the year 1254, and that Earl Bord of Cowdres, was one of her ancestors. Her attorney recently said the title was one of the few that could be transferred by feminine descent. She was the wife of William Prosser, pioneer Nevada silver mine owner. Before her marriage to Prosser she studied art in England, France and Germany.

CARL G. RATHMANN FUNERAL SERVICE TOMORROW AT 2 P. M.

Will Be Held at Church of St. Michael and St. George.

Funeral services for Carl G. Rathmann, 77 years old, adviser of visual education for St. Louis public schools, who died yesterday in his apartment at the Gatesworth Hotel, of anemia and acute stomach trouble, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Church of St. Michael and St. George, Wydown boulevard and Ellenwood avenue. Cremation of the body will take place at the Valhalla Crematory.

Mr. Rathmann, who was connected with the St. Louis school system for more than 50 years, was Assistant Superintendent from 1903 to last fall. Early in his public school career, he was principal at the Gratiot School, and later of the Jackson, Fremont and Garfield schools.

His widow, with whom he celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last August, and a son, Walter, survive.

Dr. William C. Rucker Dies.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—Dr. William C. Rucker, 55 years old, medical officer in charge of the United States Marine Hospital here, died yesterday. He was born in Kennedy, Ill. He served as a medical adviser during the yellow fever epidemic in New Orleans in 1905 and had charge of the campaign against spotted fever in the Rocky Mountain area in 1912.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

OF interest in St. Louis is the wedding of Miss Lelia Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill Morgan of New York, and Edward R. Wardwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wardwell, to take place in St. James Church, New York, the afternoon of June 10. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. Frank Warfield Crowder assisted by the Rev. Dr. Endicott Peabody, headmaster of the Groton School.

The groomsmen will include George Herbert Walker Jr. of St. Louis. Many of the men in the wedding party were classmates at Yale and officiated in the same capacity three seasons ago for Mr. Walker at his marriage to Miss Mary Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ray Carter, in St. Louis, and were entertained here. Allen M. Look, Philip W. Bunnell, Frederick F. Robinson, New York; Harris McIntosh, Cayuga, N. Y., and Russell Lee Post, Hartford, Conn., were among the groomsmen in the Walker-Carter wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker and their small child will spend the summer in Kennebunkport, Me., as the guests of Mr. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Herbert Walker, of New York, at their summer home.

Mrs. James M. Sloan, 5545 Pershing avenue, with her daughter, Miss Berkeley Sloan, and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac C. Orr, 5601 Kingsbury court, will depart July 1 for Harbor Beach, Mich., where they will occupy the summer home of Mrs. Sloan's daughter, Mrs. Lucia Sloan Hopkins of La Jolla, Cal., formerly of St. Louis. They will be joined by another daughter, Mrs. George Dock Jr., of New York, and Mr. Dock, who will also spend the season in the North.

Mrs. Hopkins and still another sister, Mrs. Mark Anderson, will occupy Mrs. Hopkins' home in La Jolla this summer.

Mrs. Orr recently returned from the annual Junior League Conference in New York, and a visit with Mrs. Arthur Gorman Lambert, formerly Miss Mary Lemon Sipple of St. Louis, at her home in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan I Meier, 6457 Cecil avenue, have bought the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Neil in Huntleigh Village, and will take possession June 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Meier will spend the summer at their home in Harbor Point, Mich., in accordance with their annual custom. Mr. Meier's mother, Mrs. Henry M. Meier, of Pasadena, Cal., will also go to Habor Point for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. David D. Walker Jr. of St. Louis County and Dr. and Mrs. Eugene T. Senseney, 4555 Pershing avenue, are planning to spend the summer at a fishing resort in Northern Canada. They will depart early in August. Mr. and Mrs. David D. Walker III, who have a new country home near the Clayton road in St. Louis County, will remain at home for the summer.

Mrs. Frederick C. Lake Jr., 5245 Waterman avenue, will entertain this afternoon at a tea complimenting Mrs. Richmond Moot, Schenectady, N. Y., who, with her children, is visiting her father, Charles B. McCormack, 4522 Westminster place. The guests will include former classmates of Mrs. Moot at Mary Institute and members of her sorority.

Mrs. H. T. T. Smith, 55 Kingsbury place, was hostess at a bridge luncheon Wednesday, and similar parties were given Monday and Tuesday by Mrs. Blasdel Shapleigh, who entertained at the Bellerive Country Club, and Mrs. M. K. Bassett, 61 Kingsbury place. Mrs. Walter Knight gave a dinner earlier in the week.

A tea will be given for Mrs. Moot Monday afternoon by Mrs. Owen Mitchell, and on Wednesday Mrs. George Barnett, 5642 Kingsbury boulevard, will be hostess at a luncheon at Old Barn Inn, St. Albans, Mo.

Mr. Moot will arrive next week to join his family and they will remain until June 1. Her brother, Stuart McCormack, will be here from Chicago next week. Mrs. McCormack and their small daughter are visiting her father, Frederick H. Kreismann of the Embassy apartments.

Judge and Mrs. William Dee Becker, 5414 Delmar boulevard, with their daughter, Miss Anne Becker, will spend the summer in Swampscott, Mass., where they will be guests at the Ocean House.

They will depart about Aug. 1 for New York, where they will bid farewell to their son, Allan Becker, as he sails for Europe for the season. They will make the trip by motor and will visit in Montreal and Quebec on the way home.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Hall of Webster Groves will sail June 16 from New York for a two months' trip abroad.

Mrs. Adolphus Meier, 5161 Kensington avenue, and her daughter, Miss Jane Meier, have returned from a trip to Quincy, Ill., and Keokuk, Ia., in the interest of their camp, Sleepy Hollow," near De Soto, Mo., which will open June 27.

Miss Janet Leahy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David P. Leahy, 4561 McPherson avenue, will arrive in New York Sunday on the Lafayette from Paris, where she has been attending school the last year.

Among the parties in honor of Hosmer Hall seniors is a dance this evening at the Woodlawn Country Club given by Miss Emlee Blauner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Blauner, 7117 Stanford avenue, and president of the senior class. Miss Jeanne Woerheide, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Woerheide, 257 Woodbourne avenue, will be assistant hostess.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 23.

THOUGHTS while strolling: Bird store sells: "Kitchenette parrots." The pervasive smell of hot bread. What became of Thomas Meighan? A birthday card shop. Dr. John Erskine. Why isn't there a five and 10 in the Woolworth Building?

Paul Block, an Elmira (N. Y.) boy, who made good in the city. The boiling hub-bub of Washington street. Syrian cafes. Swarthy children. White whiskered men who sit all day in sidewalk chairs puffing gold-tipped cigarettes. A cafe: "The Fifth Musketeer." There is an Elizabeth Arden—in the flesh.

The second-hand radio market. And its deafening squawk. Fading sign on a brick wall: "Brandy-Spirits." Trucks drawn by Percheron horses. Dollar hat shops for factory girls. Furniture in helter-skelter piles. Dimlit drug stores with red and green window bottles. And skull-capped proprietors.

Evening rat killings around old warehouses. With the entire block joining in with clubs. Fish and chip stands for seamen—like those in London. Blood and thunder movies. Cellar restaurants with coal oil lamps and red checked table cloths. Soiled white poodles.

Pool halls with shifty eyed shieks loafing in doorways. The gloom of Greenwich street after dark. Strange odors of hemp, tar and burlap. Caterwauling cats. Among the queer shadows, a casual passer-by becomes suddenly mysterious and pursuing. Spooky! The chemical smells from New Jersey.

Wall Street's nightly desolation. And geysers of steam spurting up from manholes. Fast pedalling bicycled messengers. Robin's restaurant. And the old Fraunce's Tavern where Washington bade farewell to his troops. Still scars on the Morgan counting house from the dynamite blast years ago.

The midnight bustle around Brooklyn Bridge. Printers hurrying for lunch. Newspaper trucks. Toothless women with pretzels on spikes. The peace of City Hall Park. Vague shuffling figures of the night. And that cerulean blue haze like a Maxfield Parrish sky, that envelops New York just before dawn.

MONTAGUE GLASS tells of a fellow returning from a funeral parlor to announce the deceased looked wonderful. "Why shouldn't he look wonderful?" a cynic observed. "He's been in Florida all winter."

I ASKED Charles Hanson Towne the other day why he didn't write more of his excellent poetry. "Poets are born," he laconically observed, "not paid."

IT is a hoary whine of writing beginners that only a prominent name receives recognition among magazine editors. The truth is nothing adds to an editor's fame so much as discovering a new writer. That is why manuscripts from unknowns are so thoroughly searched for the divine spark.

RECENTLY there came to a certain magazine an excellent bit of fiction by John Le Bar. His name was unknown but his piece had a wallop. A letter of acceptance and check were sent immediately and he was asked to submit further material. By accident it was later learned "John Le Bar" was the psuedonym of Harold Bell Wright Jr., son of the novelist. The magazine suggested the story might have added interest if he used his real name. He refused.

IN the year of 1929 some 700 writers sold their first stories to magazines of standing which constitutes more discoveries than were made in any other creative field.

I STOPPED in one of the upper avenue hotels the other day to meet a gentleman by appointment who was awaiting breakfast. A grand overlord in a cutaway tapped at the door, bestowed a jack-knife bow, clapped his hands and two waiters in gold braid brought in a slight table upon which was a half grape fruit and a pot of coffee. And I suppose it was rude but both the gentleman and myself burst out in a shriek of laughter.

I HAVE counted 10 men who lost important jobs recently and were whispered as "through" but have gone to far bigger and more important jobs. And that tickles me a rosy pink.

FROM an editorial: "Every cigar store telephone booth has its hog."

Also a few snails.

THE REV. BERNARD J. OTTEN, ST. LOUIS U. PROFESSOR, DIES

He Had Undergone Operation for Stomach Ailment; Funeral to Be Tomorrow.

Funeral services for the Rev. Bernard J. Otten, S. J., professor in the School of Divinity of St. Louis University, who died yesterday at St. John's Hospital following an operation for a stomach ailment, will be held tomorrow starting at 8:30 a. m. in St. Francis Xavier (College) Church, Grand and Lindell boulevards. Burial will be in St. Stanislaus Seminary grounds in Florissant. Father Otten was 65 years old.

A native of Germany, most of Father Otten's boyhood was spent in Florissant. Shortly after completing his college career he entered the Jesuit order at St. Stanislaus Seminary. He was the author of numerous books on dogmatic theology, some of which are standard textbooks in many seminaries. He was a member of the faculty of the School of Divinity for 16 years.

Father Otten is survived by two brothers, the Rev. John Otten of Sacred Heart Church, Florissant and George, a resident of Florissant. The body will lie in the south parlor of the administration building of St. Louis University, 221 North Grand boulevard, until the funeral.

RECALLS JAPANESE EXCLUSION LETTER

Hanihara, Retired Envoy to U. S., Breaks Six Years' Silence at Castle Dinner.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, May 23. — Masanao Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador to the United States in 1924, when Congress passed the immigration law excluding Japanese, today broke six years of silence regarding that incident with a dramatic speech at the farewell dinner for William R. Castle Jr., special American Ambassador to Japan.

Hanihara described before the Japan-America Society the famous episode in which his letter referring to "grave consequences" figured so prominently and ended his diplomatic career. He described the exclusion incident as "the unhappy exception" in a generally smooth and friendly course of Japanese-American relations.

"Naturally," Hanihara said, "the Japanese Government and people deeply resented this and that resentment is felt now as it was then. Nor will it ever die out so long as the wound inflicted remains unhealed. Friendship once marred in this manner can with difficulty resume its wholesome growth unless some effective remedy is administered.

"In that incident, the Ambassador of a friendly Power, whose warmth of friendship and high regard for the Government and people to whom he was accredited was everywhere widely known and accepted, was accused of using a veiled threat against that country.

"The Secretary of State's categorical assurance to the contrary was brushed aside by that accusing party."

In thus speaking Hanihara referred to his famous letter and Secretary of State Hughes' unavailing attempt to reassure Congress about it. He concluded his address as follows:

"I should not have referred to this matter now unless I had implicit confidence in the high sense of justice of the American people, who never have failed in the long run to be fair and just, not only to themselves but to others as well."

Hanihara said that if the exclusion matter were left in the hands of well-informed Government departments, "perhaps the questions would have been settled ere this to the mutual satisfaction of both parties.

"One thing must be said to dispel the popular misconception as to the true nature of that regrettable incident. It is not so much a question as to whether one nation should or should not exercise its sovereign rights in regulating matters relating to its domestic affairs, as it is often represented to be. Rather it is a question of whether one people should treat another people sympatheticaly, fairly or unfairly."

The dinner was held at the Peers Club, with Prince Tokugawa presiding. Guests included Foreign Minister Baron Shidehara, three other members of the cabinet and other distinguished persons.

Castle spoke after Hanihara but the American envoy's only reference to the former diplomat's speech was a refteration of Hanihara's confidence that "the American people in the long run will do the fair, square thing."

Previously the Ambassador and Mrs. Castle were guests of the Emperor and Empress at a farewell luncheon.

"We have often misinterpreted each other," the Ambassador said. "Japan has often believed that America was trying to cripple her influence in the Far East, and America has often felt that Japan had designs in this part of the world which no Japanese ever considered. What America must learn is that just because Japan's interests here are vital, that just because Japan's trade with China is of paramount importance, Japan must and will be the guardian of peace in the Pacific."

"I believe that Japanese commerce with Central and South America is likely vastly to increase," Castle continued. "Japanese traders know that they can go about their business in that part of the world in security because the whole purpose of America is to maintain peace in the Western Hemisphere and to hold open the door of honest opportunity to all.

"America must learn to appreciate just as clearly the fact that Japan, the greatest, progressive and peaceful power of the Orient, will be equally faithful as the guardian of rights and opportunities of all on this side of the world."

DR. KINLEY GETS U. S. AWARD

By the Associated Press.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., May 23.—Dr. David Kinley, retiring president of the University of Illinois, has received the War Department honor award for distinguished service in war and peace. The presentation was made yesterday by Gen. Charles P. Summerall at the annual Military day ceremonies of the university's Reserve Officers' Training Corps. The 3500 cadets of the corps staged a review.

The citation accompanying the award praised Dr. Kinley for his "invaluable suggestions in connection with the national defense act" and for "the fine example" he set in furthering its provisions by his attitude and achievements in university military training. Under his direction 20,000 men have received basic training in arms at the university and 1600 have been made commissioned officers.

MRS. FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT FAVORS HOUSE WORKERS' UNION

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the Governor of New York, advised the establishment of unions for household workers in a speech yesterday before the Philadelphia Council on Household Occupations.

"Perhaps you will be shocked," Mrs. Roosevelt said, "but I believe in trade unions. If you want a responsible group of people to deal with, you have got to have unions of household workers and come to an agreement with them on standards.

"Perhaps such unions could establish a definite scale of working hours, wages and vacation time. Before work is given to any household employe a woman should try out the jobs herself, until she finds out how long it takes to do them properly and efficiently."

Bulgarian Frontier Clash.

Assessment Procedure.

Procedure for assessing property and collecting taxes: Election or appointment of an Assesor and a Collector for Greater St. Louis, or, as the metropolitan committee is pledged to provide, for reuition of the present separate Assessors and Collectors in city and county; under the latter case, equalization of assessments as between city and county for purposes only of Greater St. Louis taxes; election or appointment of a Comptroller and a Treasurer for Greater St. Louis or, as planned, consolidation of these offices with existing municipal and county offices.

Transfer to Greater St. Louis of exclusive power over any duty now performed by the city, the county, county towns, and sewer, levee and drainage districts.

Maintenance of an independent Greater St. Louis police force to patrol highways and protect county districts.

Acquisition, improvement, operation and policing by Greater St. Louis of property outside as well as within its limits for carrying out any of the greater city's powers and duties.

Organization by Greater St. Louis of special districts for purposes of public works, improvements or utilities, upon public petition and after public hearing; separate special taxes could be levied in such districts only by representatives chosen by the people of the districts. ((This is designed to end in part objections to the present county sewer districts).

Exercise of eminent domain and levying of special assessments for improvements by Greater St. Louis and all the municipal and county districts, as an alternative to condemnation powers now allowed municipalities; payment of special assessments in installments and sale of assessment bonds to raise cash quickly without awaiting collection of benefits. (The latter two powers are being considered for adoption in St. Louis now).

The amendment would provide that adoption of the greater city charter would not affect the operation in the area of the present city and county of State laws relating to agriculture, education, representation in the Leigslature, construction and maintenance of State highways, courts, administration of justice or boundaries of the two existing judicial circuits, nor would it affect the continued existence of the separate offices in these areas of Prosecuting Attorney, Sheriff, Coroner, Public Administrator, Recorder, County Surveyor and County School Superintendent.

It would be required that the charter provide for performance by Greater St. Louis or by officers to be elected in the present county area of duties now given the County Court and the Clerk, Treasurer, Assessor, Collector and Engineer of the county. The charter would be authorized to determine the number, pay and jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace in the county area, with a view of removing their criminal jurisdiction, and to establish for the county a tribunal like the city's Court of Criminal Correction. The charter could give Justice of the Peace and other courts jurisdiction over violation of Greater St. Louis ordinances and could provide for a special traffic court for all or part of the greater city.

Utility Franchises Unchanged.

Present territorial limits of legally existing public utilities franchises would not be affected.

The Greater St. Louis tax rate would be limited by the amendment to 60 cents on the $100, except that a majority of the voters could approve an increase to $1. The tax rate limit for the present city of St. Louis would be changed from $1.35 on the $100 to $1.05, but it could be increased again to $1.35 by a majority of the voters. It has been calculated that St. Louis would require a tax rate of only 86 cents on the basis of present activities after Greater St. Louis took over some municipal functions. A detailed account of the proposed tax structure was published in the Post-Dispatch on April 25. Greater St. Louis would be limited to 5 per cent of its assessed valuation for bonded indebtedness.

Prof. Thomas H. Reed, director of the City and County Metropolitan Development Committee, received co-operation in preparing the amendment from Robert A. Roessel, chairman of the committee; City Counselor Muench, Ben C. Charles, special bond attorney for the city; Forrest C. Donnell, E. Glion Curtis and other lawyers.

BOSS VARE BEGAN AS HUCKSTER; HEADS POLITICAL HIERARCHY

Representatives and served there for 15 years. He was a wholly inconspicuous member.

Beat Pepper and Pinchot.

In 1926, running for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate on a wet platform, he defeated two other millionaires, the dry Gifford Pinchot and the evasive George Wharton Pepper. He won the election, too, but in the meantime Senator Reed of Missouri had held his famous investigation and found that the Vare candidacy in the primary had cost nearly $800,000. After a long contest, Vare finally was refused a seat in the Senate, on charges of fraud and excessive expenditures in the primary, and Gov. Fisher appointed "Old Joe" Grundy in his place.

Shortly before the Republican national convention of 1928, Vare was stricken with paralysis in his left side. He was not too ill, however, to go to Kansas City, where, taking the play away from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, he hopped into the Hoover band wagon at a strategic moment. His action gained him great publicity but failed to improve his chances of being seated in the Senate.

Vare's health having improved since last December, he was able to take an active part in the recent primary campaign. He won what he called "vindication" through the nomination of Davis over Grundy, but lost the battle with his arch foe, Gifford Pinchot, over the governorship.

Resinol Heals

Stubborn Unsightly

Rash on Baby's Body

"At the age of 3 months there appeared on the back and behind the ears of my baby a very irritating and unsightly looking rash. Many remedies were prescribed and all were used faithfully without obtaining any but temporary results. Harassed by the untold discomfort caused the baby as well as the increased unsightliness, I began, on the recommendation of a friend, to use Resinol Ointment. Immediately marked improvements were noted, and now, at the age of 10½ months, the child is without the slightest trace of his trouble."

TEACHERS' TRANSFER PLAN BEFORE COURT

Board's Proposal for Those More Than 65 Assailed as Pension System.

A test suit over legality of the Board of Education's plan to transfer school teachers more than 65 years old to a special class at decreased salary, which would average about $1200 a year, is being heard before Circuit Judge Pearcy.

The suit was filed by Richard Murphy, a member of the board, who declares he opposed the rule authorizing such procedure when it was enacted Oct. 14, 1928. His suit was filed shortly after that time and pending a decision the rule has not been put into effect.

Murphy and his attorney, Charles P. Williams, contend the board was without authority to enact such a provision. It is alleged the rule is a subterfuge to create an unauthorized pension system, further it would force capable teachers who had reached the age limit to take a cut in salary. Robert Burkham, attorney for the board, denied the board sought to create pensions and added that the rule did not force teachers to classify for the special work.

Henry J. Gerling, Superintendent of Instruction, testified he believed the plan would be useful. He listed possible fields of employment for teachers who would come within thhe special classification, including small group instruction, clerical work, special surveys, special clerical work, escort duty, special investigation for research and home contact work. At present, he said, about 165 teachers are eligible for inclusion in the special class, but he declared it is his belief a majority of them would not seek admission.

Several members of the Board of Education and several officers of the public schools have been summoned in the case. Murphy explained he filed the suit after a group of teachers requested an explanation of the rule from the board, but were told no explanation would be given unless the validity of the rule is upheld by the courts.

Doctors Tel
Weak People
Yeast for Keen App
Iron for Rich B
Combined in Pleasan

Are you weak, thin, run-down tired? Nervous and a poor sleeper? Do pale cheeks, sallow skin or blemishes show poor, thin blood?

For such conditions doctors now prescribe Yeast plus Iron. They contain the very tonic elements needed to build flesh and health quick. They will make you feel, act and look like a new person. Increase your weight. Get Yeast and Iron already combined in pleasant tasting tablets of IRONIZED YEAST. At all druggists.

Good Digestion and Rich Blood Build Weight, Health

It is not what you eat but what you digest that builds solid flesh and strength. Yeast increases your digestive powers. Then more of the food you eat is actually used by your body instead of so much of it being wasted.

Yeast also gives new keenness to poor appetite. But whether your appetite is good or poor, doctors recommend Yeast in order to increase digestion and gain weight and health.

Iron has been prescribed for generations by physicians to give rich red blood and strength. The newly enriched blood also performs its part in the building up process by taking more of the food you assimilate to the parts where it is needed. Thus Yeast and Iron work together to build you up. You must have BOTH to increase health, strength and flesh in the shortest possible time.

Doctors Praise Yeast and Iron

Doctors say the richest Yeast is brewers' Yeast, the kind used in malt and which makes malt so beneficial. This is the kind which is combined with Iron in IRONIZED YEAST. Far more effective, much quicker than unmedicated yeast. Here are a few extracts from reports of hundreds of leading physicians:

BODY OF LINCOLN'S GRANDSON TO ARLINGTON CEMETERY

Will be Placed Beside That of Father, Robert Todd Lincoln, on Removal From Illinois.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 23.—The City Health Department has issued a permit for the removal of the body of Abraham Lincoln II to Arlington Cemetery, Washington, where it is to rest beside that of his father, Robert Todd Lincoln.

Abraham Lincoln II, grandson of the Emancipator, died in Lincoln, Ill., March 5, 1890, while his father was Minister to the Court of St. James. The body was buried Nov. 11, 1890, in a crypt in the national Lincoln monument in Oak Ridge Cemtery here.

When it was determined to bury Robert Todd Lincoln in Arlington Cemetery, Mrs. Lincoln requested that her son's body be moved there also. State authorities consented to the removal and recently W. M. Babb of Milwaukee, Wis., came here with a power-of-attorney from Mrs. Lincoln and arranged for the transfer. It will be completed soon.

Weds Father to Mother-in-Law.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ROGERSVILLE, Mo., May 22.—The Rev. A. R. Anderson, pastor of the Church of God here, today married his father, James W. Anderson, 64 years old, to his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Susong, 72. Mrs. Susong has made her home with her daughter and son-in-law since 1922.

MORE OF BYRD'S MEN REACH CANAL ZONE

Geologist and Two Airplane Pilots Carried on the Eleanor Bolling.

By the Associated Press.

BALBOA, Canal Zone, May 23.—The steamer Eleanor Bolling brought back to American soil today three more outstanding figures of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, Prof. Laurence Gould, geologist, and Bernt Balchen and Harold June, aviation pilots.

The Eleanor Bolling was the third craft to bring in contingents of the exploration party. Its arrival left only the bark City of New York, chief supply ship of the expedition, to join the party assembling here for the return to New York. Byrd requested a navy tug to go out and pick up the City of New York, now 600 miles at sea, and tow it into Balboa.

"Oh, it's mighty great to see you again," Byrd exclaimed as he shook hands with the two flyers who, besides himself, are the only ones to have guided an airship over the South Pole and the scientist he described recently as having conducted the "outstanding personal achievement of the expedition."

Balchen, working as a seaman on the forward deck, was attired in dungaree pants and a flimsy jersey. The men immediately started to complain about the tropical heat.

Byrd passed around the deck among the others of the expedition, greeting each with a warm handclasp. Another of the party was Victor H. Czegka, chief machinist.

The name of the vessel still was spelled incorrectly with one "l" as it was when here the last time nearly two years ago.

The Bolling had towed the bark City of New York from April 30 until May 17, more than 2000 miles, in the teeth of adverse winds and amid heavy seas much of the time.

Paul A. Siple was a 19-year-old Eagle Boy Scout when he was chosen to accompany the expedition as orderly to the commander. Today when the Bolling docked, Siple was aboard, a full-grown man and glad to see American territory again.

in the European community, which thinks the country faces the gravest situation since the campaign began. The British added that reports from all parts of India showed the unrest was gradually growing.

Patel pleaded throughout for non-violence. The volunteers thus far, he insisted, have been peaceful at Dharasana and elsewhere. He objected to the use of bamboo staves by the police in breaking up raids on the salt depots.

Another Salt Raid Attempted.

The war council of the All-India Congress, after deliberating whether it was worth while to swell the number of prisoners in the jails at Worli, finally decided to make another raid on the Wadala salt works today.

Before the procession had gone far in the direction of the salt plant 60 volunteers had been arrested. The remaining 40 continued to march toward Wadala.

Two hundred fifty nationalist volunteers, arrested in the recent salt raids and held in the detention camp at Worli, have begun a hunger strike in protest against the diet offered them. All-India National Congress officers visiting the camp tried to dissuade them from their course.

The Government yesterday moved 250 Indian cavalrymen into the Surat district. Previously a large contingent of Hyderabad troops had been sent to Dharasana to hold the salt raiders in check there.

A crowd, estimated at 200,000 persons, marched through the Indian quarters this afternoon and attempted to enter the fort area. Four hundred policemen blocked the way. The demonstrators thereupon sat in the road and sang nationalist songs. Crowds of spectators swelled rapidly as business offices closed for the day.

she wanted at the conference and that Japan made no sacrifice in accepting the treaty's cruiser allotment.

Replying to Hale, Hough said: "I feel that we have abandoned our sovereign right to build the type of ships best suited to our needs. We have tied ourselves to a type of ship not suited to our needs. We have in a measure been dictated to as to what we should build. So far as parity is concerned, I do not think the treaty gives it to us."

Note Exchange With Japan on Cruiser Replacement.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, May 23.—Foreign Minister Baron Shidehara submitted to today's Cabinet session an American inquiry, received through Ambassador William R. Castle Jr., concerning Japan's interpretation of Article 19 of the London disarmament treaty.

The Cabinet left the matter of a reply in Baron Shidehara's hands. It was understood that the Foreign Minister was fully in accord with the American views on this article. The Foreign Office shortly will exchange notes with the United States or otherwise clarify the meaning of the article.

The American inquiry was understood to have been prompted by the fears of some Senators that the article would permit Great Britain to replace six-inch-gun cruisers with craft carrying eight-inch guns.

Japan's domestic controversy over the treaty has been suspended, owing to the indisposition of two outstanding figures, Admiral Takarabe, Minister of the Navy, and Admiral Kato, chief of the navy general staff. Takarabe is suffering from exhaustion and unable to attend Cabinet meetings, and Kato is confined to his bed with a cold.

SELF-STYLED COUNT ACCUSED

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Enrique Dechow, self-styled "Count von Buelow," was arrested today on a Governor's warrant from Indiana, charging that he made a false affidavit in obtaining a license in Indiana to marry Mrs. Lottie Brenner, wealthy Chicago widow who is suing for divorce. Unable to furnish $1000 bond, Dechow was held. The license was obtained at Crown Point.

Dechow, an aviator, was married to Mrs. Brenner, many years his senior, several months ago. It was announced that he was a war ace of noble family. Mrs. Brenner dropped a former suit for divorce after a robbery in her home during which everyone in the house was tied to chairs, including Dechow, who entered while the thrieves were gathering up $50,000 worth of jewelry.

"I prescribe Yeast for run-down condition, stomach disorders, skin disorders, constipation. Believe Yeast combined with Iron—IRONIZED YEAST—produces better results in most cases than Yeast alone."

"IRONIZED YEAST should be a splendid combination for run-down conditions."

"Have prescribed Yeast combined with Iron. Great improvement in appetite, weight and general condition."

"My results in prescribing brewers' Yeast with Iron for loss of weight, for increasing the appetite, and as a general tonic, warrant my endorsing treatment."

Start Today to Build Up

The pleasant-tasting little IRONIZED YEAST tablets give you all the Yeast you need to build weight; all the Iron you need for rich, red blood and strength.

Don Fike, One of Seven Missouri Convicts, Set Free by Gov. Caulfield.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 23.—Seven paroles to convicts in Missouri penitentiary were issued today by Gov. Caulfield on recommendation of the State Penal Board.

One went to Don Fike, 25 years old, who has served three months of a two-year sentence from Texas County for grand larceny. Fike was a student at the University of Missouri and is being released in order that he may continue his education.

Fike was jointly charged with Joe McBride with stealing the automobile of Col. A. T. Nelson, Lebanon, former State marketing commissioner, and taking it to Kansas where it was traded. Fike, charged in Federal Court at Kansas City with transporting a stolen car, was released on probation by Judge A. L. Reeves. The two men also stole some tires and it was on this charge Fike was sent to prison. McBride pleaded guilty and served a term.

A parole also went to H. H. Coburn, former cashier of the Bogard State Bank at Bogard, sentenced to four years from Carroll County from Sept. 7, 1928, for embezzlement.

Others paroled are Ted Watson, sentenced to three years from Kansas City from Nov. 30, 1928, for stealing an automobile; Fred Webb, five years from Ripley County, from Dec. 27, 1927, for a statutory crime; Adrian Riddle, four years from Pulasky County from Nov. 10, 1928, for burglary and larceny; John Hudson, five years from Howell County from Aug. 13, 1928, for burglary and larceny, and Fred Cannon, a Negro, life, from St. Louis County, from July 3, 1922, for first degree murder.

LUNCHEON FOR TRAVELERS PLANNING AN OCEAN VOYAGE

Symbolic Menu and Table Decorations Add Pleasure to the Party.

Farewell luncheons for friends who are about to embark on an ocean voyage are a pleasing way of complimenting the departing voyagers.

The menu served may be made up of symbolical dishes and the center piece and table decorations may carry out the same idea.

Yacht Dessert.

Make the pastry for the boats as follows. Seven ounces of pastry flour, five ounces unsalted butter, one and one-half ounces of almonds, two egg yolks, two and three-fourths ounces sugar, half pint whipping cream and some fresh fruits.

Rub the almonds on some lemon rind and then chop fine. Prepare a dough of the flour, butter, almonds, sugar and egg yolks. Roll about as thin as the blunt edges of a kitchen knife blade and cut in squares sufficiently large to be pressed into forms.

If possible, select forms of little boats, from which the dessert derives its name. When the dough is carefully pressed into the buttered forms, fill with dry beans, to prevent the dough from loosing its shape.

When well baked in buttered forms, remove the beans and let the little pastry boats cool. Fill with whipped cream and decorate with fresh fruits, like strawberries or cherries.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Peanut Stuffing for Duck.

Mix one and one-half cups stale, dry bread crumbs with one-half cup finely chopped, shelled peanuts, two tablespoons melted butter, one-quarter cup finely cut celery, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon minced onion, one-half cup evaporated milk, or enough to moisten the crumbs. Mix thoroughly and stuff into the duck.

Baked Ham Slice.

Have a slice cut from the center of a ham and weighing about two pounds. Cover with boiling water and let stand until the water is cold. Drain and place in a greased shallow pan. Pour one-half cup milk over the ham and spread with a thin layer of prepared mustard. Cover and bake in a moderate oven for forty minutes. Uncover, put under the broiler flame for a minute or two to brown the fat.

Remove to a hot platter and spread with creamed mushrooms. Sprinkle with minced chives or with paprika and serve as soon as possible.

Stuffed Pear Salad.

Use the large halves of canned pears for this, allowing one for each serving. Drain off the juice and heat to the boiling point. Add one tablespoon red cinnamon candies and simmer until the candies are dissolved. Then put the pears in the syrup and simmer for five to eight minutes or until the pears are red in color. Remove from the syrup and cool. The syrup may be added to other fruit juices and used as a beverage.

Mash a cream cheese with one tablespoon cream, three tablespoons finely chopped pecans, walnuts or almonds and one-quarter teaspoon paprika. Fill the centers of the pears with the cheese mixture and top with a preserved or canned fig and place on a nest of lettuce leaves.

Serve with cooked salad dressing or mayonnaise thinned with cream. This is a good luncheon or dessert salad.

Ice Cream Roll.

This will serve eight people. Beat the yolks of four eggs until creamy. Add four tablespoons sugar and continue beating for two minutes. Sift four tablespoons flour with one-quarter teaspoon baking powder and stir into the egg yolks. When blended fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs and spread the mixture in a large, buttered shallow pan. Bake eight minutes in a moderate oven.

Remove from the oven, invert to cool, and when cold, loosen from the pan with a spatula and turn out on a flat surface. Spread a quart of any flavored ice cream in a thick layer over the sheet of cake and roll up.

Quick Cinnamon Rolls.

Take two cups sifted flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, four tablespoons butter or other shortening, one-half cup milk, three tablespoons butter, one-third cup sugar, one-half teaspoon cinnamon and one-half cup currants or raisins.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening; add milk gradually until soft dough is formed.

Roll one-quarter inch thick on slightly floured board. Cream butter, sugar and cinnamon. Add currants and sprinkle mixture over dough. Roll as for jelly roll. Cut in one-inch slices.

Dot pan generously with butter, and sprinkle with additional sugar. Place rolls on top, cut-side down. Bake in hot oven 15 minutes, then decrease heat and bake 15 minutes longer. Remove from pan at once. Makes 10 rolls.

MARSHMALLOW LOAF MADE WITH GRAHAM CRACKERS

This Uncooked Dessert Enjoying Popular Favor at the Present Time.

Cut the marshmallows into quarters and drop them into the cream to soften.

Coarsely chop the nut meats and cut the dates into lengthwise quarters. Roll the graham crackers until finely crumbed. Mix all ingredients together.

Work well together into a loaf and shape in a pan two inches deep. Cut when ready to serve.

This loaf may be kept successfully for some time in a cool place. Serve alone or with whipped cream.

Lettuce Soup.

To make this wholesome soup use the coarse outer leaves of a head of lettuce and chop very fine. Add two and one-half cups stock (or water) and two tablespoons minced onion and cook 20 minutes. Cream together two tablespoons butter and two tablespoons of flour. Stir into two and one-half cups hot milk and cook 30 minutes in a double boiler. Add lettuce and seasonings, bring to a boil and serve at once.

LIGHT
FLUFFY
BISCUITS . . . every time you try!

Light, fluffy, piping hot . . . all ready to melt in one's mouth . . . is there any man anywhere who doesn't relish biscuits like that? Or any woman who doesn't want to bake them . . . quickly, easily, without fuss or bother?

You can bake such biscuits every time you try. You can also bake delicious cakes, pies, pancakes, waffles, "quick" breads and pastries. Even if you've had little or no baking experience.

You can do it with Jenny Wren

Jenny Wren is the Ready-Mixed Flour in which all the hard-to-mix dry ingredients are scientifically blended in the exact proportions necessary for perfect results. It does away with all measuring and mixing of baking powder, salt, soda and yeast. It eliminates the need for all leavening agents. It saves time, saves steps, saves dispositions. It eliminates guess-work, inaccurate measurements and omissions.

No other flour like Jenny Wren

Jenny Wren is made from carefully selected hard and soft wheats. It is rich in phosphates and calcium, which are so essential to proper tooth and bone formation. These are usually lost in white flour milling, but are included in Jenny Wren thru our exclusive process of preparation. This is especially important in families where there are growing children to consider.

Use it entirely at our risk

Jenny Wren is such a superior flour that we are able to back it with the most liberal guarantee imaginable. We say . . . buy a package from your grocer. Use half of it. If not delighted, return the unused portion to your grocer and the full purchase price will be refunded.

Use Jenny Wren for pancakes too . . . it brings them off the griddle with a lightness and flavor that will amaze and delight you.

PLANNING MEALS FOR THE FAMILY TABLE

Roast duck is generally well liked, and very good ones may be had just now at quite reasonable prices. A good duck will be about five pounds in weight, the flesh firm, the beak a good yellow, the feet soft and tender, and the body plump. Duck may be stuffed or not for roasting, but the flavor of the stuffing adds to the flavor of the meat, and one of the nicest stuffings for duck is made with peanuts and breadcrumbs.

Duck must be well done, so it is best to allow one and one-half hours for a bird of about five pounds. One good meal for four or five people, with a luncheon from the remnants of meat left on the bones, and a soup from the bones can be planned from a duck. In this week's menus this rather economical method of using up the leftovers has been used.

A salmi of duck, which is simply the scraps of meat combined with leftover rice and gravy and seasoned with a tablespoon of chopped green olives and a little sherry flavoring or lemon juice, is used for Monday's luncheon, while duck soup makes a hot dish for Tuesday's midday meal.

Other meats planned for the week include the steak for Monday night; a thick slice of ham to serve with creamed mushrooms; lamb or veal kidneys, lamb chops, bacon and a veal cutlet. Canned fish flakes for the breakfast fish cakes, clams for chowder (or the canned chowder), shrimp and scallops make up the fish list for the week.

The steak may be either a flank steak or a cut from the bottom round. A flank steak is quite lean, rather thick and contains no bone. Generally the whole flank steak must be bought and this weighs from one and one-half to three pounds. The meat, in this week's menu, is to be spread with a highly seasoned bread filling, rolled and baked in a covered pan for two hours. Slow cooking is necessary to make the meat tender.

Instead of stuffing and baking, the meat may be "smothered." In this case, heat three tablespoons bacon fat in a heavy frying pan and cook in it two sliced onions until they begin to brown. Put in the steak, brown quickly on each side; then pour one and one-half cups cold water over the meat and sprinkle with one teaspoon salt. Cover closely, heat quickly to the boiling point and then simmer for two hours or until the meat is tender. Remove to a hot platter, thicken the gravy with a little flour and pour over the meat.

Vegetables and salad greens are getting cheaper and better in quality each week. In the salad line most markets show garden and Boston lettuce as well as the iceberg varieties, romaine, watercress, escarole, chicory, endive, field salad and dandelion greens. It is getting a little late for the last two named, though they may still be found.

Fresh peas, broccoli, spinach, carrots, cabbage, chinese cabbage, asparagus, tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, cabbage sprouts or as they are sometimes called "collards"—all these are possibilities in the fresh vegetable line that lend interest to the search for green foods for the table. This week's menus use them all in one way or another.

Days are longer and the temperature such as to tempt one to linger out of doors. The children will be beginning to think of picnics and wanting "lunches" to eat in the yard or on the porch. Appetites will be increasing and more substantial foods should be provided for the youngsters after their longer hours of out door exercise.

Plenty of good wholesome food is the best health insurance that can be bought so don't be alarmed if Johnny sems to be hollow clear to his toes—let him eat, and see that he gets all the bread and butter, milk and vegetables he can hold!

MARYLAND FRIED CHICKEN AND VIRGINIA BISCUITS

Virginia Beaten Biscuits.

Use four cups flour, one tablespoon lard and one teaspoon salt.

Work lard lightly into flour and salt, then moisten with ice water.

Toss on floured board and beat with a rolling pin until dough blisters. Cut into biscuits and bake in a hot oven.

Chicken a la Maryland.

Dress, clean and cut up two spring chickens. Sprinkle with well seasoned flour and place in a well greased pan and bake 30 minutes in a hot oven, basting after the first five minutes of cooking with one-third cup melted butter.

Arrange on platter and cover with a rich cream sauce made with three tablespoons flour, three tablespoons butter and one cup cream. Season carefully.

Thought for the Day.

Let the children have plenty of good butter on their bread for it is one of the best ways of getting a plentiful supply of vitamin A into their diets. This particular vitamin is necessary for growth in children, contributing to general health and building up resistance to bodily infections, especially of the respiratory tract.

BAKED VEAL CHOPS

Savory When Prepared With This Lemon Cream Sauce.

For four veal chops (short rib cut prefered) use two tablespoons butter, one egg yolk, juice of one-half lemon, one-half pint cream, flour, salt and pepper.

Rub flour over one side of the chops and lard them on the other side, and fry slowly for 20 minutes, turning them so they may brown evenly. Place in baking pan and cook in oven for another 20 minutes.

Mix cream and lemon juice together and bake 20 minutes longer. Just before serving, pour sauce from baking pan onto well beaten yolk of egg and then mix with a little cream. Serve this sauce over the chops.

WEDDING BREAKFAST FOR A JUNE BRIDE

Menu the Same Whether Served at Tables or as a Buffet Luncheon.

Every bridal couple is entitled to a wedding feast and any family cook who is versed in the art of cooking and serving a company meal need have no hesitancy about serving a wedding breakfast or supper.

The meal may be cooked in the home kitchen and served in the dining room or else buffet style in the living room.

Decorations for a wedding breakfast table are readily obtained and easily arranged. The wedding cake is necessarily the main object on the table. White candles, snowy white linen and napery, sweet peas, delphineum, valley lillies and snapdragons are among the popular flowers that may be used.

The housewife, however, will be most interested in the breakfast menu which may be as simple or as elaborate as the bride desires.

Menu.

Strawberry cocktail
Bouillon with breadsticks
Olives Radish roses
Creamed chicken and mushrooms in patty-shells
New peas Hot rolls
Pineapple bombe
Assorted cakes Coffee

Creamed Chicken and Mushrooms.
(25 Servings.)

Wash one pound of mushrooms, peel the caps, scrape the stems and cut each mushroom into three or four pieces. Put in a saucepan with one-third cup butter, cover and cook for five to eight minutes. Cut enough cold boiled or roast chicken into half-inch dice to make two quarts. Melt one cup butter, add one cup flour and stir until well blended. Then stir in two quarts of milk or a quart and a pint of milk and two cups exaporated milk. (This makes a richer sauce.) Cook, stirring constantly until thickened and boiling. Add one tablespoonful salt, one-fourth teaspoonful pepper, one teaspoonful paprika and one tablespoonful lemon juice.

Stir in chicken and mushrooms and let stand in a warm place or over hot water until thoroughly heated. Serve in patty-shells or on toast.

Strawberry Cocktail.
(25 Servings.)

Pick over, wash and hull three quarts of large, ripe berries. Put into a bowl and sprinkle with one cup powdered sugar, the juice of three large oranges and grated rind of one. Cover and let stand in a cold place until thoroughly chilled. Divide into 25 sherbet cups and sprinkle each serving with a little finely chopped fresh mint. Garnish with two whole mint leaves. Serve very cold.

Pineapple Bombe.
(25 servings.)

Mix four cups boiling water with one and one-half cups sugar and grated rind of one lemon and boil one minute. Remove from the fire and add three tablespoons of gelatine soaked in one-half cupful cold water for five minutes. Cool, strain and add two cups fresh strawberry juice and two cups grated fresh or canned pineapple. Freeze until stiff.

Then line three two-quart molds with the frozen mixture, having it about two inches thick in each mold.

Whip three cups of cream or evaporated milk until stiff, add one cup powdered sugar and one cup pineapple cut in very fine pieces. Fill the centers of the molds with the cream mixture. Cover with buttered paper, adjust covers, pack in equal parts cracked ice and salt and let stand two and one-half hours. Cut in slices for serving.

Assorted Cakes.

The cakes should be baked in very small pans and are best if a plain recipe is used, either for white or gold cakes. In fact, part of the cakes may be made with the egg yolk and the rest with the whites, giving a variety. The icings are extremely attractive if they are tinted in pastel colors with the convenient vegetable colorings that may be bought nowadays, and then garnished with candied rose leaves, candied violets and mint leaves, dragees, blanched almonds and blanched pistachio nuts. All of these garnishings carry out the spring colors, are obtainable in most good candy shops and are not expensive. A few ounces of each is all that is necessary.

MOLASSES MOUSSE IS ONE OF THE NEW ICY COLD SWEETS

Molasses Mousse.

Beat four eggs very light and add one cup of New Orleans molasses to them and cook in a double boiler stirring constantly until the mixture thickens.

Remove pan from stove, place in a pan of cracked ice and stir constantly until mixture is creamy and cold.

When cold add two tablespoons of orange juice, one-half teaspoon cinnamon and a pinch of salt. When well blended, gradually pour mixture over one pint of whipped cream.

Put mousse in mold and pack in ice cream freezer or else place in trays of refrigerator for several hours or until half frozen.

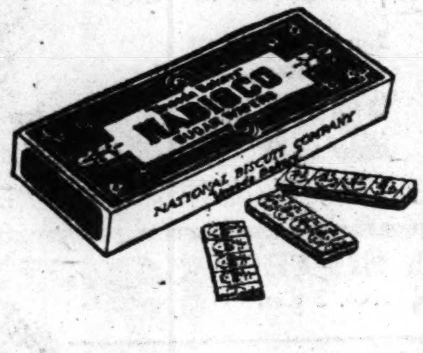
Candied Sweet Potatoes.

Boil and peel medium-sized sweet potatoes. Brush them with melted fat, then lay separately in a frying pan in which an inch of molasses has been poured. Place over a slow fire and turn frequently until candied and a little brown. Two tablespoons of butter and the juice of one lemon added to the molasses give a flavor that is very pleasing.



That's an easy one to guess.
Anything so deliciously crisp and creamy must be Nabisco.

POINTS TO REMEMBER IN MAKING COFFEE

Applicable to Percolated, Drip, Steeped or the Boiled Article.

Sparkling, fragrant coffee may be made in several ways, but whatever method is used—percolated, drip, steeped or boiled—there is a right way.

Always use fresh water for making coffee.

Do not allow coffee to boil hard, as actual boiling develops bitterness and destroys both flavor and aroma. The volatile oils, which give coffee its delicate fragrance and flavor, escape as coffee boils, and changes take place which bring out a bitter or sour taste. The best temperatures at which to make coffee are below boiling (185 degrees F. to 203 degrees F.). Coffee boiled for so short a time as one minute is more bitter than coffee made at a temperature of 203 degrees F., just nine degrees below boiling.

Extremely hard and very alkaline waters have an unfavorable effect upon coffee.

Glass, porcelain, stoneware, enamel and other vitrified wares have less influence upon the flavor of coffee than do metals.

Serve coffee immediately if possible. Or keep hot for service by placing it on an asbestos mat over a low flame, or over hot water. Coffee should not be allowed to stand on the grounds, as they absorb the delicate flavor and elusive aroma.

Scour the coffee pot to keep it clean—not to get it clean. The sediment which collects on the inside of the pot affects the delicate flavor of coffee.

Scald the coffee pot just before using it in order to remove any stale odors which may impair the flavor of the coffee.

Fillet of Haddock.

Wipe fillets of fish with damp cloth. Place in a pan and season with salt and pepper. Pour over sour cream to cover and place under the broiler flame for 12 to 15 minutes. If sour cream is not available, use one cup of sweet cream and two tablespoons of lemon juice.

CHILD'S WELFARE DEPENDS UPON PROPER FEEDING

Food was formerly thought to concern physical development alone. But scientists are now ready to state exactly the proportion of each kind of food children need in order to develop robust bodies and a wholesome view of life.

Briefly, children must get the sort of balanced nourishment that will let them grow at a certain rate. This rate is called the Life Line growth rate. Children who do not get properly balanced food cannot gain height and weight at this Life Line rate. And whenever a child loses out physically, its mentality and character are very apt to suffer.

Charts have been prepared by food specialists showing the Life Line rate of growth for every child. This chart tells exactly how tall and how heavy every child should be—between the ages of 2 and 18. And it makes scientific allowance for the fact that children of the same age vary in height and weight. With graphic simplicity it shows just how every child should grow and gain weight from year to year.

General Classes of Cakes.

Although many varieties of cake can be made, they are all put into two classes, butter cakes and sponge cakes. They are otherwise classified as cakes made with butter and cakes made without butter, for it is the presence or absence of fat in a cake that makes the difference in the method of mixing the ingredients and determines the texture after baking.

SIX BANANA CREAM TARTS

Make a cream custard of one cup of milk (for six tarts), one-third cup of sugar, a few grains of salt, one beaten egg, one teaspoon of flour and one-fourth teaspoon of vanilla.

Heat the milk in the double boiler and when hot add the sugar and flour mixed together. Stir until it thickens a little, add the beaten egg and salt and cook a few minutes longer. This should be chilled ready for use.

Mash or run through a sieve enough banana to measure one cup and add to the chilled custard and fill the tart shells.

DRESS VEGETABLES WITH CREAM SAUCE

Very often a vegetable that, served plan, would be scorned, proves extraordinarily tempting when combined with other ingredients.

Spinach, for example, grows tiresome at times. But serve it by the recipe below and everyone will devour it hungrily.

Spinach au Gratin.

Ingredients needed are three tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one-half cup evaporated milk, one can spinach or its equivalent in fresh cooked fresh spinach, three-fourths cup spinach liquid, one-half cup evaporated milk, one-fourth cup grated cheese, one-half cup stale bread crumbs, stirred in one tablespoon melted butter.

Melt the remainder of butter, add flour to it and seasonings and mix thoroughly. Add evaporated milk and the liquid drained from the spinach.

Stir constantly until smooth and thick. Add the grated cheese and as soon as this is melted add the spinach.

Put the mixture into a casserole, cover with buttered bread crumbs and put in the oven for 10 minutes or until the crumbs are browned.

Similarly, potatoes or cabbage scalloped, or cauliflower baked in a cream sauce take on new deliciousness.

Since cream sauce is the basis for so many good dishes, the ability to turn out a successful one is a real mark of cooking skill.

Cream Sauce.

Ingredients needed are one and one-half tablespoon butter, one and one-half tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one-half cup evaporated milk, one-half cup water.

Melt butter in top part of double boiler; add flour and seasonings and mix thoroughly. Add the milk diluted with the water and stir constantly until smooth and thick. Place over hot water and continue cooking for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally.

STEAMED FRUIT PUDDING IS A HEARTY DESSERT

Any Fruit Makes an Appealing Dessert of This Particular Type.

Take three cups flour, one teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon allspice, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half cup canned cranberries, few grains black pepper, one teaspoon salt, one cup milk, one cup molasses, one cup chopped suet, one scant cup chopped raisins.

Sift all dry ingredients together. Add milk, molasses, suet and fruit. Pour into buttered molds and steam for three hours. Makes three puddings, using one pound coffee tins.

Pudding Sauce.

Use one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour, one cup boiling water, three-fourths cup sugar, pinch salt, one egg and one teaspoon vanilla or lemon extract.

Melt butter in saucepan. Add flour and stir until thick and smooth. Gradually add boiling water and stir until smooth. Boil a few minutes, then add sugar, salt and egg beaten together, stirring rapidly to keep from lumping. Add vanilla last.

Club Special.

Spread half of the bread slices with cottage cheese. Cover with the remaining slices. Saute both sides of sandwiches in butter. Serve warm with tomato sauce and sprinkle top with finely chopped green pepper.

Delicate Sandwiches. 4

Finely chopped chicken and salted almonds make a tasty filling to use with white bread in sandwiches. Shrimp, flaked and mixed with minced cucumber and mayonnaise is also good.

Another Suggestion.

THREE GOOD SALADS FOR HOME SERVICE

Recipes for Green Dishes Which Carry a Health Guarantee With Them.

The spring greens are certainly most attractive and appetizing when served in the form of salads, but we are apt to tire of them unless there is a variety in flavoring and in the dressings used. Most persons being rather contrary by nature, rather object to eating food simply because it is good for them and sometimes expect wonders in the way of seasonings and service. Sometimes they get them, but more often it's a question of making the best of what is on hand. The recipes that are given today for these salads make use of everyday foods, but the combinations are just a little bit different, and while it is a case of making the best of what you have, it is, after all, rather a good best!

The first recipe serves plain sliced tomatoes with a chive dressing and a garnish of finely chopped hard-boiled egg—a good color scheme, and an appetizing salad.

Mix one-third cup of salad oil with two tablespoons of malt or tarragon vinegar, one teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika and one tablespoon finely minced chives. Chives belong to the onion family and are to be found growing in clumps that look like bunches of grass. They will keep on growing for some time if put in a sunny window and kept well watered. Beat the dressing then until it is thick and creamy and be sure that it is very cold. Arrange slices of tomato on crisp lettuce or romaine on cold plates, pour the dressing over them and sprinkle with finely chopped hard-boiled eggs and a little more chopped chives.

The next recipe uses a chiffonade dressing with cucumbers and romaine. For the dressing mix together one-half cup of salad oil, five tablespoons of malt or cider vinegar, one teaspoon powdered sugar, one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons finely chopped pimento, three tablespoons minced green pepper, three tablespoons chopped stuffed olives and a tablespoon of minced chives.

Rub the inside of a salad bowl with a cut clove of garlic and fill it with small crisp leaves of romaine or lettuce. Slice one or two cucumbers very thin and put over the lettuce. Beat the dressing until creamy, pour over the cucumbers just before serving and garnish with radish roses. This is an excellent salad to serve with steak or chops or with broiled fish.

A salad of new potatoes shaped into little balls and served with a well seasoned dressing makes a nice luncheon or supper dish. Boil six or eight new potatoes and then press through a strainer or a potato ricer while still hot. Add one teaspoon of dry mustard, one and one-half teaspoons of salt, three tablespoons salad oil, one tablespoon tarragon vinegar, three finely chopped hard boiled eggs, one teaspoon of grated onion and one to two teaspoons of anchovy paste. These seasonings are best mixed together and then added to the potatoes. Mix very thoroughly and chill. Then shape the mixture into small balls, sprinkle half of them with paprika and roll the other half in minced parsley. Arrange on shredded lettuce or watercress and garnish with small tomatoes cut in eighths. Serve with French dressing. Small hot biscuits or corn bread sticks make an excellent accompaniment to this salad.

FLAVOR OF FOODS ACCENTED BY ADDITION OF SUGAR

This Sweet Valuable As a Flavoring Agent and Also as an Energy Food.

A good cook will add a little sugar to this vegetable, or that roast, or stew, so that the sugar acts to accentuate temptingly those other flavors.

Pork chops is made delicious when sugar is added.

Carrots cooked with just enough sugar for emphasis, taste as if they had been cooked fresh from the garden.

ABOUT MUSHROOM DISHES

Such Dishes Should Contain Protein in Some Form.

On the meatless menu mushrooms should be employed for their appetizing flavor, but it should be borne in mind that they are only a substitute for meat in taste, and the meal at which they are served should supply protein in some form or other.

If broiled mushrooms are to be the piece de resistance for dinner, it is well to make up the protein deficiency by the use of cheese.

Jonquil Canape.

Egg Canape.

Spread a cracker with mayonnaise. Sprinkle with grated egg yolks. Place a slice of ripe olive in center and trim edge with parsley chopped very fine.

POTATOES EN CASSEROLE

Prepared With a Sauce of Canned Tomato Soup.

An unusual way of preparing mashed potatoes is to cook them en casserole with a sauce made with canned tomato soup.

This recipe calls for one and one-half cups diced cooked potatoes, one-half cup diced onion, one and one-half cups canned tomato soup.

Parboil the onions for 15 minutes. Place the potatoes in layers in the casserole or baking dish. Alternate the layers with layers of onions. Pour the canned soup over the potatoes and onions.

If the soup is not sufficiently seasoned, add salt and pepper to taste. Bake until the vegetables are well cooked.

By ALICE ADAMS PROCTOR

HERE is a picture of our newest Hostess Cake. Soft, tender Devil's Food in a new Loaf shape! A real butter batter devil's food that slices smoothly, with a soft moist crumb.

The batter is made by a famous old recipe that calls for plenty of the things that make a devil's food delicious. Plenty of butter and fresh eggs, rich bitter chocolate and finely sifted sugar. Our baking is carefully watched so that the flavor of these fine ingredients does not "bake out."

Again we prove the old rule: "If you want good cake, put good things in it." All our ingredients are the very best we can buy. Home kitchens do not often contain such wonderfully high quality materials.

After you try this Devil's Food Loaf, I know you'll want to serve the other Hostess Cakes soon, too. There are three wonderfully good layer cakes—Chocolate, Pineapple, and Cocoanut—a light, tender Lemon Loaf, and Cup Cakes (2 for 5c) with vanilla and chocolate frosting!

We give every Hostess Cake a real money-back guarantee. So remember to say "Hostess Cake" when you order . . . be sure of getting this remarkably rich, even-textured cake.

A NEW COFFEE

a modern coffee ~ created by DEL MONTE for critical 20*th* century tastes

PULLMAN comforts in the sky—music captured from the air—singing shadows on a silver screen! What a change this 20th century life of ours has brought to every home. We ask for new and finer things—with an impatience and a discrimination never equalled before.

For such an age, and for its critical tastes, this new coffee was created——a coffee, we believe, better than any coffee ever blended before—a coffee flavor that only modern resources and modern scientific care could have produced—a coffee richness and aroma in tune with this modern age itself.

THE STORY OF A BETTER COFFEE

For many years, DEL MONTE has brought you food products of finer flavor.

We were willing to put DEL MONTE Coffee on your table only if it came up to the same high quality standard.

We analyzed, tested and re-tested every leading brand of coffee on the market. We said "DEL MONTE must be an even finer, truer coffee flavor. It must meet modern, critical tastes."

With this ideal, we put the full resources and experience of the DEL MONTE organization behind this new blend.

Backed by the best traditions of the past—but hampered by no old prejudices or outworn habits—we have created this brand new quality standard in coffee—a truly modern coffee for modern tastes—the coffee you would expect DEL MONTE to put on your table.

Lift DEL MONTE Coffee to your lips. Revel in its rich aroma and full-bodied goodness. Here, at last, is a coffee flavor to match your most critical twentieth-century mood.

AS FRESH AS THE DAY IT WAS ROASTED

DEL MONTE Coffee comes to you only in the modern vacuum tin—always fresh as the day it was roasted.

Ordinary containers would not do. Too much effort and expense have gone into perfecting the flavor of DEL MONTE Coffee to risk losing any part of it! In this modern, hermetically-sealed, air-proof package, DEL MONTE Coffee retains all the volatile, aromatic oils that give it so much of its new distinction and better flavor.

Enjoy the fine fragrance that rises the instant you open the can. Coffee as fresh—as rich, as full-bodied—as the moment the vacuum process sealed it for you fresh from the roasting.

FROSTED CRACKERS

Interesting Way of Dressing Up Plain Soda Crackers.

Home cooks in search of an attractive, easily prepared sweet to serve for informal refreshments will be interested in reading this paragraph which tells how to prepare cracker delight.

Boil together one cup granulated sugar and one-fourth cup of water until the mixture spins a short thread when the spoon is removed from pan and syrup allowed to drop from spoon.

Beat syrup into stiffly beaten white of one egg until it begins to cool. Fold into this mixture one cup chopped dates and nuts.

Spread liberally on crackers and place in hot oven. When delicately brown, remove and let cool before serving.

RICE HAS A NUMBER OF POSSIBILITIES

May Be Served for Any Course of a Meal From Soup to Dessert.

Rice is a food with many uses. While it belongs to the cereals, it can nevertheless be used in all parts of a meal, from soup to dessert and including bread.

Rice muffins, rice in soup, rice as a vegetable with meat, combined with cheese for a main course, with vegetables or fish as a luncheon salad, in puddings—these are the ways of using this valuable food that come immediately to mind, and the wise and canny housekeeper learns how to take advantage of them.

When the family tires of potatoes —or better yet, as a means of preventing this state—rice has a number of possibilities. It is rich in starch and therefore a good energy food. It may be bought in the polished state or as the unpolished, brown rice.

Ways of Serving Rice.

There are a number of ways of cooking rice, any of which is good so long as it results in a product where the grains are separate, whole, flaky and tender.

The simplest method may be to cook it in plenty of boiling, salted water—having the water boiling when the rice is dropped in and keeping it boiling vigorously all the time it is cooking. More water may be added from time to time, but the rice must never be allowed to simmer into a thick, gelatinous looking liquid that comes as the water boils away and the remaining thickens from the starch in the rice. When done, drain, then rinse with boiling water and stand in the oven for a few minutes before serving.

Rice and Mushrooms.

Rice and mushrooms make a savory main dish. Use one cup rice (uncooked), one cup mushrooms, three slices bacon and one and one-half teaspoon salt.

Cook the rice in four cups boiling salted water until the grains start to soften. Add the chopped mushrooms, the bacon, chopped fine, and place in a double boiler. Cook for twenty to thirty minutes or until the mushrooms are tender and the flavor blended.

Savory Rice.

To two tablespoons chicken or bacon fat add three-fourths cup rice, five cups water or chicken stock and one and one-half teaspoons salt. Boil until rice is tender. Remove from fire and drain.

Cook two minced onions in a little fat and mix with two cups strained, canned tomatoes and one-half cup chopped green peppers. Stir these vegetables into the cooked rice and season to taste with salt, pepper and paprika. Turn into a buttered baking dish or casserole. Bake about a half-hour in a moderate oven.

SALMON SANDWICHES FINE FOR PICNIC LUNCH BASKET

Besides Being Appetizing and Palatable These Tidbits Are Nutritious.

The demand for tasty sandwiches will tempt the home cook to try these recipes for salmon sandwiches.

Salmon Sandwiches.

Flake one can salmon, mash fine, add two hard boiled eggs chopped and seasoned with one teaspoon French mustard, and one teaspoon grated horseradish. Mince well together and spread between thinly sliced, buttered bread. Will make about two dozen sandwiches.

Club Sandwiches.

Mix one can salmon, one-half pound of cottage cheese and one small can pimento peppers. Season and add enough thick cream or salad dressing to make a smooth paste, thin enough to spread. Butter slice of brown or bran bread, spread filling on slice of white bread, and put together.

Tiered Sandwiches.

Toast 12 slices of bread, for four sandwiches, each three tiers high. On first slices spread, in order named: Melted butter, crisp lettuce leaf, crisply broiled bacon, dry portions of canned salmon.

Then ripe, red tomato, seasoning and mayonnaise. Cover with toast, repeat filling and crown with toast.

POP CORN CAKE IS A CANDY

A Most Acceptable and Nourishing Homemade Sweet.

Pop corn cake is really a candy which gets it name from being presed into a layer cake pan and then unmolded and cut into small squares.

To make this sweet take one cup sugar, one cup white corn syrup, one-half cup cold water, and two tablespoons butter.

Pour this over two and one-half quarts popped corn mixed with one cup chopped walnut meats.

Mix thoroughly and press into well greased cake pan with back of spoon. Unmold immediately and sprinkle with cake candies.

SAVORY BREAKFAST DISH

Make a white sauce and while boiling hot pour over the ham and egg mixture.

This dish may be served on toast fingers or toast triangles.

New Standards of Softness,

"Insanitary," they say, "and filled with tiny wood splinters that cause serious disorders."

So a new-type bathroom paper has been made; it is meeting enthusiastic approval of doctors and health authorities everywhere.

It is called "Northern Tissue" —a pure white paper not even tinged with yellow. And it is amazingly soft and absorbent —more easily disposed of.

These qualities come from the new way it is made. "Northern Tissue" is made solely from pure, soft cellulose. The identical material used to make soft, silky rayon!

And every sheet is sterilized 20 times in the making—coming to you as free from bacteria as sterile hospital cotton. The price is only 10c a roll, at any Department, grocery or drug store.

"NORTHERN TISSUE" offers new standards of health protection

1—20 times sterilized, every sheet in every roll.

2—Soft, as rayon is soft. Because made from rayon's base.

Food Ideas for Outdoor Meals on These Pleasant Saturday Afternoons.

Potatoes baked in hot ashes; strips of steak or bacon cooked on sticks over glowing embers; "wienies" cooked in the same way and tucked into rolls; or some of the luscious mixtures that can be cooked in a kettle over a hot fire and eaten with so much relish, are fine picnic luncheons.

If the day is rather a cool one as it is apt to be just now, picnickers will enjoy a good hot corn chowder cooked over an open fire. Eaten with bread and butter sandwiches, some fruit and perhaps small cakes or cookies; few things taste better.

For the chowder for four people take a few slices of bacon, two onions, two or three potatoes, a can each of corn and tomato soup and a small can of evaporated milk. These canned foods are fine for picnics as they can be easily carried. Don't forget, though, to take along a can opener or the picnickers may suffer.

If there are any cold potatoes in the icebox, wrap them in wax paper and take them along instead of the raw ones. Wrap the bacon in waxed paper also.

Corn Chowder.

To make the chowder, fry the bacon in a sauce pan until it is brown, then stir in the onions cut in slices, the sliced potatoes, three cups of water and a teaspoon of salt. Let the mixture boil rather slowly until the potatoes are soft, then stir in the corn and the soup. Stir and let boil three or four minutes longer. Then add the milk and serve as soon as possible. For a thicker chowder, just add more potatoes.

For variety, use a can of baked beans instead of corn to make a good bean chowder. If there are boys in the picnic group, they will especially like this.

Another good hot picnic dish is made by cooking small squares of meat and slices of onion over hot embers. For this cut long, thin sticks, one for each person. Have the meat, which may be beef or lamb, cut in pieces about a half inch thick and a good inch square. Run the stick through these, using first a piece of meat and then a slice of onion. Sprinkle salt and pepper on the meat and cook over hot embers, turning the stick round and round as the meat cooks. It will take five or six minutes' cooking. Slip these onto slices of bread or between rolls. Sometimes it is nice to put a square of bacon between the meat and the onion for better flavor.

Picnic Sandwiches.

Sandwiches are, of course, always a necessity for any picnic. See that the bread is cut a quarter of an inch thick and that it is not too fresh. Bread a day old makes the best sandwiches. For fillings there are few better things for outdoor appetites than cheese, either alone or in combination with pickles, olives or catsup. A lettuce leaf used in each sandwich adds to the food value and to the appearance. Use one of the soft cheeses, mixing it with whatever extra flavoring you wish.

For instance, a tablespoon of chopped olives fixed with one-quarter pound of chees, or a tablespoon of pickled relish or two tablespoons of catsup with the same amount of cheese makes very good sandwiches. These may be made up and wrapped in waxed paper and toasted if you wish over hot embers. Or they may be served plain with one of the hot dishes mentioned above.

TUNA FISH A LA KING IS AN APPETIZING DISH

Offers Attractive Possibilities, As Well As a Change, for Tomorrow's Meal.

Housewives have small excuse for monotony in the meat course. The variety of fresh and canned meats offers every opportunity and inducement to serve a different meat product at every meal of the week.

Then, too, the fresh and canned fish products suggest further changes in the main dishes for the family dinners.

Tuna Fish a la King.

Use three tablespoons butter, one-half green pepper, shredded, one hard cooked egg, one-half cup chopped mushrooms, three tablespoons flour, one cup evaporated milk, one cup water, salt and pepper to taste, one-half cup canned or fresh cooked peas and one and one-half cup tuna fish.

Saute green pepper and mushrooms in butter until tender (about 10 minutes), keeping covered while cooking. Remove mushrooms and pepper and blend flour with the butter. Add the milk diluted with the water and cook until the mixture is thickened, stirring constantly to prevent lumping.

Place flaked tuna fish, peas, egg, mushrooms and pepper in top of double boiler. Pour over this the sauce and continue cooking over hot water for 10 minutes. Serve in patty shells or on toast point.

HOW TO COOK ASPARAGUS

Fresh asparagus should be washed carefully and then snap off the lower ends of the stalks.

Place with two tablespoons butter in a heavy kettle over a slow fire. Cover closely and let simmer until tender.

* White sauce, cream sauce, or Hollandaise sauce may be poured over the asparagus.

DAINTY SAUCES FOR ANGEL FOOD CAKE

These Attractive Sweets Make Favorite Desserts for Company Occasions.

One of the food fads of the present day is to dress up angel and sunshine cakes with fancy sauces and crushed fruits.

Every home cook has favorite ways of making these two popular cakes. The next time company is expected for luncheon make either an angel food or a sunshine cake and glorify it in one of the following ways:

Peach Melba.

Bake either an angel or sunshine cake. Other ingredients needed are one quart brick vanilla ice cream, six large halves canned peaches, one-half cup strawberry juice, one-half cup raspberry juice (fresh or canned), ont teaspoon cornstarch and one tablespoon cold water.

On each slice of cake place a slice of ice cream. On this place a well-drained peach half, cut side down.

Then pour over syrup, made by adding fruit juices, cornstarch, which has been dissolved in cold water and cooking until thickened, about 10 minutes.

Cake may be omitted from this recipe, and the dessert served in sherbet glasses.

An angel food cake makes a delicate dessert if these directions are followed.

Make a cavity two inches deep in angel food cake. Fill with golden cream filling; let stand to chill.

To serve cover cake with remaining filling and sprinkle with almonds, which have been blanched, chopped and toasted.

Golden Cream Filling.

Three tablespoons strong coffee, eight egg yolks, one and one-half tablespoons gelatine, three tablespoons water, one cup powdered sugar, one pint whipping cream, one-eighth teaspoon salt and three-fourths cup almonds.

Soak gelatine in cold water five minutes; dissolve in hot coffee, stirring well. Add salt to egg yolks and beat until thick and then add gelatine mixture. Cut and serve.

The vogue for icebox cakes introduced last year gives promise of increased popularity this summer. This is a new recipe for this dessert:

Cut a sponge or sunshine cake into three layers. Place layer on plate and moisten with grape juice, pineapple or other juice.

Spread layers alternately with three tablespoonfuls raspberry or stawberry jam, then a layer of custard, allowing one-half cup to each layer.

Cover top and sides with whipped cream and sliced, unblanched almonds. Place in refrigerator for 24 hours. Serve garnished with well drained slices of pineapple and additional whipped cream, if necessary.

CHEESE CHICKENS ARE UNIQUE

Fanciful Dish Suitable for Certain Special Occasions.

Uniqueness enters the food domain through the demand of American hostesses for symbolical dishes for company meals. Cheese chickens come under the category of unique foods.

To make cheese chickens mould each tablespoon of cheese into an oval. Press one end of oval into shape of head; then form a beak. Stick two cloves on either side of beak for eyes.

Make a nest of lettuce or cabbage; moisten with French or sour cream dressing and sprinkle with shredded cocoanut.

Place three eggs on each nest and set cheese chicken on top.

The eggs may be strawberries or cherries, balls of apple, dates or pieces of prunes, rolled up into balls.

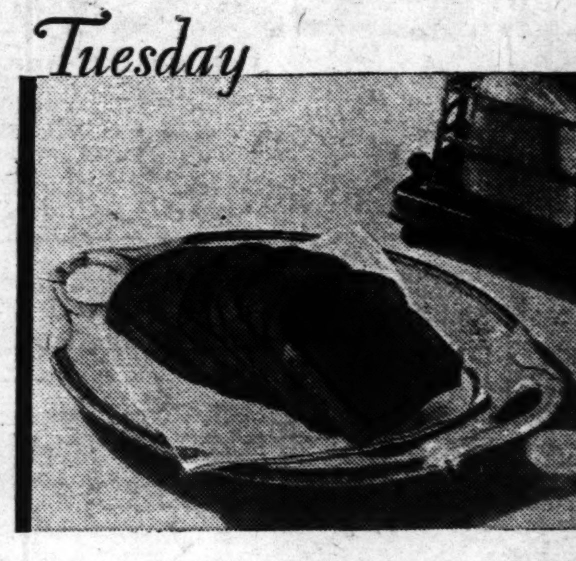
SEVEN DAYS of NEWS in a Loaf of slo-baked Bread

Suggested by Alice Adams Proctor

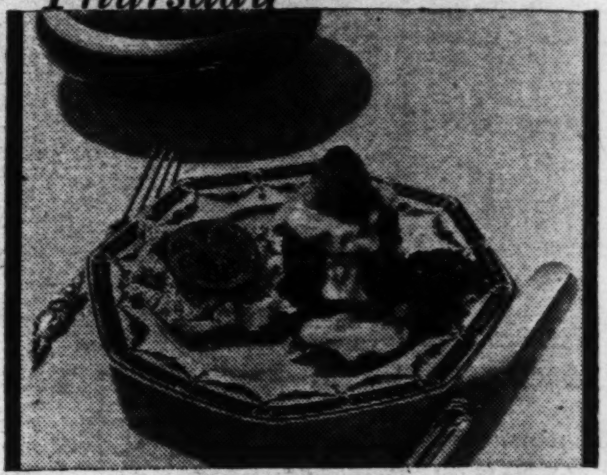
Tuesday



Wednesday

BETTER-TASTING SANDWICHES—Wonder Bread has every quality that makes a perfect sandwich bread—fine even texture, tender crusts, smooth slicing, delicacy and richness of flavor, perfect toasting—Slo-baked Wonder Bread enriches the flavor of even the simplest sandwich, adds food value to any sandwich combination.

Thursday



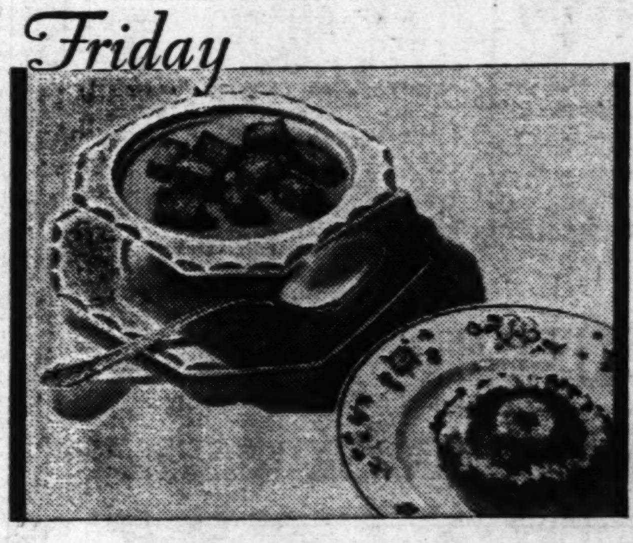
DELICIOUS WONDER PATTY SHELLS OR CROUSTADES—Cut crustless three-inch cubes of Wonder Bread. Hollow out—brush with melted butter inside and out. Bake a golden brown in a hot oven and there they are, hot, crisp, ready for the creamed filling. Extra-delicious, too, because of the famous Wonder Toast flavor.

Monday

"BREAD AND BUTTER"—A smooth, fine-textured slice of bread that contains a delicate bread flavor, one of the most satisfying things cookery can give—and one of the rarest. That's slo-baked Wonder Bread.

BETTER TOAST IN QUICKER TIME—and with a new aroma and more golden color—Wonder Bread makes it possible. Because slo-baking equally distributes the moisture content and gives you a richer bread of perfect texture.

Friday

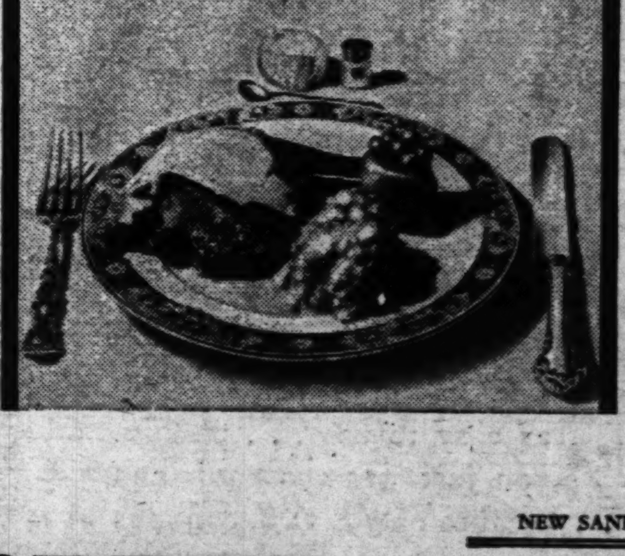


CRISP CROUTONS AND CANAPES—Quicker croutons with Wonder Bread! Spread crustless 1-2 inch slices of Wonder Bread, cut in cubes and delicately brown in a moderate oven. Crisp golden croutons—ready in no time—to add new zest to soups.

Saturday

DELICIOUS BREAD PUDDING—Until you've made this old-fashioned but much favored dish with Wonder Bread, you don't know how good it can be! One pint Wonder Bread crumbs, 1 quart milk, yolks of 4 eggs, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 cup sugar. Bake in moderate oven 3-4 of an hour. When cold, spread with jam and top with meringue.

Sunday



FAMOUS "WONDER" STUFFING—A comparatively recent discovery upsets an old tradition—FRESH Wonder Bread for stuffing! Crumb loaf of fresh Wonder Bread. Mix with 1 1-2 cups boiling water and 1 cup butter. Add 1 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon minced onion and 1 tablespoon sage. FOR SAUSAGE STUFFING: substitute 1 lb. sausage meat in place of butter and sage and add one orange, including skin, put through the grinder.

TO find out for yourself the pleasure there is in eating Slo-Baked Wonder Bread and to test the good things that you can do with it, eat Wonder Bread for a week.

For within the tender, golden crust of each slo-baked loaf we have captured a rare flavor that gives a new delight to old-fashioned dishes. Everything you make with Wonder Bread—from fancy sandwiches to plain bread pudding—tastes better!

The flavor of Wonder Bread will never vary. You are as sure of it next year as today. Slo-baking, the finest ingredients, and proved baking skill maintain it for you always.

Wonder Bread keeps fresh longer—has no soggy spots—is more digestible—richer flavored. For health, for economy, for sheer enjoyment, include Wonder Bread in your menus.

Use Wonder Bread for a week in the ways suggested here, and you'll see what a genuine difference choice ingredients skillfully mixed, and slo-baking make in bread.

Today—why not leave a week's order for slo-baked Wonder Bread with your grocer? He has it fresh twice daily.

Recipes for the Week

MONDAY—Serve Wonder Bread with dinner.
TUESDAY—Enjoy it as toast, or French toast.
WEDNESDAY—Make the children's lunch sandwiches with it for added flavor.
THURSDAY—Try Wonder Bread patty shells.
FRIDAY—Serve canapes or crisp croutons.
SATURDAY—Bread pudding (Wonder style)
SUNDAY—Wonder Bread stuffing in roast chicken, lamb or veal.

Rhubarb Juice Appetizer.

Rhubarb juice makes a splendid tart appetizer. It is better combined with other fruit juices to partially balance the strong acid of the rhubarb juice. Peach juice is one of the best. It sweetens the rhubarb juice and counteracts the acidity. It does not change the value of the rhubarb to partially counteract the acidity.

Make a Note of This.

To prevent hard-boiled eggs becoming discolored plunge them into cold water immediately after they are boiled and before removing the shells.

CRACKERS USED FOR MAKING PIE CRUST

Graham Crackers Are the Basic Product for This Rich Pie Dough.

The average housewife, who purchases a package of crackers or wafers at the grocery store, generally plans to serve the contents of the package in the same state as on removal from the carton.

As a matter of fact, soda crackers, vanilla wafers, graham crackers and many of the other unsweetened and sweetened varieties of commercial crackers and small cakes may be used in a variety of ways in cooked dishes. For instance, delicious pies may be made by using graham crackers to make the pie crust.

California Walnut Pie.

Roll and sift graham crackers, add sugar and cut in shortening. Pack well into pie plate. Bake 15 minutes in a moderate oven.

For the filling use six medium-sized apples, three cups water, one teaspoon mace, one tablespoon gelatine, four tablespoons cold water, three-fourths cup walnut meats, one teaspoon vanilla and one pint whipping cream.

French Cream Pie.

The filling for the pie is made with one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons cornstarch, two eggs, two cups milk and one teaspoon vanilla.

Remove from fire; add vanilla, and with egg beater, beat until fluffy and creamy; let cool. Then pour into pie plate lined with cracker crumbs; cover with cracker crumbs, cover with meringue made by beating whites of eggs until frothy, adding one-fourth teaspoon baking powder and beating until stiff and creamy; then folding in four tablespoons sugar.

Place in moderate oven for 15 minutes.

Worth Remembering.

When making muffins in iron pans, grease the pans and heat them in the oven before putting the batter in. Muffins will then be much lighter.

Helpful Suggestion.

IVANHOE

Folks once traveled miles for it — now you can get it anywhere

. . . . this richer, creamier mayonnaise called Ivanhoe. Once it was the treasured possession of a mother and her own family. But good things can't be be kept secret. And the fame of her home-made mayonnaise spread. Her friends asked her to make it for them . . . in such increasing numbers that a great business was the outcome of her home specialty!

Today, although Ivanhoe's fame is nation-wide, the same home recipe is used. Choice eggs with the finest oil and spices are still employed. Yet it costs no more than ordinary mayonnaise. Once it's tasted Ivanhoe is the constant choice of any family.

Buy it almost anywhere in quarts, pints, half-pints, or in 3½ oz. jars if you are a "kitchenette family."

A SIMPLE STEP TOWARDS HEALTH

Perhaps the one simple thing you are not doing to guarantee permanent health is having sufficient roughage in your food. Absence of this roughage is the direct cause of constipation which results in so many other ills—headaches, listlessness, general depression, indigestion and, sometimes, serious disease.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is roughage. It is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded. Two tablespoons daily (in serious cases, with each meal) is the proper amount.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also helps you to health in other ways. It is rich in iron, practically all of which goes into the blood, bringing red, healthy color to the complexion. It helps prevent anemia. Be sure to include it in reducing diets.

Many eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with cream or milk added. It is a delicious addition to cereals, fruits and soups. In cooked foods, it is just as effective in the relief of constipation. Recommended by doctors. Ask your grocer for Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THE QUICK and EASY way to find a LOST ARTICLE is to ADVERTISE the loss in POST-DISPATCH WANTS.

A serious business handicap

Why expose yourself to these dangers? Speak to the superintendent at your place of work. Or the man who does the purchasing. Ask him to install health-protecting Scott Tissues.

Scott Tissues

NOTE: ScotTissue and Waldorf are the two largest selling brands in the world. Sani-Tissue is the new popular priced white toilet tissue embodying the famous thirsty fibre qualities.

They fit the built-in fixtures

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY.
WE are the largest manufacturing company in our line of business in America, and have the fastest selling product on the market today. We have a well established chain of offices and exclusive stores in the principal cities. Our company has half a million first credit rating and we are expanding very rapidly. We are now opening new offices and stores in some of the largest cities of the Middle West and are therefore looking for competent managers for these stores and offices. The men that we select for these positions will earn from ten to twenty-five thousand dollars per year, and such men must be financially able to invest from one to ten thousand dollars in our products. This investment will be protected by twice the amount in merchandise. Personal interview will require at least three hours' time. We invite a thorough and complete investigation. If you have the capital to finance yourself it will pay you to investigate this proposition. Box Y-372, Post-Dispatch.

'COMMERCIAL BULLETIN' REPOR

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, May 23.—The commercial bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow:

"Manufacturers have shown a better disposition to buy wool the past week or two, on the bases now current but any attempt to boost prices has met with failure. The mills are in many cases on much reduced schedules but evidently are getting a little more business than they were. Demand chiefly favors fine wools but some interest is reported in quarter-blood combings, at steady rates.

"Foreign markets are generally steady as compared with the close last week-end. London is having good clearances.

"Buying in the West is progressing steadily at rates which show little change, on the whole, but which are generally very firm. Interest is chiefly directed towards Texas just now with eight months wools moving at around 25 cents and 12 months wools at 25-27 cents for the best types. Prices being paid in the West are generally close to Eastern parity.

"The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930 to May 22, 1930 inclusive were 54,076,000 pounds against 74,113,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1 1930 to May 22, 1930 inclusive were 84,310,800 pounds against 111,691,600 pounds for the same period last year."

Domestic: Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces, delaine unwashed 29-30; ½ blood combing 29; ⅜ blood combing 28-29; ¼ blood combing 28-29. Michigan and New York fleeces, delaine unwashed 26-29; ½ blood combing 27-29; ¼ blood combing 28-29. Wisconsin, Missouri and average Indiana and New England, ½ blood 25-26; ⅜ blood 27-28; ¼ blood 27-28.

Scoured basis: Texas, fine 12 months (selected) 75-76; fine short 12 months 70-72; fine 8 months 68-70. California Northern 65-67; middle country 63-65; southern 60-63. Oregon fine and F. M. staple 73-75; fine and F. M. Fr. combing 70-73; fine and F. M. clothing 65-67; valley No. 1 67-68.

Mohair: Domestic, good original bag Texas spring 40-42; good original Texas kid 50-52; Arizona and New Mexican 37-38; Oregon 38-40. Domestic grading, first combing 50-52; good carding 34-35.

Cape winter firsts nominal; summer firsts 32-34; cape summer kids 56-58; Turkey fair average 50-52 (in bond).

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Raw sugar was quiet and unchanged early today, with no sales reported. Nearby duty frees were available at last paid prices of 3.17c, but buyers showed no interest.

Futures opened unchanged to 1 point lower and continued easy under liquidation and selling of distant deliveries by houses with European and Cuban connections, until prices showed net losses of 1 to 3 points. The selling was probably promoted by the continued inactivity in the spot market and uncertainty over the tariff, but at the extreme decline there was enough covering to check the downward movement and prices rallied partially in the late forenoon. The list at midday was 1 to 2 points net lower. Trading was not very active and operators were inclined to limit aggressive operations and await fresh developments.

Refined was unchanged, with refiners quoting at 4.70c for fine granulated, but second hands still around at from 4.60c to 4.65c. The demand was light.

Sugar futures closed easy; approximated sales 28,950 tons. July 1.45; September 1.52; December 1.61; January 1.63; March 1.70; May 1.77.

COTTON CLOSES LOWER ON NEW YORK MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The feature in cotton here today was the final evening up of the May position in which trading ended at midday. Additional notices were issued but were evidently stopped by the leading long interests without much change. It was roughly estimated that the total amount of cotton taken up during May in the three futures markets was 560,000 to 580,000 bales. Trading was comparatively quiet with prices ruling lower after an early bulge under realizing and some scattered selling promoted by a favorable Western belt forecast. At 2 o'clock, July was ruling around 16.28c and the new October contract to 14.85c or 6 to 8 points net lower.

Futures closed steady, 5 to 10 points lower: July 16.29c; October 15.11-12c; December 15.20-21c; January 15.17c. New contracts: October 14.84c; December 14.91c; January 14.90c; March 15.10c. Spot quiet; middling 16.40c.

Cotton opened steady at an advance of 3 to 8 points on some trade buying or covering in the near months.

There was some buying of new crop positions on unfavorable crop advices from Texas and reports of rains in the Western belt. July sold up to 16.40c on the initial demand, while the new October contracts advanced to 14.99c. Buying was not active and prices later eased under realizing with old crop positions working slightly below yesterday's closing quotations. The new crop lost its early gains. The market remained quiet early and seemed to be awaiting further developments in May, which sold up to 16.27c or 5 points net higher at the start but later reacted to 16.21c. Liverpool reported a quiet market, with some buying on Western belt rain reports.

According to early estimates, notices representing about 23,000 bales including deliveries at Savannah were issued here during the morning. There were rumors of some additional notices but they could not be definitely confirmed and no particular feature developed in the final closing out of the May position, in which trading ended at midday. That delivery sold off to 16.17 under some liquidation. The last sale was at 16.22 or net unchanged.

Later deliveries, meanwhile, sold off on a favorable Western belt forecast with the new October contract declining to 14.85 or eight points net lower. Trading at midday was quiet and within two or three of the lowest, or about three to six points below yesterday's closing.

IMPROVED DEMAND IN BOND MARK

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 23.—An proved demand added lustre to tone of listed bonds today. general appearance of the was more in keeping with the pectations of traders who been somewhat puzzled by ratic course in face of ext favorable conditions.

Most interest was display railroad bonds—legal issues some secondary liens—and ibles. Among them the strength was shown, while the of the list held steady. The ual rise, fraction by fraction the rails, has placed them close the 1930 price roof and new should be more frequent if present trend is maintained. P sylvania Gold 5s burst through day on a heavy demand, rising points. Others gained from ¾ of a point. Convertibles ed slightly in the late trading held good gains.

Announcement of the apport ment of the $300,000,000 Ger annuity issue appeared to con ute some strength to the for group, and small gains were mon.

WHEAT MARKET DECLINES IN TRADING AT CHICAGO

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 23.—Selling out on the part of yesterday's buyers did much to send the wheat market downgrade today. The forecast pointed to frost tonight in Kansas, Nebraska and the Northwest, but this circumstance was virtually ignored and attention was focused on absence of the frosts which were expected last night. Bears made much also of reports that the domestic spring wheat crop outlook is unusually favorable, and that high condition figures are to be looked for in June 1 summaries.

Wheat closed weak, 1⅜@2¼c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛@1⅛c off, oats ⅛@¾c down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

Wheat prices underwent an early setback influenced by the fact that predictions of widespread frost failed to be fulfilled. Evidence that exporters of North American wheat were not following advances counted also as a bearish factor. Opening at ⅛c decline to ⅜c gain, wheat afterward showed downturns all around. Corn and oats were likewise easier, with corn starting ⅛c off to ⅛c up, and subsequently suffering a general decline. Provisions tended to advance.

Lower prices here today for wheat were reached notwithstanding a rise in Liverpool quotations and despite some bullish European crop advice about adverse field conditions in France. Dispatches from Nebraska in particular telling to thin, spindly plants with short heads between Crete, Neb., and Hastings, as well as onward to Superior, Neb.

Canadian crop prospects were reported today as favorable for vigorous germination except in a limited section of Northern Alberta. If moisture continues sufficient and temperatures not too high, wheat development, the reports said, could be normal. Conditions in June and July, however, promise to be even more of a detriment than usual in regard to the final outturn.

BETTER TONE SHOWN BY CURB MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 23.—A distinctly better tone came into the curb market today. Although buying was not particularly aggressive in the general list, there was good support for some of the influential utilities and gains of a couple of points were numerous.

Niagara Hudson Power was a feature, advancing more than 2 points to above 23. Electric Bond & Share and Associated Gas & Electric "A" rallied, although the gain in the former was held to a moderate figure. Central Public Service of Delaware climbed more than 6 to a new high for the year, and American Commonwealths Power "B," on a 3-point rise, also surpassed its previous top.

With few exceptions the oils were neglected. Indiana Pipe Line preferred rose about 6 points to a new peak. Gulf was up a couple, but held only part of the advance. Humble and Cities Service were firm.

Aluminum Co. of America, which has been inactive during the recent dull period, appeared on the tape with an 8-point rise. Stein Cosmetics was under active accumulation in the late dealings and responded to the extent of about a point. Fokker Aircraft also advanced one. Western Maryland preferred was up 6.

International Salt, new, traded when issued, moved between 50 and 51, with the rights around 3½.

YOUNGSTOWN STEEL DIVIDENDS TO STOCK "ENTITLED" TO IT

By the Associated Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 23.—Directors of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. today declared regular dividends of $1.37½ on preferred stock and $1.25 on common stock of record June 14, payable July 1 "to stock which is entitled to receive dividends."

The statement given out after the meeting pointed out that under Ohio law stockholders who opposed the company's proposed merger with Bethlehem Steel Corporation are not entitled to dividends.

Mining and Smelting Co. Plans Issue.

NEW YORK, May 23.—A proposal to increase the capital stock and issue $5,-000,000 in 5-year 6 per cent convertible debentures will be voted on by stockholders of the Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting Company, Ltd., at a special meeting June 6.

The Canadian Mining Company, in which the Newmont Mining Corporation has a large interest, plans to increase its authorized stock from 2,500,000 to 3,-000,000 shares. Stockholders of record June 7 will be offered rights to subscribe to the bonds in the ratio of $100 principal amount of debentures for each 50 shares of common stock held.

At the annual meeting on April 15, R. H. Channing, director of operations said some additional financing would be necessary before the Flin Flon mining plant, now under construction, had been completed and put on a producing basis. The company was organized in 1927.

Jimmy and Stanhope Meet Again

Journey's End

The novel on which the world-famous war play was based.

—By—

R. C. SHERRIFF and VERNON BARTLETT

SYNOPSIS

Dennis Stanhope is a frequent visitor to Alum Green, near London, where Jimmy Raleigh and his sister, Madge, live. Although Dennis is three years older than Jimmy, a strong friendship develops between the boys. When Dennis goes away to Barford to school he became Jimmy's hero, because of his athletic prowess. Later Jimmy arrives at Barford and finds a gulf between himself and Dennis for the latter is now a school monitor. Germany invaded Belgium and Dennis is sent to Flanders as an infantry officer where he commands a front line company. Jimmy, now a second lieutenant, is sent to France and goes up to the front to join Dennis' company which is just returning to the trenches.

CHAPTER XV.

STANHOPE straightened himself, and struggled to get the straps of his pack over his shoulders. He caught it as it slipped to the ground, and heaved it wearily into a corner of the dugout. Then he took off his helmet and threw it on to the bed. The light from the candles in their bottles showed Raleigh a changed, a new, Stanhope, and yet it was hard to tell in what way there had been a change. He still wore his parting—"bug-run" as it was politely called at Barford—down the side, and his dark hair, slightly curly, was brushed back carefully as of old. His uniform was worn and stained, and yet, as always, he was more neatly dressed than any one else. Raleigh's own uniform, of course, was newer and cleaner, but he immediately had the feeling that it did not fit properly. Stanhope's face was a little thinner, perhaps, but he had always had those rather hollow cheeks and deep-set eyes. Of course, he looked terribly tired—not at all as though he had just been "resting" in billets. He was brown and weather-beaten, and yet it seemed to Raleigh, who was not generally imaginative, as though he were pale, unhealthily pale, under this top layer of sun and weather-burn.

Dennis Stanhope stared blankly at the flickering candles while he slowly took off his gas-satchel and undid the buckle of his webbing equipment, which he allowed to drop to the ground at his feet.

"Has Hardy gone?" he asked sharply.

"Lucky for him he did. I'd a few words to say to Master Hardy. You never saw such a blasted mess as those fellows left the trenches in. Dugouts smell like cesspits—rusty bombs, damp rifle-grenades—it's perfectly foul."

"Mason!" summoned Stanhope sharply.

"Damn the soup! Bring some whisky."

Osborne made a little movement as though he were going to protest. He thought better of it, and said, instead:

"Here's a new officer, Stanhope—just arrived."

And he stood there, the same old Dennis, with that frank, honest smile of welcome on his face. This was the moment Jimmy had been waiting for, thinking about, wondering about, ever since he'd received Uncle Vince's orders to join this battalion. He came out of the shadow. "Hullo, Stanhope," he said.

Stanhope started at the sound of his voice. He stared intently at the newcomer, concentrating all his attention on him. He did not notice Raleigh half raised his hand, and then let it drop to his side as he saw the other's expression.

"I was told at battalion headquarters to report to you."

"I see. Rather a coincidence."

Raleigh laughed nervously. "Yes, isn't it?" He glanced round the dugout to escape from that odd, unfriendly look in Dennis' eyes. There was something here he did not understand. A third officer whom he had not noticed before, but who must have been the man who had come down with Dennis—a fat, short man, with a round, red, polished face—was staring at him curiously. What on earth was it all about?

"There's a terrible tragedy, Stanhope," he said in a matter-of-fact voice, as though he had noticed nothing unusual in this meeting. "Mason ordered pineapple chunks, and the tin turns out to be apricots."

The short, fat man spoke for the first time.

Jimmy Raleigh felt in a vague way that they were trying to help him, these two men. But it couldn't be left like that. He and Dennis had always understood each other through and through. No; it couldn't be left like that.

"I'm awfully glad I got to your company," he said after a pause.

"Well, I've only just come."

Osborne intervened again. "He just missed us in our billets, so they told him at the transport lines where we were, and he found his way up."

"I see," said Stanhope grimly.

Mason appeared with a bottle of whisky, a mug, and two plates of soup, of which a little slopped over at each step. He stood near the table, wondering helplessly how to put down the soup without upsetting the whisky, or the whisky without upsetting still more of the soup, until Osborne came to his rescue.

"Dinner, thank God!" exclaimed the red-faced little officer.

Stanhope shook himself. He suddenly sat down on the bed, and pulled one of the boxes over to the right of the table. "Come along, Uncle," he shouted with a gaiety which both Osborne and Raleigh knew to be forced. "Come and sit here. You'd better sit over there, Raleigh." And he pointed to the farther side of the table.

"My name's Trotter," he said. "Glad to meet you."

He was so genial, so obviously pleased that this awkwardness which he did not understand seemed to have passed off, so uncomfortably compressed in a uniform which had become much too small for him, that he immediately won Raleigh's liking.

"Yes. It does a bit."

Trotter let the conversation languish while he dragged up a box, sat on it.

"Pepper," he called. "Where's the pepper, Mason?"

It would seem that Mason had expected—and feared—that question, for he hastened to explain how by some extraordinary accident the pepper-pot had been left behind.

"But, damn it, we must have pepper." Trotter threw down his aluminum spoon into his tin plate with disgust. "We can't do without pepper. It gives things a flavor."

"Why wasn't it packed, Mason?" asked Stanhope quietly.

"It—it was missed, sir."

"Why?"

"Then I advise you never to leave it to any one else again, unless you want to go back to your platoon in the trench. Send one of the signalers to me."

A soldier, answering to Mason's call for "Bert," appeared from the tunnel and saluted.

"Run over to 'A' Company headquarters and ask Capt. Willis, with my compliments, if he can lend me a little pepper."

"A screw of pepper you asks for," Mason added in a whisper to the soldier.

Trotter, for example, went on grumbling in a soothing undertone, which was designed merely to support Dennis' action.

"After all, war's bad enough with pepper," he remarked between noisy sips, "but war without pepper—it's—it's bloody awful!"

What had happened to Dennis Stanhope?

"How are things in the line?" asked Osborne. "Not much doing, is there?"

"As quiet as a grave," agreed Stanhope.

"Calm before the storm," declared Trotter, who never missed a platitude. "'Ullo, what's this?" He looked suspiciously at the cutlets which Mason placed proudly on the table.

"Meat, sir."

"I know that. What sort?"

"Sort of a cutlet, sir."

"H'm. You know, Mason, there's cutlets and cutlets."

"I know, sir. That one's a cutlet."

Osborne groaned.

"For heaven's sake, shut up," he urged.

"You'll get double duty if you try that business of making puns," Stanhope threatened.

"No offense meant, skipper."

Trotter, silenced but not abashed, bent his head over his plate and tackled his cutlet. Presently—when he had finished everything on his plate, in fact—he looked up. He was still puzzled by Stanhope's air of weariness, which, somehow, was linked up with the arrival of this pleasant-spoken youngster, Raleigh.

"Cheer up, skipper," he ventured. "You do look glum."

"I'm tired."

"Why not turn in to get some sleep after supper?" asked Osborne eagerly. "I'll do the duty roll, and see the sergeant-major, and any little thing like that."

"I've got hours of work before I turn in. So have the rest of us for that matter." He turned to Raleigh. "Trotter goes on duty directly he's had supper. Now, in fact. He's relieving the other sub, Hibbert. You'd better go with him to learn the job."

"All right!"

Raleigh's own voice was as noncommittal and indifferent as Stanhope's. It would not do to let any one see how much Dennis' behavior hurt and puzzled him.

"There's tons of time," grumbled Trotter. "I ain't 'ad my apricots yet. And they need digesting afterwards."

"We'll keep them for you till you come back," Osborne promised.

"Not in 'ere, you won't. I know you all too well."

He instructed Mason to keep the fruit in his own dugout until it was wanted and rose to his feet, stretching prodigiously, in a way which showed that his tunic-buttons must be fastened on with good stout thread, and not ordinary, lady-like cotton.

"Come on, Raleigh, my lad," he said. "I never knew anything like a war for upsetting meals. I'm always down for dooty in the middle of one."

YANKEES WIN WAISTLINE WAR

By Diana Merwin.

ONE of those international misunderstandings has arisen over waistlines.

Simmered down the gist of the business is that America has pulled in its collective waistline and Paris hasn't.

Paris took a hitch in its felt last fall, found it wasn't generally becoming to French women, and let it out again.

Not so America, where women seem to come taller, leaner and flatter.

The pulled-in belt is one of the outstanding features of spring coats and suits as presented to American women. Moreover American women seem to like them, judging from reports which reach Paris of the success of belted models.

But where Paris shows 10 belted coat and suit models America is showing 50.

It was the same way when capes and cape sleeves were first launched months back.

Dipping hemlines and eventual long skirts were the same story. So were puff sleeves and elbow sleeves.

The haute coutre, some of whose members are having a bad spring season financially, according to rumors which permeate the entire fashion trade of Paris, is beginning to sit up and ask who makes the styles anyway.

The women of Europe are essentially conservative and the more artistocratic and influential they are socially the slower they are to adopt new styles.

Thus while European women, as a whole, are thinking about it, American women have already put the new styles into everyday practice, with the result that sometimes a style is old in New York before it reaches the general public in Paris.

Veal and pork should be thoroughly cooked to be wholesome. The main reason they are considered indigestible meats is because indigestion so frequently follows underdone meat.

APRIL ESCAPADE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS.

SYNOPSIS.

Mary Kate O'Hara is in love with Cass Keating and wants to marry him. But she also wants to help her brother, Martin. He is studying medicine at nights and has to turn down an opportunity to go to Germany because of the family's poverty.

Then Christopher Steynes, a friend of her employer, makes a strange proposition. He asks her to play the part of his wife for a day and a half in order to discourage a Russian countess who is on his trail. It means enough money to give Martin his opportunity, and Steynes seems perfectly trustworthy—a gentleman. Mary Kate promises to think it over.

* * *

LIFE, last Sunday, with a steady rain falling, and Cass Keating engaged to go over and spend the day with his aunt in Oakland, had been quiet, empty, dull, unsatisfying. But life today was thrilling and throbbing with possibilities and excitement.

It was good, after this happy, strangely emotional day, to get back to Mother's peaceful kitchen, and find Mother placidly shelling early peas. Tom, working over the radio, was completely occupied and content. His dark face was obsorbed, his big, dirty hands clever and gentle with wires and connections.

"Strong? I'll fix it so it'll blow you out of the kitchen, Ma," he promised.

This horrifying threat found Mrs. O'Hara unalarmed. Her big black sheep was safe with his mother, busy and happy, and she was content. But more than that, as she hastened to inform Mary Kate, hadn't Dr. Van Antwerp sent for Martin, and asked him to go with him to a medical lecture, and have dinner first at the doctor's apartment?

"He's going to Germany with Dr. Van Antwerp," Mary Kate said over and over again, in her own soul, when she heard this bit of information.

And through the happy, safe home evening the determination strengthened. What did Christopher Steynes want her to do, after all, that such a fuss should be made about it? Play a part, for 24 hours, save him from a situation that was not of his own creating, and return home safe and sound to tell the family of her daring and her adventures.

While she was laughing and talking at the family dinner table, and later, when she and Cass went to a movie, and sat with their hands locked, and their shoulders touching, half stupified by darkness and music, and the flowing story on the screen she was conscious of the week-end plan as only a sort of menacing shadow, vaguely troublesome, in the background of her thoughts.

But the moment she faced it openly and honestly, it vanished. There was nothing to it. She was nearly 20, and as informed and alert as to the dangers of the world as any girl need be. If she chose for reasons that seemed good to her to take a chance, it was her own affair.

"The thing is, that we ought to carry this with a rush!" young Steynes told her, when they went into Gamhin's beautiful shop, to buy clothes for the masquerade. "You'll have to call me Chris. Everyone calls me Chris."

She looked about interestedly at exquisite evening bags, fans and scarfs. Her escort asked, with an experienced air, for a special saleswoman, and they went into a private showroom.

"No use advertising all this!" he reminded her. But Mary Kate was too much amused and interested to care.

"If it's an 18 size it will fit me," she said to the middle-aged, handsome woman who began to show her evening frocks.

"But you'll want to try it on, Madam?"

No, Madam didn't want to try anything on. She was, however, persuaded to slip off her brown coat and put on the evening wrap.

It was a garment of white and gold brocade, patterned in little quilted squares; its great collar was of creamy fur. Mary Kate's shiny golden hair rose from it like a flame.

"This is ridiculous!" she said to Christopher Steynes.

But she showed no awkwardness. Now and then she crinkled up her blue eyes and laughed into Christopher Steynes' own, as at some secret joke. For the rest she was dignified, interested, protesting only by an occasional glance.

He was very businesslike today. This was Thursday afternoon and he admitted frankly that he had evaded a luncheon with the Russian Countess and her daughter. They had reached town at 9 o'clock, and had been in touch with him at 20 minutes past 9," he said.

"I sent them flowers, d'you see? And Rountree asked them to dinner tomorrow night, and I'm going to spring you on them then."

"You're not nervous about it, are you?"

"Not exactly, no. But to tell you the truth," Mary Kate said with an uneasy laugh, "I'll be glad when it is over."

"Maybe you think I won't!" he said fervently.

They both laughed, more naturally.

"Oh, yes. I play."

"Oh, yes!"

"You're perfect," he assured her. "Now, let me see where we could go to have a cup of tea—" he said, pondering. "The Palace? It's quiet there. Do you like the Palace?"

"I've never been there for tea."

"Well, come on then. Because it seems to me we ought to rehearse a little. You see we can't slip up on this, Mary," he said. "Because the minute they suspect any hokum, it gives 'em a sort of claim, do you see?"

"Mind me calling you that?"

"Oh, no! Heavens, I expect you to. Only—only what I'm doing rather scares me," the girl confessed.

Steynes made no immediate answer. He was leading the way into the Palace Hotel, down the long passage lined with smart little flower and candy and cigarette and magazine shops, and to the wide, airy court where tea tables were scattered. An orchestra was playing.

"We want a corner table; we want to talk," he said, with an authoritative air, to the head waiter. Immediately they were established in an inconspicuous corner, behind a column and some potted palms, where they could hear the strains of an orchestra, and watch the drifting crowds themselves almost unseen.

"You say that what you are doing rather scares you," Christopher Steynes said, as calmly as if there had been no interruption, when they had ordered their tea. "Now why do you say that? What is there about it to scare you?"

"Being found out, I suppose," Mary Kate answered simply.

"Well, exactly! And see how little there is to this, Mary," said Christopher, leaning across the table. "Today's Thursday, isn't it? Well, nothing can happen today. I mean you go home, everything's as usual, nobody suspects anything—there's nothing to suspect. Tomorrow, with your suitcase packed with your own things, you take the 5 o'clock train to Burlingame. Your family thinks you're going to Sacramento." He hesitated, frowned. "Any of 'em planning to see you off?" he asked.

Pastel Hosiery.

IN the accomplishment of definite color effects in summery sports costumes made of linen, hosiery should be in a matching tone if you like to follow the latest dictates of fashion. Sheer chiffon stockings with the picot top and the panel-curve heel are appearing in the shops in green, blue, yellow and even orange shades—with the distinctive linen suit or frock.

When A-visiting.

When the crochet cotton is unruly and continually falling out of your lap and thus becoming dirty, pin the four corners of your handkerchief to your skirt and slip the ball into it. It will work beautifully for the time being.

Cleansing the Tiles

A HOUSEWIFE was discouraged when the cement on her tiled floor came out in the form of wder, and she asked what to do out it. Questioning brought out e fact that she had used muriatic id.

You sometimes hear of those ho consider this a good tile eanser, but this woman was not miliar with it. Perhaps if she d not used it so strong and had moved it without delay she ight have had no disastrous re- lts, but why use acid at all?

Tiling if cleaned regularly can be pt bright with warm, soapy wa- r quickly applied, rinsed and oroughly dried. A tablespoonful paraffin to a pail of water will lp, and polishing them with a tle skim milk and water will ake them glisten.

If much soiled, rub with a cut mon and allow it to remain about minutes. Never be liberal in e use of water on tiles.

LOIS MORAN -- Hollywood's Most Eligible Young Lady

The seventeenth article of the series, "The Truth About Hollywood," by a Post-Dispatch writer who visited the California studios in search of interesting stories on the pictures and the picture people.

* * *

BY H. H. NIEMEYER (NIE.),
The Post-Dispatch's Motion Picture Critic.

HOLLYWOOD, May 22.

ANY young man, heading west with a view to settling down would do well to pay court to Lois Moran. If the deal could be put across he would have for a wife the most eligible girl in the motion picture colony. By her own admission she would like to fall in love, marry and have a houseful of youngsters—ten, she told me the other day.

She was 21 years old on the first day of last March, and on that day the courts turned over to her $75,000 which had been left by a relative. That $75,000 is only a drop in the bucket, however. She makes almost as much more every year, working in pictures, and during the late unpleasantness in Wall street her mother invested her savings on the short side of the market and came out with a fortune. And that is no idle press agent's conversation, either.

Everything Lois Moran touches turns to gold except, which is rare out here, her hair. That is really a golden brown which she wears close bobbed. Her eyes are a steady blue and she has a glorious off-stage smile and a keen sense of humor. She is one of the genuine beauties of this beauty infested town with a little girl quaintness that makes you count her among the real people.

Lois Moran looks like a million dollars in an evening dress or a bathing suit—although, in these days, there is not much of a contrast there.

She doesn't drink but she knows the ingredients and how they should be put together.

She likes to have people "drop in" for dinner but also likes to be alone once in a while.

• • •

WHEN one of these "once in a while" times occurs she usually heads for the mountains in Yosemite Valley—all alone. Here she stays a day, a week or a month, as the mood or the studio shooting schedule decides.

Recently, her supply of books gave out during a stay among the mountain tops so she wrote a half dozen short stories herself. Three of them have been purchased by magazines.

She is a keen student of human nature, although you don't realize it until you've known her for some time.

If an interviewer isn't careful, he discovers, after talking with Miss Moran that he is the person who was interviewed.

She can discuss what's written in the kinds of books that merely gather dust in your library and mine, and she also can discuss intelligently the Notre Dame shift and the difference between Pop Warner's "A" and "B" formations.

Incidentally, two dozen University of Southern California football players appeared in one of her recent pictures—and if she wore all the fraternity pins that were offered she'd grow round-shouldered in a week.

She has an athletic room in her home which is put into daily use. Here she maintains her skill in ballet dancing which several years ago won for her a place in the ballet of the Opera in Paris.

• • •

AS a youngster in Pittsburg, where her father was a physician, Lois began the study of dancing when she was 4 years old.

Taken to Paris by her mother to finish her schooling and dancing studies, she became interested in drama but remained with dancing.

While in the Opera her grace and ability attracted the attention of one of the producers of the Cinegraphie, a French motion picture company, and she was given leading roles in two pictures. Before she had finished the first one, she decided she had discovered the thing she wanted to do most.

At 15, she made up her mind to leave foreign films and seek the more extensive American field, Hollywood.

Samuel Goldwyn saw her photograph and cabled her to come to see him in California. His first glimpse assured her of her greatest role, the girl in "Stella Dallas."

"Behind That Curtain," "A Song of Kentucky," "Words and Music," "Mammy" and "Not Damaged" are the talking pictures in which she has appeared.

• • •

LOIS MORAN sees most of the good pictures in which others appear, but has seen few of the productions in which she herself has played.

"I have never liked myself on the screen," she says, "so when I don't see my pictures I don't fret about them."

And that's about all about Lois Moran except that I am going to add a verse—which has nothing whatever to do with the story—that she wrote in Yosemite:

DREAMS.

Of a moon rising, slim and divine,
Of waterfalls glimmering palely
And wind that is strong and fine.

I dream of a warm sweet morning,
Of white gulls flying over the sea,
And the purple shadow of a tree.

But these are the dreams of reality—
The dream I long for is not—
Lovely, enthralling, exciting, appalling,
But whatever it is, I know not.

French Women Darn More Than U. S. Sisters

INDEPENDENCE of American women precludes consideration of darning and mending as a duty, believes Maj. Georges Thenault, French war flyer.

On the other hand, the French wife sews for her husband without protest, but lacks the charm of the American girl, engendered as it is by her "spirit, freedom and independence," he said.

Maj. Thenault, who commanded the Lafayette Escadrille during the World War, now is air and military attache at the French Embassy in Washington. He married an American girl, the former Miss Sarah Spencer, Chicago.

Big Lighthouse Design For Red Sea by Woman

FAUSTA V. MENGARINI, famous Italian woman sculptor who is exhibting her work at the Corcoran art gallery, Washington, is at work on a design for a gigantic light house which will be located in the port of Massaua on the Red Sea.

Madame Mengarini is the only sculptor ever commissioned by Premier Mussolini to do his likeness in marble. She has designed a number of monuments in Rome and other Italian cities.

The Imp

"WE'RE going to see an imp tonight," said the Little Black Clock.

"That's fine," said John. He felt he would like to see an imp very much indeed. Sometimes his daddy called him an imp, and Peggy was pleased, too, for sometimes he called her an imp.

They thought they would like to seen an imp very, very much.

"I've turned the time back a few hundred years or so," the Little Black Clock said.

"A mere nothing," laughed John.

The children didn't quite see why the Little Black Clock had to turn the time back to see an imp. Perhaps there were better imps in those days. Yes, the children thought, that was probably the reason why the Little Black Clock was turning the time back.

To be sure their idea of a "better imp" was an imp with most decidedly impish ways—a really real imp!

But as the scene changed and the children waited they did not see any one or anything looking like an imp.

He looked as though he were trying to keep from laughing. Evidently he could see the imp coming from a distance.

But no one appeared. What could the Little Black Clock mean?

Now he was laughing very hard.

"You must forgive me," he said, "if sometimes I, too, like to play a little joke. That tiny shoot from the big tree, yes, the little one, is the imp. In the olden days—the days to which I've now turned the time—that was what any one meant when they said Imp.

Wear Hose Inside-Out

Nearer to nature seems to be the watchword. "Nude tan" is a smart shade much fancied as the warm days advance.

There is NO GREASE in this NEW POLISH

RETSUL,—the new, liquid automobile polish, contains NO GREASE but will remove it. That is why it drys quickly and takes an easy, dry, brilliant Luster . . . Many polishes contain grease and no amount of rubbing will cause them to polish "dry."

A greasy polish, even though it has a dry appearance, will pick up "road grime" which has a a damaging effect on the finish of your car. RETSUL will "polish dry" and leaves nothing to which foreign substances will adhere.

RETSUL reflects LUSTER in your Car

Fruit Salad.

The vogue for salads for evening refreshments keeps us busy trying different combinations. The following is a refreshing one for springtime: One cup seeded white cherries, one-half cup orange pulp, one-half cup dried pineapple, one-half cup diced celery, one-half cup chopped nuts, three-fourths cup mayonnaise dressing. Mix fruits and place in a strainer to chill and drain. Just before serving add the celery, nuts and salad dressing. Serve on beds of crisp lettuce.

Those Black Rings.

Be sure to wipe off the bottoms of the platters and dishes that have been warmed in the oven before placing them on the clean table cloth. It means a smaller laundry bill.

HEALTH

Typhoid

WITH the summer, there comes the call of the open road and—typhoid. This disease, once so prevalent that at least one in every 300 persons suffered infection, has now been very substantially reduced. It is still, however, prevalent in certain of our smaller communities.

Typhoid is always a serious disease, with an estimated fatality mark of 10 per cent. A large portion of those surviving suffer long lasting impairment of their health. From 2 to 4 per cent of those at one time sick with typhoid, constantly have the germs of the disease within them. Such persons are called carriers and they become a menace to those about them.

The disease was first described in 1643 by an English physician, Thomas Willis. In 1856, William Budd, another physician, stated that the disease was transmitted from person to person through the avenue of excretion.

The germ causing typhoid, a very minute active bacillus, was first seen by Eberth in 1880 and its relation to typhoid was definitely established in 1900. This knowledge, plus the information that has been gathered on the manner of the spread of the disease, enabled us to overcome this scourge, which, in the Civil War and the Spanish-American War, was responsible for more deaths among the soldiers than the enemies' bullets.

In 1900, out of every 100,000 person in the United States, approximately 31 died of typhoid. By 1920 the rate was reduced to less than one-sixth. This was accomplished chiefly through the purification of water, through the sanitary handling of milk and through the proper care and isolation of those infected.

The Denton J. Snider Association for Universal Culture will meet at Cabanne Branch Library tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. It will be the last meeting until fall.

Lemon Butter.

One-quarter cup butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon lemon juice, on tablespoon minced parsley. Cream the butter with salt and pepper, then add lemon juice gradually and finally the parsley. Spread over broiled fish or shad roe when piping hot, just before serving. Very tasty.

PEGGY, I JUST CAN'T TELL YOU HOW MUCH GOOD IT DOES ME TO SEE YOU SITTING HERE SO SENSIBLY WHILE THAT OAKDALE IS IN THE FRONT ROOM WITH YOUR FATHER. TALKING EACH OTHER BLUE IN THE FACE ABOUT THAT SILLY MAP SUPPOSED TO HAVE DROPPED OUT OF THE DAGGER-HANDLE. IMAGINE.
OH I DON'T DOUBT THE MAP WAS IN THE DAGGER, MOTHER.
I DOUBT EVERYTHING WITH WHICH OAKDALE IS CONNECTED. AND I KNOW, I'M POSITIVE, THAT MAN ARRANGED THIS HULLABALOO JUST SO HE'D HAVE AN EXCUSE TO COME HERE AND TRY TO HYPNOTIZE YOU AGAIN.
HA, HA, MOTHER YOU HAVE THE STRANGEST IDEAS.
OH PEGGY WHY ARE YOU SO MUCH LIKE YOUR FATHER? I KNOW YOU'RE DONE WITH OAKDALE, BUT THE MOMENT A PERSON EVEN HINTS THAT HE MIGHT NOT BE PERFECTION ITSELF, YOUR FACE GETS RED AS FIRE AND YOU LOOK AS THOUGH YOU WERE GOING TO BREAK DOWN AND CRY.
WHY MOTHER, AS YOU KNOW, HARTFORD OAKDALE IS ONLY AN OLD FRIEND NOW.
BUT ANYHOW I'M SURE HE ISN'T THE SORT TO DO ANYTHING SO UTTERLY SILLY AS YOU SUSPECT IN THIS MAP AFFAIR
WELL I'VE ALWAYS FOUND THAT EVEN MY WORST SUSPICIONS OF THAT MAN WERE LESS THAN THE TRUTH. THE ONLY TIMES I'VE BEEN WRONG ABOUT OAKDALE IS WHEN I LET YOUR FATHER AND YOU TALK ME INTO THINKING THAT MAN WASN'T 100 PER CENT NO-GOOD. YES SIR!

TOCK PRICE MOVEMENTS NARROW IN FIRM MARKET

AUTO EQUIPMENT SHARES HIGHER

Speculation for the Rise Also Resumed in Some Motors — Briggs Sells at New High for the Year— Auburn Up 3 Points.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The so-called constructive forces appeared to have regained control of the stock market today, but felt little inclination to press their advantage. The market closed firm, but advances were small, and the day's trading showed only moderate acceleration from the recent low levels. Total sales were more than 900,000 shares, compared to last Saturday's turnover of less than 800,000, the smallest in nearly two years.

Week-end closing out of accounts appeared to require more short covering than selling, indicating that speculation for the rise had been negligible this week, at least until yesterday's moderate rally. Although speculative sentiment appeared to have considerably improved there was little inclination to resume bullish activity on any ambitious scale until business news indicates decided improvement. Many traders had left town for the week-end yesterday.

An unfavorable item in the day's news was Sears Roebuck's sales report for the four weeks ended May 21, showing a drop of more than 6 per cent from the like period of 1929. Sales for the year to May 21 show an aggregate decline of only 2 1-3 per cent from the like period last year. Wall Street, however, has become hardened to unfavorable comparisons with this period a year ago, as new high records were being set in many lines of activity at that time. Sears stock was not influenced by the sales report, and closed a point higher.

Motor Equipments Rise.

Speculation for the rise was resumed in some of the automotive equipments and motor shares. Optimistic reports from motor trade circles for April and the first half of May indicate that second quarter earnings will show marked improvement over the first quarter, and compare fairly with the like period of 1928, although there is no hope of equaling last year's abnormal record.

Briggs was bought in large blocks, rising 2⅝ points to a new high for the year. Auburn rallie nearly 3 points. Shares gaining point or two included General Mo tors, Hudson, Studebaker, Nash Electric Auto Lite, Borg Warne and Murray.

Such issues as American Tele phone, Atchison, Union Pacifi Case and Air Reduction gaine about 2 points, while General Ele tric, American Can, Westinghou Electric, Union Carbide and Kenn cott were up a point or so.

Reviews More Cheerful.

The week-end trade and busine reviews on the whole indicated li tle change, but were slightly mo cheerful than they have been late.

Bank clearings as reported f the past week, however, indicat that the usual summer lull is a pearing. The sharpest decline w in New York, probably reflecti the sluggish activity in the spec lative markets, but several inter centers also showed declines.

Stock prices with other tabl and market news will be foun on pages 7A, 8A and 9A.

Severe Windstorm in Michiga

By the Associated Press.

CLARE, Mich., May 24.—A vere windstorm cut a 40-m swath of damage through Nort eastern Michigan late yesterd Damage was estimated at $10 000. Only two injuries were ported. The storm centered Clare, Gladen and Ogemaw cou ties. Barns and other farm bui ings were leveled, trees uproo and the fronts of stores blown
